FISH AND GAME CLUB HOLD MEET

OLD OFFICERS ARE RE-ELECTED FOR ANOTHER YEAR—CONSERVATION METHODS DISCCUSSED.

The Boone County Fish and Game Club held their first meeting of the year last Thursday night at the courthouse, with several members in attendance.

Chas. W. Riley, president of the club called the meeting to order. Mr. Riley gave a brief talk on fish and game conservation, and asked members to join in a general discussion on this subject.

All members present praised the state for their efforts in conservation of game and fish, and were loud in their praise of the many game reserves in Boone county.

Mr. Riley in his talk stated that this is the first year in his memory that fox hunters have complained as to the large number of fox in the county. He stated that many of the fox hunters complained that they were unable to have a good chase, due to the large number of these animals.

The outlook is bright for a fine hunting season in this county, and if the farmers and landowners will cooperate with the conservation officers, hunting violations will be materially reduced, therefore increasing our game supply.

A motion was made at the meeting to send letters to the owners of the game reserves, thanking them for their cooperation in the past, and asking for their support in the future.

The club will meet again at the courthouse on Thursday night, November 3 at 7:30. Everyone is cordially invited to attend these meetings, and a special invitation is extended 4-H club members.

1900 Fish Placed In Gunpowder And Woolper Creeks

Last Friday afternoon nineteen hundred fish were dumped into the water of Gunpowder and Woolper Creeks by the State Fish and Game Commission.

Edwin Johnson, conservation officer directed the placing of the fish, which were seined from the Lexington Reservoir. Mr. Johnson had nine hundred of the lot dumped into Gunpowder and one thousand were placed in Woolper. The species were bass, crappie, and bream, all game fish.

Some of the bream were of large size, weighing approximately one pound, and the crappie or new lights were large enough to spawn next year. This was the finest lot of stock ever to be placed in these streams and was highly appreciated by the sportsmen of this section.

Joe Brent, secretary of the Kenton County fish and game club was largely responsible for the stock, as he personally requested Major Brown and Frank Phipps, Superintendent of the State hatcheries to send some fish into this section. We are also grateful to Mr. Brent.

Mr. and Mrs. Jess Eddins, Mrs. Myrtle Offutt and Mr. and Mrs. J. Jockey, of Walton were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Arrasmith.

BRIDGE FINISHED AT ADKINS RIFFLE

AT COST OF APPROXIMATELY $5,000.00—BIG IMPROVEMENT TO BEAVER-BIG BONE NEIGHBORHOOD.

The bridge over lower Gunpowder which has been under construction for several months has been completed, according to Judge N. E. Riddell, and is now open to traffic.

The bridge was constructed at a cost of approximately $5,000.00, Judge Riddell said. It will be a great asset to the people in this neighborhood during the fall and spring, as fall and winter rains have swelled the creek to where it was impossible to cross.

Residents in this neighborhood are very proud of the new bridge, and it no doubt will prove very beneficial to this section.

Grading and ditching work is in progress this week, and it was thought that all work would be completed within the next ten days.

Two Kenton County Youths Arrested For Hunting Squirrels

Gerald Scheper, Jr., and William Regan, both of Ft. Mitchell were arrested Saturday afternoon by deputy sheriff Harold Conner for having a squirrel in their possession. The boys admitted that they had killed the squirrel on P. J. Hartman's farm, near Split Rock, but stated that they were not aware that the squirrel season had closed.

The youths will be arraigned before Judge N. E. Riddell tonight (Thursday) at 7:30 p. m. when they will stand trial.

Two Hebron men, whose names we are unable to obtain were arrested recently by game warden Edwin Johnson for hunting squirrels out of season. These men plead guilty and were fined $29.50.

Hunters and fishermen should study the fish and game laws of this state before taking to the field. Conservation officers are busy throughout this section, and will bring in all violators.

Local Girl Reserves Plan To Participate In Girl Reserve Week

Burlington High School Girl Reserves plan to participate in the statewide observance of "Girl Reserve Week," to be held October 24-31, are now complete, according to announcement made this morning by Pauline Norris, president of the Burlington club.

Unusually keen interest is being shown by all members of the club as they assume individual responsibility in making a success of this annual fall event, with its twofold purpose of acquainting the community with the purpose and program of the club, and of raising their contribution for the support of the Kentucky District work.

Falling in line with the schedule of activities being carried on in the other 250 Girl Reserve clubs in the state, the club announces Wednesday, October 26th, 10:10 a. m. a chapel progam will be given by the Girl Reserves. The community is cordially invited.

Girl Reserve Clubs have established a definite place for themselves in high schools throughout the state. Organized in Kentucky in 1921 under the direction of the National Board of the Y. W. C. A., the work has grown from an experiment project to a well organized Kentucky District, with 12,000 girls and 900 women in committees throughout the state. The Burlington club was first organized in 1928 under the leadership of Miss Mary B. Cropper. The adviser of the present club is Mrs. J. L. Fowler; its officers are: President, Pauline Norris; vice president Mildred Siekman; secretary, Florence Cook; treasurer, Carolyn Cropper.

A junior Girl Reserves for 7th to 9th grade pupils has been organized under the leadership of Mrs. C. D. Benson.

4-H Clubs Expect Full Completion

Ten community 4-H clubs in Boone County are competing for high honors in 4-H club work for 1938, according to Jack Dye, assistant county agent. One hundred percent completion of project work by members is the goal for each club. Many clubs already have turned practically 100 percent of their record books in to the county office for achievement certificates.

Four-H clubs competing for honor achievement trophies awarded by the banks of Boone County are the Burlington Blue Ribbon, Florence X-All, Hebron Norbeh Champions, Grant True Blue, New Haven Boosters, Hamilton Silver Leaders, Verona Willing Workers, Taylorsport One and For All, Petersburg Good Will and Walton Waltonian 4-H clubs.

Each member completing his project and record book counts 1000 points for his club. The club receives a 2000 point bonus when 80 percent of all project records have been completed. Each member completing his project receives an achievement certificate based on the number of years club work satisfactorily completed. A 4-H club seal is awarded for each of the first four years, special certificates of honor for fifth and sixth years, silver seal certificates for seventh and gold seal certificates for eight years of approved club work completed.

Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Cook and Lee Whitson spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Will Sebree.

ROAD PROGRAM IS DISCUSSED

PROGRAM IN MEETING AT PETERSBURG LAST WEEK—SEVEN MILE STRETCH TO BE COMPLETED NEXT YEAR.

A road building program was discussed last week when Boone and Gallatin county residents gathered at Petersburg.

O. M. Rogers, advisory highway commissioner addressed the assembly and stated if the property owners along the road between Petersburg and Belleview will cooperate in giving rights-of-way that the state will accept, the road would be constructed next year.

Mr. Rogers said, "While we have many good roads, highway building in' Kentucky' is in its infancy. He declared the state of Kentucky is not making as much progress as he he would like to see it make. Construction of primary highways, according to Mr. Rogers, should be given first consideration.

Work on the seven-mile stretch of the Constance-Sand Run road would be resumed in the spring he said. He added that it was planned to find an outlet for this road to State Route 20. He advocated construction by the state of a road approximately four miles long, between Burlington and Union in Boone county. This road would be very beneficial to the traveling public as well as to Boone county residents. It would connect Burlington with Union and would only mean about five miles of road construction.

At the present time people living in the Union neighborhood are compelled to drive to Florence in order to get to the county seat. If this road should be built it would be only a distance of approximately 4½ miles from Burlington to Union.

The organization indorsed the activity of local agencies, including police and the school boy patrols in regard to traffic control, but expressed the belief that further steps must be taken for proper control of speeding along the Dixie Highway in Erlanger.

It was thought that warning signals placed at the north and south city limits would remedy the situation.

Tobacco Demonstration Scheduled Nov. 4 And 7

Four tobacco stripping and grading demonstrations will be held in Boone County on Friday, November 4th and Monday, November 7th, according to H. R. Forkner, county agent.

H. A. Terry, Federal tobacco grader, will be in charge of the demonstrations at each of these meetings. Mr. Terry will also discuss government grading at these meeitngs.

Mr. Terry held four similar meetings in the county last year. All who attended the meetings reported they were worthwhile. Growers are urged to make plans to attend again this year.

Hybrid Corn Demonstration Held Last Week

Two demonstrations on the high value of hybrid corn were held last week in Boone County at the farms of Grant Maddox near Florence and John Klopp, near Petersburg. Last May, these men planted 14 varieties of hybrid corn along with open pollinated varieties consisting of Pride of Saline, Reids Yellow Dent and the corn they usually planted on their farm. Last Tuesday and Wednesday these plots were harvested and weighed.

The white hybrids developed by the Kentucky Experiment Station gave the highest yield in both demonstrations. Three of the yellow hybrids, Indiana 845, U. S. 44 and Kentucky 101 gave yields very close to those of the white. The best hybrids yielded as much as 25 per cent more than Reids Yellow Dent and Pride of Saline. The white hybrids were about as early as Reids Yellow Dent in maturing while the yellow hybrids were from 1 to 2 weeks earlier.

The hybrids were superior to the other varieties in standing up. Only about 5 per cent of the hybrid stalks were down or twisted while in Reids and Pride of Saline, one-third of the stalks were bent over or broken. Other points in which the hybrids were superior were soundness of corn and scarcity of barren stalks.

This corn has been kept separated and will be weighed again when it is well dried, according to Jack Dye, assistant county agent. Yields of each variety will be calculated and this information made public when the weighing has been completed.

LOCAL MEN BUY WESTERN LAMBS

900 BLACKFACE WESTERN LAMBS—RECEIVED BY WALTON MEN—WILL MAKE GOOD BREEDING EWES.

O. W. Cleek and Oscar Chandler of Walton recently returned from the range country of Montana with 900 good blackfaced western range ewe lambs. Mr. Cleek received 450 head, or one-half the shipment.

These lambs should make real breeding ewes in another year. The men state they have good connections in the west and another year will be able to supply Boone County farmers with good western breeding ewes. Our farmers don't want just western ewes but northwestern range ewes because this type of western breeding ewe is found to be free from parasites and do much better than ewes from other sections of the West.

Many Take Advantage Pen And Pencil Set Offered By Recorder

Many Boone and Kenton Countians are taking advantage of the pen and pencil set offer being made by the Recorder. We have placed many new names on our subscription list within the past few weeks, and many more are coming in.

The following letter was received from one of the young ladies who obtained a new subscription and a pen and pencil set:

"I want to thank you for the lovely pen and pencil set I received through Mr. John Gray's subscription. I also want to thank Mr. Gray for subscribing. I know he will enjoy reading The Recorder each week.

"The little girl sitting in front of me had to try out my pen and pencil and she thought they were grand. She said her father didn't take The Recorder, so it won't be long until Goldie will be sporting a new pen and pencil set too."

County Oil Truck Damaged By Fire

The large International Oil truck driven by Harry Craddock, Union, and the property of the County, was damaged considerably Tuesday afternoon when rear of the truck caught fire in Florence.

Before the drivers could be warned the fire had completely destroyed the small pumping motor mounted in the rear.

The Florence Volunteer Fire Department was called to the scene and the flames were extinguished by them.

Although the damage has not been estimated, the results could have been serious had the oil which they were hauling ignited.

It was said that gasoline was leaking from the small engine to the exhaust of the large truck, causing the fire.

Lime Dealers Busy In A. C. Program

Lime dealers are working day and night supplying Boone County farmers with agricultural limestone to earn their 1938 Agricultural Conservation Program Soil Building allowances. They are delivering the crushed stone to the farm and, where possible, to the field in lots of from five to ten tons at $2.00 to $2.15 per ton. Several dealers are spreading the stone for 50 cents per ton.

The following dealers are serving farmers: Charles Kraft, Constance, mail address, Ludlow, R. 2, leave orders at Kottmyer's store, phone Hebron 367; John W. Moore, Hebron, phone Hebron 133; W. J. Craig, Burlington, phone Burlington 527; S. M. Graves, Hebron, phone Hebron 341; R. W. Auton, Demossville, Ky.; Dance Bros., Crittenden, Ky.

Farmers who lack a few dollars earing their allowance can make no better investment than in agricultural limestone which improves crops for 10 to 15 years to come. Farmers receive $1.50 in their allowance for each ton used and the lime may be used on any field on the farm.

Seeding is the next best way for earning allowances. By seeding 10 pounds of seed over old pastures a credit of $1.50 is earned. This year's crop of Korean lespedeza or sweet clover is recommended. Timothy, blue grass and red top are also good in these mixtures. Seventy-five cents worth of seed will earn $1.50 for the farmer in the program. Certainly every farmer will want to earn 100 percent of his allowance this year. What is not earned by October 31st is lost!

"For Over Fifty Years"

TO OCTOBER

Pity the man who can't bear to be alone; tears for the woman who "must have her hands busy." The child in its innocence does not think of quiet and peace with so much playing to be done. But of all the year to make us realize that each life must have a certain period of quiet, it takes the month of October to bring us face to face with a desire for serenity and thought. This is the time when Nature glorifies herself with color in her preparation for a season of sleep. This is the month when the wind is cool but considerate in permitting the leaves to drift slowly to a ground already turning brown. Brown for fall and green for spring. The man who doesn't sniffle the air with its crispness and its twang of bonfires, and who hears not the sound of children scuffling through the piles of raked leaves, he has no time for beauty of life or love of God in Nature. October brings us more aware of the infinite plan to produce and to harvest and in its beautiful plan for months of slumber the splendor of it all causes us to lift up our eyes and seek the hills. Many a resident asks, "It's such a beautiful day, can't we get out?" The slight haziness in the air, the early twilight that is upon us much sooner than a month ago adds to this wish to meditate and relax, to get away from routine tasks of home and business, farm lot and subdivision. The man who works with the soil is closer to this seasonal change than are we who must seek it, but all of us can share the insight with our neighbor. Let us loaf and lag along the country-side and get for ourselves that restfulness of mind and body, of peace that October brings.

NO HUNTING ALLOWED

With the touch of cooler air, frost and football, we get out the hunter's gun with anticipation. The season finds its enthusiasts, the hunter and the sportsman ready for the game. There is a difference, as any owner of country acres can explain, between the hunter and the true sportsman. The former is the individual who seeks to slay, to kill in as large numbers as he can whether he needs the pray in such quantity. He destroys fences, leaves farm gates open and disregards the livestock who may be within his range. It is due to this type of hunter that each year you find more signs tacked to country land, regarding "No Hunting Allowed."

As Boone County people can attest, the sportsman is the hunter with a creed. He shoots for his needs and respects the rights and property of all people. This is the same man who, when fishing catches what he can use and throws the others back for another day—its the sporting thing to do he says. This type of hunter, the true sportsman would not be barred were it not for his brother-poor sport. Hunting has changed a lot from the old days and there aren't as many men awaiting the approach of the season as they used to do. Wonder if some of this is due to the destructive gunner who makes a clean sweep as he shoots his way through the hunting season?

PREFERRED PAYMENT

Upon reading recently about an Italian laborer who is so grateful for a relief check that he has made himself a one-man project to keep the street clean in front of his house, we thought we would pass the word along. This laborer receives $3.60 a week and in his own words, keeping the street clean makes him "feel good inside. My bread it tastes sweet, because I work." Honor to a man like this, preferring to do something, anything, to earn his way. Too many cases of the opposite nature reach our ears, many untrue and too many true. It is good to know of people who appreciate a debt to society and who are so conscientious they must return payment to be happy. Readers of The Recorder will like the sentiment and will respect the usefulness of this Italian laborer. There are many like him. Seems to us that the folks trying to attract attention to their joblessness by stunting in the hopes of finding an employer, won't get as far as this laborer in winning employment.

A DISPOSITION FOR DISASTER

During a speech in regard to the greatest single cause for automobile accidents a doctor named various causes, among them being old decrepit cars, old age, youth, drunken driving, infirmities, wet pavements and poor eyesight. All of these have met up with most drivers at one time or another. But these are not the greatest causes for accidents in the opinion of the speaker. He believes that bad judgment, selfishness and impatience are the greatest factors. And most drivers display an amount of these three characteristics durings their driving about.

The Train Dispatcher, a railroad publication, states that more grade crossing accidents took place on Saturdays in 1937 than on any other day. Which proves that human nature enters the picture more strongly than old cars and wet pavements. Seems we will never learn that it is hardly a safe bet when it is placed on racing a train. So often it ends in a "tie."

POOR NERVES

We are so apt to speak of our nerves and the nervousness of of our children. A London doctor interested in the reaction on the nervous system of children of the rich and of the poor, experimented with groups of families of these two classes. Nine per cent of the children in the poorer groups had been restless and irritable, subject to nerves and nightmares in their first year of life, compared to the 30 per cent in the rich group. This indicates that children of poor families show less worry, are less timid and more reliable. Fortunately this test was conducted only through the first year of life, otherwise we might be convinced that the poor are happier than the rich—a good subject for argument in any gathering! What we can't figure out in regard to the doctor's experiment is how could a year old child know whether mother turns the collars on dad's shirts or if the family changed cars with every new model?

DESCRIBES MAKING FARM RESERVOIRS

Wide-spread interest in earth dam reservoirs as a source of water supply for farm livestock has brought from the College of Agriculture of the University of Kentucky Circular No. 317, called "Earth Dams and Farm Reservoirs."

Water is a problem on many Kentucky farms, especially in dry years when creek and springs go dry. One solution, according to this circular, is a reservoir, properly located, well built and maintained. On many farms good reservoirs can be had with no outlay other than for labor.

The circular discusses various types of reservoirs, why some of them fail, how to select the site for a reservoir, how to make the survey for the dam, and finally how to construct the dam so it will stay and hold sufficient water for the livestock of the farm. Fall is a good time of year to provide for a better water supply. Ask a county agent or write to the College of Agriculture for a copy of this circular.

TOBACCO CONSUMPTION INCREASES

During the past 25 years the manufacture of cigarettes has increased, on the average, about five and three-quarters billion cigarettes a year, says the annual report of the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station. On the average, the use of burley tobacco has increased about one a quarter million pounds with each increase of a billion cigarettes.

NOTED TURKEY RAISER COMING TO KENTUCKY

E. Y. Smith, a noted poultry raiser in New York and a teacher at Cornell University, will be one of the speakers at the annual state-wide meeting of Kentucky turkey producers at the Agricultural Experiment Station at Lexington Nov. 9. Familiar with the New York City turkey market, which is the largest in the world, he will have valuable information about the kind of turkeys consumers want. Dr. J. Holmes Martin, head of the poultry work at the Kentucky Experiment Station, sees the probability of a rather good year for producers of the big holiday birds, since feeds are down in price, while poultry prices remain relatively firm.

REQUIRES CARE TO KEEP DAHLIA ROOTS

Perhaps the most difficult part of dahlia culture comes at this time of year when the dormant roots must be stored. Shortly after the tops are killed by frosts, says N. R. Elliott, University of Kentucky College of Agriculture landscape specialist, cut off the tops 3 or 4 inches above the ground and after a few days lift the root clump from the soil, being careful not to break the "necks" by which the tubers are attached to the stem.

The roots should be allowed to dry in the air for a few hours and then stored in a frost-free cellar that is not too dry. This seems simple enough, but only experience can make one sure of the result. If the cellar is too warm or dry, which is a common difficulty, the roots should be stored in the coolest part, in bushel baskets or bags about the same size filled with peat moss, dry sand or sawdust. Care must be taken that the storage material is perfectly dry as otherwise some roots will rot and damage the entire mass. Decay starts in wounds caused in digging.

THE FARM AND HOME

It is better to delay fertilizing the lawn in the fall until there has been enough frost to kill the weeds and wild grasses. Use a complete, high-grade fertilizer one year, and tobacco stalks the next year.

Regular eating hours are more important for children than for adults. When they eat between meals, children often take the wrong kind of food, as well as destroy their appetite for the regular meals. Sweets between meals are especially injurious.

Proper care of the colt's feet helps insure soundness and correct conformation of limbs in the mature animal. Begin shaping the feet when the colt is two to three months old, when the permanent hoof begin to develop.

Sweetpotato storage requires a dry atmosphere and a constant temperature of about 50 degrees, after the curing period is over. This means that the house must be so equipped that it can be heated as well as cooled.

Sowing a small grain in disked lespedeza stubble has been widely practiced in Kentucky for many years. This practice is considered economical because it requires a minimum of labor, and the lespedeza reseeds itself.

Fall is a good time to construct terraces and dams, to fill gulleys and otherwise to arrange for the control of soil erosion. Ask a county agent for Kentucky College of Agriculture Circular No. 304, "Soil Erosion and Its Control."

WEEK'S BEST RECIPE

Cinnamon Apples: I cup granulated sugar; 1 cup water; 1 cup red cinnamon candies; 1 cup cottage cheese; 6 small apples; ½ cup chopped walnuts; 2 tablespoons mayonnaise; lettuce. Heat sugar, water, and cinnamon candies in saucepan over low flame until candy is dissolved. Pare and core apples, place in syrup, cover and cook very slowly until tender but not broken. The apples should be bright red. Turn once during cooking. Remove carefully from syrup and chill. Fill centers with cheese, walnut meats and mayonnaise combined. Serve on lettuce.

HARDENED LEATHER

Leather goods, as handbags and gloves, jackets and dried shoes, can be softened by applying a dressing of equal portions of neat's foot and castor oil. Only a thin coating should be applied at a time and bear in mind that the leather will darken a bit in the softening process. Rub well with a soft clean cloth following the application.

OUTING FLANNEL

Garments made of outing flannel should never be ironed or the soft texture is impaired. Place them on the ironing board and brush lightly to soften and freshen the material.

KITCHEN KINKS

Squash may be peeled easily if it is first put into the oven and thoroughly warmed . . . Light brown sugar gives a good flavor to baked apples or apple pudding . . . If the wick refuses to go into the burner of your oil stove wax it with common beeswax . . . Keep a large shaked containing six parts of salt to one part of pepper on the shelf of your kitchen range to use in seasoning foods . . . . Instead of using ordinary twine to hang brooms, brushes, etc., use picture wire. It will wear forever and is easily hung on a hook because of its stiffness.

Lesson for October 23

OUR DAY OF REST

LESSON TEXT—Exodus 20:8-11; Luke 13: 10-17.
GOLDEN TEXT—Remember the Sabbath day, to keep it holy.—Exodus 20:8.

Rest—how full of meaning that little word is when we recall that it means quiet for the struggling one, calm for the troubled, repose for the weary, tranquillity for the disturbed, cessation of labor for the worn-out one. God in His infinite wisdom saw that without rest man would soon destroy himself, and He made provision for one day in seven when labor should cease and man should be free for that re-creation of soul and body which should fit him for the labor of the week. Men in their greed have coveted the time God gave for rest and have used it for themselves, and the ragged nerves and broken bodies, to say nothing of the impoverished spirits of our day, testify that it can be done only at our peril.

Our study centers around Scripture passages which have to do with the Jewish Sabbath, but since it was essentially a day of rest, and afforded an opportunity for the worship of God, the principles surrounding it are applicable to our day of rest—the first day of the week, the Lord's Day.

I. Why We Keep a Day of Rest (Exod. 20:8-11).

1. God commanded that there should be a day of rest—one out of seven—and that should be sufficient to cause His people to "remember" the day "to keep it holy." It is cause for grave concern that Sunday has become a day of swimming, hiking, auto-driving, golfing, and one might go on with the list almost indefinitely. Many men or women who have had built into their own characters the stalwart virtues nurtured by family attendance at the house of God, have not only forgotten their own need and responsibility but are destroying every vestige of interest in divine worship in the hearts of their children. It is serious business to go astray oneself, but infinitely more serious to mislead one's own children.

Notice that the day of rest was to be not only for the family but also for servants and for visitors. The employer who operates his factory or office on Sunday violates this commandment. Note also that the man who is to rest on the seventh day is supposed to work on the six days. Some folk neglect to do both.

2. God's command is strengthened by the divine example (v. 11). We are not able to do all things that God does, but here we are privileged to follow His example.

II. How We Keep the Day of Rest (Luke 13:10-17).

The incident recorded by Luke does not give us an exhaustive list of things to be done with our day of rest, but it is interesting to note that our Lord was

1. In the house of God (v. 10). Jesus was in the synagogue. The distinguished Apostle Paul never became too great or too good to attend divine worship. We all need to go to church (if it is at all possible for us to do so) to fellowship with others in the things of Christ. Let us have a revival of church attendance, and not only on Sunday mornings, but also on Sunday night and for midweek prayer meeting.

2. Alert to the needs of others (vv. 11, 12). It is not indicated that the woman asked to be healed. Jesus saw her need and met it. We can not do what he did, but there are needs that we can meet if we are but alert to see them and willing to help.

3. Active in service (v. 13). In spite of the criticism which He knew would come from the lazy and helpless standers-by, Jesus did the work of God. We may glorify God by being ready—yes anxious—to serve in the church. Our daily work is set aside on the Lord's Day not that we should be indolent, but that we should be free to do the Lord's work.

4. Contending for the faith (vv. 14-17). Jesus met the unjust criticism (which, by the way, was leveled at the poor woman because the critic feared Jesus) by a masterly appeal to the law of the Pharisees (vv. 15, 16). But He did more than that, for He ably defended the rights of humanity as superior to the formalities of man-made law. The law is always supreme until the Lawgiver comes, and no law can hinder Him by its letter, as He fulfills its spirit.

We may not speak as Jesus did, that is to declare what the law is, but we may in His name, and by His grace and power declare the full counsel of God, defend it against its critics and withstand those who while bearing the name of Christian leaders only hinder the work of Christ (compare III John 9, 10). For such service we need His guidance, His wisdom, His power, and His grace.

LADIES, KEEP YOUR SHOES ON OR SEE A DOCTOR

By N. TULCH
AT PEOPLE'S FOOT COMFORT (SHOE STORE)

If a man had a "Worms-Eye View" under the theatre seats he might see a forest of limbs with a shoes in various positions half or completely off the feet. They have been shed noiselessly because with practice they can be nudged off and wriggled into again without using the hands. Foot doctors agree this is worse than bad manners—It's a sign of bad health.

Science finds there are 73 ailments of the feet and 22 of them come mostly from badly shaped shoes . . . "Kidney Feet' 'are aptly named, and there are even "drunkard's feet."

When a diabetic patient says: "My feet are killing me," he, or most likely she, because the majority of foot sufferers are women, may be telling the unexaggerated truth. Many diabetics are actually killed by their feet. The reason is that the diabetics' circulation is poor and the feet being the furtherest from the heart as well as the lowest and therefore hardest to pump back from, are the poorest served of any part of the body.

The average person walks 65,000 miles from the cradle to the grave, or the equavilent to about two and one-half times around the world.

Don't take chances with your health and happiness. Since our feet are so important go where schooled men can definitely help you, and assure you absolute foot comfort.

INSPIRATIONAL

We shall reap such joys in the by and by,
But what have we sown to-day?
We shall build us manions in the sky,
But what have we built to-day?
'Tis sweet in idle dreams to bask.
But here and now do we do our task?
Yes, this is the thing our souls must ask—
"What have we done to-day?"

14 W. 7TH — PHONE COLONIAL 0480

The Geo. J. Schneider Sea Food Market located at Covington is a place where quality, service and satisfaction meet and where people from the surrounding territory go to find the perfect food center.

This popular sea food market is a feature of the home life of this part of the state as sea foods can be secured here that are in the very best of condition and the housewives have found them of the best quality.

They have a very modern market and all precautions have been taken for sanitation, seeing that the sea foods were properly cared for and were cleaned according to the individual desires of the customers.

Sea foods are becoming more popular all the time as people spend time during their vacation at the shore. In the hinterland the people were only accustomed to eat sea food on Fridays, but today they are becoming the meat for at least one meal each day all over the country.

In this review we are glad to compliment Geo. Schneider's Sea Food Market as a place that makes a continual study of the food problems of the day and as conducting a market that is in advance of the times.

Covington Used Car Exchange

1225 MADISON — PHONE COLONIAL 0768

The Covington Used Car Exchange has on hand a complete line of good used cars all of which are in good condition. All prices are reasonable.

This is truly a "live-wire" concern whose management is on its toes to see that its friends and patrons get the most metropolitan service.

This establishment is one of the firms that is not satisfied with a stock of a few cars. When they set out to sell the people of this section of the state they determined to keep everything that is in the line. Anyone who has purchased from them or even been in their place will have to acknowledge that they have succeeded. We venture that there are few institutions in the much larger cities that have a more complete stock.

This establishment is thoroughly abreast with the times and have secured for the trade a large stock of the best used cars.

We do not think that we exaggerate when we state that this concern has saved the patrons of this establishment thousands of dollars in expense for they are the sales agents for all makes and models of good used cars.

We are more than glad to compliment this well known concern.

Krause Hy-Pure Drug Store

918 MADISON — PHONE HEM. 9560
FULL LINE OF WINES AND LIQUORS

The farmer and his lady believe in the concentration of shopping energy. That is to say, they prefer the store which carries the greatest stock that they may save needless steps in filling their varied wants.

Of course the first requisite of any successful business must be courtesy and of course, quality at the right price in the matter of merchandise offered. This has been this establishment's policy in conducting their business. They have directed their efforts to the end that this store must be headquarters for anything in the apothecary line.

With the shifting of sales methods in this brisk era too often the customer is subjected to brusque hurried service. At the Krause Drug Store in Covington one gets service without sacrifice of courtesy.

The great stock of drugs and sundries is so complete that only rarely is it impossible to gratify a patron's every wish. They carry the largest stock of cosmetics in Northern Kentucky.

These unusually complete facilities add to the pleasure and convenience of shopping there.

We extend to Mr. Krause good wishes for many more successful seasons.

Rivard's Meat Market

NO. 5 PIKE — PHONE HEM. 3141

Few, if any, meat dealers in this section have attained a prominence equal to that of the Rivards' Meat Market in Covington for the accommodation of the public. They have an enviable record for cleanliness and sanitation.

Insisting that everything about their place in accordance with the most modern scientific ideas regarding sanitation, they have thus assured the public that meats coming from their store are pure and wholesome. Nor have they seen fit to take advantage of the general tendency to raise prices needlessly. as have many dealers.

By reason of their fair dealings with the public Rivard's patronage has increased until today the firm is visited daily by hundreds, not only from Covington, but from the surrounding territory. When you are in need of anything in their line, our readers could not do better than to visit the Rivard's Meat Market and see the products which they offer in abundance and at prices that are exteremely reasonable.

Stein's Cafe---Covington's Leader

104 PIKE — PHONE COLONIAL 1148-J

The Stein's Cafe has gained a name that has spread far and wide as a place where the local and traveling people can more than satisfy their demands in the manner of obtaining food. Their display of foods consists not only of the prime necessities of life, but many delicacies are offered that are inviting and tempting to the taste of the most fastidious.

The food is prepared in such a way that to the uninitiated the thought at once comes that there never was such a good place to eat. Poor restaurants are not the exception by any means. It is a pleasure to have such a modern and up-to-date place as this at which to refer the stranger as well as local people.

Mr. Stein has made a special study of the business and consequently is striving to give the people just a little better all the time. They have arranged the place so that it is very attractive and insists that the service be kept prompt and courteous.

We take great pleasure in complimenting The Stein's Cafe upon the order of the establishment and refer it to our readers without hesitatation.

TOBACCO MARKET SHEETS COMPLETE

GROWERS WHO HAVE NOT FILED TOBACCO MARKETING DATA ARE URGED TO DO SO NOT LATER THAN FRIDAY.

One thousand ninety-seven Boone County farmers are scheduled to complete AAA tobacco marketing data sheets for the 1938 marketing allotment cards, according to H. R. Forkner, county agent. The data sheet forms must be submitted to the State office not later than Saturday, October 29th. All growers who have not filed their tobacco marketing data information are urged to do so not later than Friday.

The AAA marketing quotas act sets up 350,000,000 pounds of the 1938 Burley tobacco crop to be marketed. An additional reserve of 2 per cent or 7,000,000 pounds is set up to adjust inequitable allotments among growers. The total allotment is divided among all producers of burley tobacco with each county receiving a proportionate share of the allotment based on the production sales of growers during the past three years. Growers who fail to file their allotment application in time will put the county to a disadvantage in securing a just proportio not of the marketing allotment and in turn will delay the receiving of their allotments cards before the marketing season opens. All growers, whether town lot, ACP cooperators or not should file application immediately if they have not already filed same. Applications should be filed at the county agent's office in Burlington.

Lesson for October 30

PERSONAL RIGHTS AND WHERE THEY END

LESSON TEXT—Ecclesiastes 2:1-3, 10, 11; Romans 6:17-23; 14:21.
GOLDEN TEXT—What shall we say then? Shall we continue in sin, that grace may abound?—Romans 6:15.

"Personal liberty"—what endless misuse was made of that expression in the days when men seeking the right to again flood this country with intoxicating liquors were attacking prohibition. One would think that some of our political leaders and our newspaper editors would blush for shame when they see what has now been accomplished in the name of personal liberty.

My liberty ends, as someone has well said, where yours begins. I have the personal liberty to swing my arms as far as the tip of your nose, but there my liberty ends. All of life is, and necessarily must be built on that principle. For the Christian there is an even higher measure of responsibility—his relationship to God and his consequent heart interest in the welfare of his fellow men.

Our Scripture portions for today present a sharp contrast. Man without God, but with every earthly advantage is pictured in Ecclesiastes in his fruitless search for real joy. Then man as the glad bondslave of Jesus Christ is spoken of in Romans as truly free and joyful.

I. The Way of Emptiness and Disappointment (Eccles. 2:1-3, 10, 11).

1. Physical pleasures do not satisfy (Eccles. 2:1-3). Men who have tasted the distress and disappointment of life are prone to think that if they only had all the money they wanted, and an opportunity to partake of life's "thrills" they would be happy. Solomon had everything. He deliberately set himself to prove the pleasures of this world. He planned to "enjoy" intoxicants—doing it "with wisdom"—that is, not in a drunken debauch that would bring remorse. Note it, you who advocate the moderate use of alcohol (whatever that may be) Solomon found it to be only vain emptiness. (See Prov. 23:31, 32.)

What is true of wine is also true of the attempt to satisfy oneself by the gratification of any physical appetite. Those who live for the pleasures of the flesh can reap only corruption (Gal. 6:8). The hectic search for such satisfaction by countless men and women today reveals that they, like Solomon, cannot find it. If they did, they would cease their wild searching. It just is not there.

2. Pleasures of the mind do not satisfy (Eccles. 2:10, 11). Solomon sought real joy in labor, in accomplishing worthy ends. There is a satisfaction in work well done, but that joy is only lasting when the doing of the work is for the glory of God. Work for its own sake—yes, even wisdom for its own sake (Eccles. 1:12-18)—is not enough to satisfy the soul of man. The great poet Goethe, who set himself to enjoy the higher pleasures of life—art, science, and literature—came to his seventy-fifth year to testify that he had "never had four weeks of genuine pleasure." Satisfaction is not in the pleasures of the aesthetic nature.

II. The Way of Victory, Peace, and True Joy (Rom. 6:17-23; 14:21).

We say with Paul "God be thanked" that there is a way for men to find freedom from the sin and disappointment of life. It comes by

1. Personal allegiance to God (Rom. 6:17-23). Clear thinking on spiritual matters recognizes that the man who boasts of his personal liberty, his freedom from God's control over his life is in reality the slave of sin (vv. 17-19; Titus 3:3). On the other hand, the one who is a willing bondslave of Jesus Christ is free. The way of victory and peace is to yield to God, even as the way of defeat and disappointment is to yield to sin. The first way leads to joy in this life and eternal fellowship with God. The other way results in ultimate ghastly disillusionment in this life and eternal spiritual death and separation from God.

2. Recognized responsibility for others (Rom. 14:21). It should not take two minutes of intelligent consideration for any man to understand that "none of us liveth to himself and no man dieth to himself" (Rom. 14:7). Yet that is the obvious assumption under which men live, leaving behind them not only their own wrecked lives, but carrying along in the stream of their personal influence their acquaintances, friends and members of their families.

The principle stated in Romans 14:21 should govern all of our actions. Paul was speaking of meat offered to idols, which he could have eaten with a clear conscience. But if he ate it someone else would be caused to stumble, and he was rather willing to do without it as long as he lived. One wonders what would happen in the Christian world if every professed follower of Christ would thus evaluate not only the use of intoxicants but also his every personal habit.

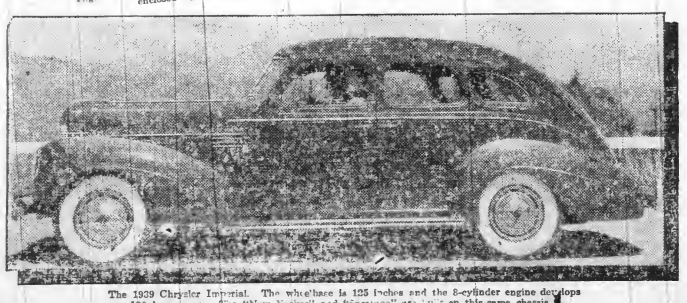
MORE POWER, MORE ROOM, MORE REFINEMENTS IN 1939 CHRYSLERS



The 1939 Chrysler Royal, 4-door sedan. This car has a wheelbase of 119 inches and 100 horsepower. The gearshift is placed on the steering wheel column in this and all Chryslers of the new series.

The rear end of the 1939 Chryslers is the newest development of the Airflow principle pioneered by Chrysler Corporation engineers. The trunk has disappeared in favor of an enclosed luggage space of great capacity.

The imposing front end of the 1939 Chryslers. Note the cascade of chrome bars, the massive bumper and guard and the headlights built into the fenders.

The 1939 Chrysler Imperial. The wheelbase is 125 inches and the 8-cylinder engine develops 130 horsepower. The "New Yorker" and "Saratoga" are built on this same chassis.

Increased horsepower, thoroughly modern appearance, an entirely new transmission, a steering column gear-shift, added roominess and a large number of refinements that contribute to performance, safety, comfort, handling ease and roadability feature the Chrysler line for 1939. Chrysler again offers three lines, the Royal, the Imperial and the Custom Imperial, with a total of 18 body styles.

The Royal, on a wheelbase of 119 inches, and the Imperial, of 125 inches, come in four body styles, namely, four-door sedan, two-door sedan or brougham, coupe and victoria coupe, the latter seating four persons. The Custom Imperial has a wheelbase of 144 inches and is built in five-passenger sedan, seven-passenger sedan and sedan-limousine body styles. In addition to the standard Royal, Chrysler has introduced a "Royal Windsor" on the same chassis, with two-tone upholstery, refinements in trim and various items of extra equipment. The Royal is available also to those requiring an exceptionally commodious car in a seven-passenger sedan and sedan-limousine on a 136-inch chassis. The standard Imperial line is supplemented by the "New Yorker", an improved version of the popular 1938 "New York Special", and the "Saratoga", a car designed especially for men and upholstered in leather and Bedford Cord. No convertible models are listed in the 1939 Chrysler line.

HORSEPOWER IS INCREASED

Horsepower of the Royal has been raised to 100 by means of an increase in compression ratio from 6.2 to 6.5 and an improvement in manifolding and carburetion. Bore and stroke remain the same as last year, 3⅜ by 4½, with a piston displacement of 241.5 cubic inches. This engine not only gives additional horsepower but delivers it with more smoothness and flexibility than ever before.

An entirely new eight-cylinder engine of 130 horsepower is used in all cars built on the Imperial and Custom Imperial chasses. This engine has a bore of 3⅝ inches and stroke of 4⅜ inches with a piston displacement of 323.5. Dimensionally this engine is the same as that installed in the very large and heavy 1938 Custom Imperials, but the compression has been increased to 6.8 to 1 and the valve design improved to produce more power and a smoother performance. The new engine has been equipped with a full-length water jacket, a water distributing tube and a new five-bladed fan, insuring an efficient operating temperature under all conditions.

Exhaustive tests conducted by Chrysler Corporation engineers during the summer established that both the Royal and Imperial engines produce increased top speeds, greatly improved acceleration and a marked decrease in fuel consumption. This holds true both in conventional drive and overdrive.

One of the most important advances in the 1939 line is the introduction of an improved type of transmission, known as the "Cruise and Climb". In general principle this transmission is similar to the overdrive previously used in Chrysler cars but it is vastly more valuable to the average driver in that it cuts in at speeds of from 23 to 28 miles an hour, instead of above 40.

ACCELERATION IS BETTER

It is further improved by an entirely new solenoid device which causes overdrive to cut out and conventional high gear to cut in when the driver pushes the accelerator to the floor. This feature gives the car a pick-up that is impossible in the lower gear ratio of overdrive and is invaluable in overtaking cars on hills or at a smart traffic speed. When pressure on the pedal is released, the overdrive again cuts in. This transmission is standard on the Custom Imperials and extra equipment at slight added cost on the Royal and Imperial.

The long life and satisfactory operation of engines used in the 1939 Chryslers is assured by a new and exclusive superfinishing process to which all of their moving parts are subjected. This process, developed by Chrysler's production research engineers, under the direction of David A. Wallace, president of the Chrysler Division, results in a surface finish whose variation from perfection is less than two one-millionths of an inch when required for the proper functioning of the part. By means of hard abrasives, slow operating speeds on cold metal, light abrasive pressure and a multiplicity of motions, superfinishing treats the surface right down to base metal and all remaining scratches are below this base metal line. When moving parts with these perfect surfaces are kept properly lubricated, there can never be any metal-to-metal contacts and wear is thus virtually eliminated if remaining free from dust and dirt.

NEW TYPE OF SPEEDOMETER

A new type of safety speedometer will contribute to driving safety. The indicator is illuminated when the instrument lights are on. From a standstill to 30 miles an hour—the legal speed in most city driving—the light shows green. From 30 to 50 miles it is amber and at 50 it changes to a brilliant red. Thus the driver is constantly reminded of the speed at which he is traveling and warned when he reaches a dangerous pace.

The gear-shift lever has been taken off the floor and moved to the steering column on all 1939 Chryslers. In its new position not only is it more conveniently located right under the driver's hand, but the shifting operation is much easier, being accomplished by a mere flick of the wrist. There is nothing new to learn, as the various shifts are made exactly as before, except in a vertical instead of a horizontal plane. The hand brake has been moved to the left side of the driver under the dash, leaving the front compartment with a level and unobstructed floor that makes it possible for three persons to ride on the front seat in comfort.

Constant-speed electric windshield wipers are a feature that will be greatly appreciated. These wipers are entirely independent of engine action and thus are free from the vagaries of the vacuum type.

The design of the 1939 Chryslers is a development of the Airflow principle so successfully pioneered by this company. The front end cannot be described in terms of any previous conception of automobile design. For about half its depth, the rounded nose of the radiator shell is set off by horizontal vents protected by chrome bars. This gives way to a cascade of vertical chrome bars projecting several inches from the front of the shell proper and filling in the space between the front fenders. A massive bumper, with ornamental protective grille surmounting it, completes a front end effect that is startlingly modern.

Fenders have been newly designed with a sweeping flow of line and an impression of rugged swiftness and thorough competence. Headlamps are built into the fenders and conform to their front end contours. Windshields are of the modern V-type, 4 inches wider and 1¼ inches higher than those used in the 1938 cars. This brings increased vision and contributes to safety.

Rear-end lines are characterized by a majestic sweeping curve. The trunk has entirely disappeared from all models, in favor of a very large concealed luggage compartment, so there is nothing to mar the symmetry of the rear panel.

NEW ENAMEL FINISH USED

A new synthetic enamel finish is now used on all Chrysler cars. This enamel is harder and more durable and holds its color and lustre longer than any other paint ever offered by this company.

Interiors have been refined and improved in many ways. The instrument panel is of entirely new and modernistic design, done in chrome and ivory plastic. On the extreme left the instruments are grouped in an ornamental dial.

The body is 4 inches wider at the "A" post than it was last year so it is possible to make the front seat one of the widest ever found in a motor car. The rear compartment floor is wide and level and additional leg room is provided by a foot rest in the back of the front seat.

One of the new safety features is a rotary type of door lock which prevents rattles by maintaining a constant tension. This can be locked from the inside by pressing a safety button in such a way that the door cannot be opened either from the inside or outside until the button is released.

THE CARE OF THE FEET DURING PREGNANCY

By N. Tulch at Peoples' Foot Comfort Shoe Store, Covington

Preventive medicine plays a very large and useful roll in the practice of obstetrics. It is from this standpoint that the care of the feet should be considered.

The feet should be considered from two important angles; first, the increased weight which they will be called upon to bear, and second the impairment of return flow of blood from them, when the uterus begins to press upon the large vessels to the pelvis.

In most cases are complaints enumerated as follows: swelling of the ankles and feet, pains, cramps tingling, numbness, corns, callouses, ingrown toe nails and varicose veins. Varicosity may be avoided by improving the circulation of the feet.

Flat fleet in pregnancy are caused by a rapid increase in the length and weight of the skeleton, apart from an equivalent increase in strength of muscles and ligaments throwing undue strain upon the structure of the arch. In early stages the patient complains of fatigue or weakness along the inner side of the legs, feet or ular exercises ordered should by all means avoid jolts, running, sudden motions, going up and down stairs quickly, horse back riding, cycling, golf, tennis, etc. Walking should be encouraged. I cannot remind you too often that high heels are condemned; they do not only lead to affairs and backaches, but are often the direct cause of falls and accordingly are at times repsonsible for circarriages.

As stated before, the American woman wishes to emerge from her confinement in as nearly perfect shape in every respect as possible, and is very desirous that the functions of child bearing should not leave her in an ugly shape.

Only with painstaking prenatal care and seeing to it that her feet get proper attention, can the obstetrician give her assurance of such results.

A very important part — your shoes should be correct—to be sure they are correct—go where specially trained shoe specialists will put your feet in balance relieving all foot strain.

TON LITTER FEEDING PAYS METCALFE MAN

"Nine seventy-eight" may mean the unpleasant aftermath of a traffic violation in the city; but if heard in Metcalfe county, Kentucky, it's likely to be Henry Coffey talking about the nine pigs he fed in the ton-litter contest in 1938. Nine dollars and 78 cents per pig was the net cash return he received per pig above pasture feed and labor costs.

A study of his record indicates that the results obtained by Mr. Coffey may well be adopted by many hog raisers as a goal of attainment in many localities, declares Grady Sellards of the Kentucky College of Agriculture.

The nine pigs, farrowed Feb. 11, weighed 1,850 pounds, or 205 lbs. per pig, when 165 days old. They were sold for $9.34 per hundred pounds the latter part of July, or only a little less per hundred weight than the peak price for the year.

In terms of grain required per hundredweight gain, Mr. Coffey's experience lends significance full feeding on balanced rations, says Mr. Sellards. Figured in terms of corn and tankage—that is, with all feeds converted to corn, and tankage equivalent, the Coffey litter produced 100 pounds of gain on 6.3 bushels of corn equivalent and 31.2 pounds of tankage equivalent, or 34 gallons of milk. For each 56 pounds of grain and 5½ gallons of milk, or 5 pounds of tankage equivalent (i. e. milk converted to tankage), 15.9 pounds of pork were produced.

The feeds used were corn, wheat, milk and a small amount of shipstuff. The pigs were grazed on mixed pasture of wheat, red clover, Korean, red-top and orchard grass.

PUNGENT FLAVORS FOR RICE DISHES

Plain boiled rice served as a starchy dish for dinner needs no introduction in most American homes. But there are other ways of serving rice and by arranging occasional changes, it is possible to vary the menus. It is mostly a matter of changing the flavor.

Rice needs to be cooked in a liquid to make it tender, but the liquid need not always be water. Cooking it in milk increases the food value of the dash. Cooking it in tomato juice makes a flavory rice foundation for a gravy or a stew. Italians like their rice cooked in chicken stock; "rizotto," as they call it. And, with some of the bits of minced chicken, chopped ham, peppers, onions and tomatoes added, this becomes in the South, a "jambolaya." And meat stock may be used as the liquid in which to cook rice.

The bland rice is given more flavor in another way in rice lau, a Turkish dish, by browning the rice in salt-pork fat before it is boiled in water. After it is cooked tender it is mixed with chopped onion, celery, parsley and seasonings, and baked. In East India, rice is often served with a curry sauce, after being browned in fat and cooked in boiling water or meat stock. Onion and curry powder give it a distinctive flavor.

Canned tomatoes, grated cheese, and chopped pimentoes will turn a bowl of plain cooked rice into a complete one-dish meal, which can be cooked on top of the stove or baked. Recipes for unusual rice dishes can be found in Leaflet 112-L., Cooking American Varieties of Rice, published by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

The man who is wise won't tell his wife his favorite dish. If he does chances are he will wind up having it three times a day.

More western ewes and rams were brought into Todd county last month.

OBITUARY

The death angel visited our community, taking from us one of our oldest and best loved citizens, Mrs. Mary Presser, age 71 years, 2 months and 13 days.

She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Louden and was united in marriage to John Presser, who passed on many years ago. To this union seven child were born, four living, Mrs. Ed Sandford, Mrs. Paul Cook, John Jr., and Howard Presser. Three preceded her to the great beyond, Mrs. Herman Peters, Joe and Lloyd Presser. She also leaves eleven grandchildren and a host of other relatives and friends.

She united with the Belleview Church of Christ in 1888, and remained a true and faithful member until death.

She was a kind and loving mother, neighbor and friend. She will be missed by both the old and young of the community.

Don't be sad about the parting,
I'm tired and need a rest,
Visiting love ones up in heaven,
And with Jesus would be best.

Here on earth is lots of sadness,
But me, I didn't mind,
If a kind word, a pleasant smile
Or a new friend I would find.

My loved ones have all grown,
Some gone on, just before,
But what rejoicing it will be
To meet again, with them once more.

Not good-bye, but good evening
For tomorrow will be a day
And we will again be together
And there will always stay. .

Their days are bright sunshine,
No nights of dark or gloom,
In Heaven(I'll wait with Jesus,
For he says, "There is always room."

Weak Inrolling Feet Means Aches and Pains

The basic cause of foot trouble lies in weak shoes that do not support the outer weight bearing arch of your feet.

This arch sags, letting your ankle roll inward crowding your foot into the forepart of your shoe.

RESULTS—Corns, Callouses, Bunions and other foot trouble.

Four-H Members Complete Projects

Four-H club members are doing a splendid job of project completion this year, according to H. R. Forkner, county agent. A record of 527 members were enrolled in ten community clubs the past spring. Record books on file in the county office indicate that the largest number of project completions in the history of the county 4-H work will be made this fall.

The good record of the 4-H clubs this year to a large extent is due to the splendid cooperation of the schools and the unselfish guidance of local adult leaders backed by strong support of club officers, members and parents. These folk have capably carried on during the rush of the ACP, tobacco marketing quota and other emergency rush work placed on the county office during the year.

Each club member who completes his project and turns in his record book will receive an achievement certificate at the November meeting. Adult leaders who have served their community clubs for three or more years will receive honor certificates at these meetings. Tobacco project members are also making plans for the selling at a northern Kentucky 4-H tobacco sale on December 12th.

DRYING SWEATERS

Woolen sweaters are hard to dry as well as to keep in shape while wet. Put a heavy bath towel under the sweater, laying both on a flat surface. Take your rolling pin and roll out the sweater. The sweater becomes flat, the seams in place and the surface will take on a nice finish when garment dries. You can almost roll it dry, and the sweater still retains its shape.

Birthday Surprise Given Bernard Sebree October 23

Sunday, October 23, was Bernard Sebree's birthday, and his wife planned a surprise for him by inviting in a group of relatives and friends to help celebrate the occasion.

So secretly was every affair carried out that he was much surprised when he returned home from a short drive, to find a lot of relatives and friends there, who expressed best wishes for a happy birthday. All brought well filled baskets to satisfy the appetites of everyone at the noon hour.

The culinary art of the women folk was demonstrated by the food on the festive board, to which everyone did ample justice.

Music, contests and social conversation made departure come all too soon. All wished our friend many happy returns of his natal day.

Those enjoying the festivities were, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Worfford and son Robert, Mr. and Mrs. Beal, Mr. and Mrs. Schilling and son Robert, Mr. and Mrs. Dock Houston and daughter Norma, Mrs. Eunie Memmery, Mrs. Maggie Hewitt, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Hewitt and four children, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Hewitt and two children, all from Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. Edw. Maxwell, Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Vice and four children, Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Rice, Mr. and Mrs. Dawson Day and five children, Messrs Joe and Frank Haley, Miss Hilda Ryle, Miss Ida Pearl Gulley, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Sebree and two sons, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. HOW I. E. S. LAMPS PROTECT EYES

White glass diffusing bowl (A) conceals bulb, softens light and prevents glare. White shade lining (B) reflects maximum amount of light and wide angle shade (C) spreads it over a wide area. You actually get several times as much light as from ordinary lamps.

An I. E. S. Lamp Makes Reading More Enjoyable

YOUR eyes will try to adapt themselves to the most unfavorable seeing conditions but in doing so they place a strain on nerves, muscles and brain. Fatigue, drowsiness and headaches are the usual result. To enjoy comfortable reading, treat your eyes to the kindly light of an I. E. S. Lamp—the lamp that provides both direct and indirect light without a trace of glare or harsh shadows. You'll not only get enough light but the right kind of light for safe seeing. Models as low as $7.95. Ask for free home demonstration.

Graduated from Vanderbilt Training School, boys preparatory school formerly located at Elkton, Kentucky. Graduated from University of Kentucky with A. B. in journalism. Attended first officers training camp when U. S. entered World War. In service two years six months, 11½ months of which was in France. Country newspaper publisher since got out of army. First weekly newspaper owned was no longer existent Elizabethtown Mirror, at Elizabethtown. Later part owner and editor of The Anderson News, of Lawrenceburg. Part owner and editor Richmond Daily Register since 1925. Past president Kentucky Press Association. Active in American Legion. Secretary of the Democratic State Central Executive committee since 1932. Past president University of Kentucky alumni association, member board of regents Eastern Teachers College. Lieutenant Governor. He has operated that office with the least expenditure of public money of any official in 25 years. Member Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity, Elks and Masons.

By Lieutentant Governor Keen Johnson

The principal duty assigned the lieutenant governor by the Kentucky constitution is that of president of the state senate. In this position the lieutenant governor has opportunity to render his greatest service in formulating legislation and assisting in its enactment.

In event of absence of the governor of the commonwealth from the state, it is the duty of the lieutenant governor to serve as acting governor. While serving in that capacity he has full authority as chief executive.

By legislative enactment additional duties have been conferred upon the lieutenant governor. By virtue o this office he is chairman of the Kentucky Disabled Ex-Service Men's Board. For this service he receives no additional compensation. This board was created for the purpose of rendering assistance to Kentucky war veterans, their widows and orphans, by aiding them in preparing their claims for compensation as is provided by federal legislation. The board assists war veterans in obtaining hospital treatment in federal hospitals and represents them before the United States Veterans Bureau in presenting their claims.

The most recent additional duty imposed upon the lieutenant governor is that of serving as chairman of the Legislative Council. This organization was created by the recent governmental reorganization Act. Purpose of the Council is to study legislative needs between session of the legislature, gather information which will be helpful in formulating legislation, and in suggesting legislation that is desirable. The Council is composed of eight members of the house of representatives, eight members of the state senate and eight elective or appointive state officials. Representatives of the house are appointed by the speaker. The lieutenant governor appoints the state officials who are to be members.

As chairman of the Legislative Council the lieutenant governor's additional duties are quite important because of the influence he may exert upon the formulation of a legislative program. The Council may not meet more than 20 days a year.

LARGE AMOUNT OF FLOUR RECEIVED BY KENTUCKY

Kentucky has received 3,880,800 pounds of flour from the Federal Surplus Commodities Corporation for distribution through the Works Progress Administration to 70,000 families on the relief rolls. It is pointed out that the volume can be better realized when it is considered that the amount is sufficient to make more than 5½ million loaves of bread. In addition to flour, Kentucky had received 441,000 pounds of graham flour and 280,000 pounds of wheat cereal.

This flour and cereal which has been received over a period extending back to last June, results from the efforts of the Federal Surplus Commodities Corporation to move into consumption surplus wheat supplies.

To date the wheat products purchased by the Corporation represent the equivalent of more than 14 million bushels of wheat. All of this flour and cereal is for relief consumption throughout the United States.

If everybody who says he prefers to live in a good neighborhood could get in, it wouldn't be a good neighborhood any more.

Many girls don't seem to be so interested in breaking hearts, but lots of them go out of their way to break pocketbooks.

SOCIAL SECURITY CARDS IN THIS DISTRICT OBTAINED IN COVINGTON

It has come to the attention of the Covington, Kentucky Field Office of the Social Security Board, according to Frank B. Decker, Jr., manager, that many wage earners residing in the counties served by his office have been obtaining social security account number cards and duplicate account number cards from offices outside of this district.

The Covington Field Office serves the counties of Boone, Bracken, Campbell, Gallatin, Grant, Kenton, Pendleton and Carroll. The last named county has just recently been removed from the Frankfort, Kentucky district and attached to the district served by the Covington Office. Anyone residing in these counties should make application for their social security account number to the Covington Field Office. This is also true in the case of filing claims. Wage earns residing in these counties upon attaining age sixty-five should file their applications for lump-sump benefits, to which they are entitled, at the above named field office. In the case of survivors of deceased wage earners, they too should file their applications for lump-sum benefits at this office.

The Covington Field Office is located in the Coppin Building, Seventh and Madison Avenue, Mr. Decker added.

APPLE-TIME

Apples, dipped in a salt water solution, will not change color. The salty taste is easily removed from fruit when ready to use by running cold water over the apple. . . Sprinkle grated cheese over the top of an apple pie after it is two thirds done. Finish baking the pie and the cheese will melt and give a good flavor.

NEW GAYETY THEATRE WILL HAVE GALA OPENING TONIGHT

"THE CROWD ROARS" OPENING ATTRACTION AT NEW GAYETY

Robert Taylor and Maureen O'Sullivan Head All-Star Cast—First Show Will Start at 7:00 P. M.

Maureen O'Sullivan wins the feminine lead opposite Robert Taylor for the second time in "The Crowd Roars," dramatic story of the modern prize ring, which comes to the Gayety Theatre tonight for the grand opening. The new teaming is the result of their work together in "A Yank at Oxford."

As Sheila Carson, Miss O'Sullivan enacts the daughter of a big-time gambler, Edward Arnold, who uses "Killer" McCoy, the starring character created by Taylor, as a pawn in his shady dealings. Her father's activities are unknown to Sheila until she is kidnaped by rival racketeers on the night of McCoy's championship fight. The story reaches its climax when McCoy, who is in love with Sheila, decides to throw the fight to save her.

Adapted to the screen from a story by George Brue, author of "Navy Blue and Gold," the picture includes in its cast such outstanding names as Frank Morgan, playing Taylor's father, an ex-vaudeville "ham"; William Gargan as Johnny Martin, ex-light-heavyweight champ who is killed in the ring by his former pupil, Taylor; Lionel Stander as Taylor's trainer, and Jane Wyman as Maureen O'Sullivan's school chum and rival for the star's affections. Richard Thorpe directed.

More than fifty "greats" and "near-greats" of the prizefight world became voluntary technical directors for Robert Taylor's latest starring picture.,

Appearing with Taylor in a gymnasium sequence which was staged with one of the studio's largest sound stages serving as the gymnasium itself, were such fighters as Jimmy McLarin, twice world's welterweight title-holder; Maxie Rosenbloom, light - heavyweight champion for five years; Joe Glick, who fought seven champions including McLarnin; Frankie Grandetta, West Coast bantam sensation; Abe the Newsboy, "heor of a thousand fight"; Abe Bain, who fought Rosenbloom for the light-heavyweight crown; Jack Roper, Coast heavyweight 'spoiler"; Hank Hankinson, heavyweight with a record of seventy-one knockouts in ninety-eight starts; "Globe-trotter" Sammy Shack; Tommy Herman, who k.o'd Freddie Steel and Billy Petrolle; Bing Conley, New England middleweight champ; Billy McGowan, Southern middleweight; and such others as Joe Grey, Benny Mozelle, Joe Lynch, Abdulah Abbas and Larry Williams former sparring partner for Dempsey and Tunney.

Signed to lend color to the sequence, to spar in three separate rings, to skip rope, punch the bag, work out on rowing machines, shadow-box and go through calisthenics, every one of them knew just exactly how the rings should be set up, how Taylor should tape his hands, and every other detail of the scene. Finally, it reached the point where there were more technical directors than actors, until Director Richard Thorpe assigned each one to a definite chore before the camera.

PRICES TO REMAIN SAME AS BEFORE

ALL OF ADDITIONAL COMFORTS WILL BE ENJOYED BY PATRONS WITH NO ADVANCE IN ADMISSION.

The management has announced that the prices in the new building, with all of its added advantages will remain the same as before, even though you will enjoy every comfort of the most modern theater today.

The Gayety has always been known for its very reasonable prices, and many persons expected the admission price to advance when the new building was completed. With all of the extra advantages of the new building the price will remain 27 cents for adults and ten cents for children.

Shows Each Night

One of the marked improvements in the program for the new building is that there will be 2 shows for every night of the week, including matinee on Sunday afternoon at 2:30. The listing of the attractions for the coming week will be found on another page of this issue, and a complete listing will be carried each week in this newspaper. The shows for the evening will begin at 7:00 p. m. and 8:45 p. m.

Friday and Saturday the Gayety will feature "Give Me A Sailor" starring Martha Raye Bob Hope, Betty Grable, Jack Whiting, J. C. Nugent and Clarence Kolb. Shut her mouth, but here's that Raye gal again . . . swingin' the neatest pair of stems that ever had the fleet aflutter!

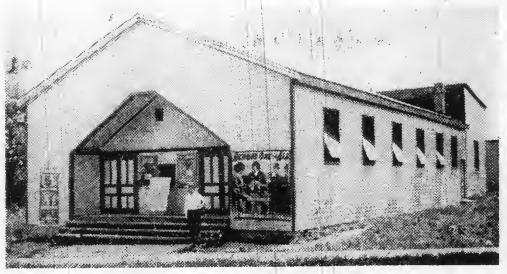
Lost And Found Articles Should Be Reported To Manager

The management of the Gayety Theatre reveals the information that many dollars in money clothing, articles and what-not, lost in their theatre each year, are almost without fail returned to their owners.

Patrons forgetting or losing an article in the new Gayety theatre should report it to the manager or a member of the staff immediately. Every effort will be made to locate the article at that time and if efforts prove unsuccessful, a special message is left for the porter to be on the look-out for said article as he cleans the theatre next morning.

Umbrellas, gloves, hats, purses, handkerchiefs, pocketbooks, rings, wrist watches, glasses, galoshes and overcoats are but a few of the many, many articles absent-minded patrons leave behind, theatre officials state.

MAUREEN O'SULLIVAN GIVES VERSION OF SCREEN SUCCESS



To the girls who write to her asking for her recommendations, Miss O'Sullivan urges partcularly that they take an interest in a variety of sports, and that they obtain a working knowledge of music, art and the cultural subjects.

"For the more interested you are in a variety of subjects, the more interesting you become to the people with whom you must associate. The better all-around woman you are the more interesting you become for the screen. The day of trial and error in pictures is fast passing. Either you deliver or you're left behind.' '

Old Gayety Theater Building Constructed Twenty-Three Years Ago

This building was erected by A. F. "Fin" Herman

The above is a picture of the old Gayety Theatre building that has been serving the patrons of this community for the past 23 years. It grew out of an old tent show that was purchased by A. F. Herman many years ago. The old building was alright for its day, but now to keep in step with changing times, the new modern building, shown at the top of the page has been built and will afford its patrons all the latest conveniences and comforts possible.

In order to fully appreciate the new building, it is necessary for you to come and spend the evening. Every comfort that you enjoy at your own fireside can now be had at the new Gayety.

Erlanger Genuinely Proud Of Luxurious New Gayety Theatre

Erlanger citizens, conservative, yet appreciative, will extend a cordial and hearty welcome of appreciation to the new deluxe Gayety Theatre, at its formal opening Thursday evening. Many of the Erlanger merchants and the Erlanger Rotary Club have taken an active part in assuring success for the opening night program at the new theatre.

The new theatre, affords Erlanger and Northern Kentucky people the very last word in modern theatre facilities.

Constructed of brick and fireproof throughout, the new Gayety has every measure of safety and comfort it is possible to build into a theatre today.

The theatre has a Terra Cotta Enamel front in rich tones of blue and yellow and its large marquee exemplifies its modern construction throughout.

Sunday and Monday at patrons of the Gayety will have the opportunity to see "The Texans," starring Joan Bennett and Randolph Scott. The pictures dealing in a son and daughter of Texas braving many terrors. Again the valiant sons of Texas battle against odds. Don't miss this big picture.

Everything In Readiness For Gala Opening Night

All will be in readiness, according to the officials, and the opening night's program is expected to run promptly on schedule. The event, one of the most anxiously awaited in Northern Kentucky's history, will find thousands of local citizens and visitors from this section, gathered here to take part in the opening night's festivities.

The management has left nothing undone in the arrangements for the opening of this beautiful new picture house. Every detail has been carefully checked, machines and sound production tested for perfection. The opening will be a grand evening for everyone attending.

Those who attend the opening can be assured of an evening of entertainment and comfort that is unsurpassed anywhere in this section of the country.

The opening screen program will start at 7 p. m., to be followed by a second complete performance at 8:45 o'clock. Robt. Taylor in "The Crowd Roars", will be the feature picture, with a complete program of selected short subjects will be the dedication night attraction.

ERLANGER'S NEW THEATRE UNEXCELLED IN BEAUTY, COMFORT AND SAFETY

Is Most Modern Theatre In Northern Kentucky—All New Features Installed By Management

Northern Kentucky citizens are genuinely proud of the New Gayety Theatre. From the many comments heard during the construction of the new theatre building there is much interest shown and that the general opinion is, this is something the town has looked forward to for many years.

The new theatre. built at considerable cost will afford the people of Northern Kentucky the best to be had in comfort and motion pictures. The new theatre is constructed of brick, and fireproof throughout. It has every measure of safety and comfort it is possible to build into a theatre today, according to architects and engineers..

The F. & Y. Construction Co., of Columbus, O., who built the new Gayety have to their credit, building and designing of many modern theatres. Among them being the New Mariemont Theatre now under construction, also the Cleves, Arlington and Westmont, of Colbus and many other theatres thruout the country.

The front of the theatre will have a brilliantly lighted canopy with two beautiful neon lighted signs and above the canopy the design of the front of the building is modernistic and includes a column of Transparent Belguim glass brick, behind which there are many lights, adding much to the appearance of the building.

Entering the front set of doors, one is afforded a pleasant first foyer view. In this foyer which is pleasantly lighted with indirect lighting, one next enters the main foyer of the auditorium, which is carpeted in rich, specially designed carpet to blend in with the interior decoration and the full upholstered chairs. On the right side of the second foyer is the ladies' powder and rest room, which is in keeping with the rest of building. On the left hand side upon entering will be the men's lounge. In the second foyer, conveniently located is a modern drinking fountain.

The auditorium is designed in a distinctly different manner, and is treated accostically to afford the best results for reproduction of sound.

Upon entering the aisles, the patron will notice that recessed and flush with the floor, the aisle lights in addition to the artistic lighting in the auditorium, will make it very pleasant and easy to locate seats.

The chairs of which the management is very proud, are fully upholstered and are deluxe type—have a full spring to the edge of the seat which is six inches deep. The back is covered with a high grade of Mohair. The chairs afford the maximum amount of comfort, besides being designed to harmonize with the decorating scheme. The seats are spaced six inches farther apart between rows and will allow more space for entering and leaving, with a minimum of discomfort to other patrons.

Projection of the picture will afford the patrons of the Gayety Theatre the cleanest and sharpest picture, bringing out the finest much details of the picture, which will mean much to those attending the show. The sound reproduction will afford the maximum amount of pleasant and natural sound and reproducing the musical tones with clear brilliant fidelity.

The screen and stage are equipped with automatic device that opens and closes a beautiful draw curtain, which opens and closes before and after the show.

The patron will find that comfort, projection and sound have been given much attention by the management of the theatre.

Much attention has been given the selection of an air-conditioning plant for the new theatre. The very best equipped has been purchased and installeld, and at all times, both winter and summer, the building will be thoroughly air-conditioned.

In an interview with Walter Herman, one of the manager, he said:

"We have given much thought to the Gayety and its requirements. We have been in a position to see many theatres and have been able to get many suggestions which were advantageous used in construction of the new Gayety. All of the most outstanding features of these theatres have been incorporated in this new structure.

"Our patrons are entitled to every new development in the motion picture theatre field, and we will make every effort to continue to show a selection of the best pictures.

"We will make an effort to operate the new theatre on the same friendly and neighborly basis which has been in effect in the past, and we hope that we may continue to merit your patronage.

"The incline in the theatre has been so designed that every seat will afford a good sight line to the screen.' '

Shirley Ross Gets Roughing She Asked For

Nobody on the Paramount lot in Hollywood feels sorry for Shirley Ross who takes one of the worst screen beatings of the year in the new drama "Prison Farm" which will be shown at the Gayety Saturday, October 29th. Although she wears severe uniforms throughout this picture of a girl's experience in a backward prison colony, gets mauled around by J. Carrol Naish and Porter Hall, and does enough washing to outfit a regiment, studio friends laugh at her plight and say, "She asked for it!"

Miss Ross, the honey-haired girl who won such fame when she and Bob Hope sang the sensational "Thank for The Memory" in the recent "Big Broadcast of 1938," has long determined to show Hollywood what she could do without the aid of gorgeous gowns and sophisticated settings. When she heard of Paramount's plan for "Prison Farm," she immediately asked for the role of the girl prisoner in order to prove that she could ring the bell in a strong dramatic part. She is co-featured with John Howard and Lloyd Nolan.

Edward Arnold seen as Jim Cain, big-shot gambler, in "The Crowd Roars," at the Gayety, is the son of a New York City furrier. From the time he was fifteen he traveled all over the United States, beginning a stage career in "The Jazz Singer." While appearing in "Whistling in the Dark" at the Belasco Theater, Los Angeles, in 1932, he was seen by Director Tay Garnett who signed him for his first film role in "O. K. America." He has been kept continually busy in films ever since as character lead and star.

Lionel Stander, who plays Robert Taylor's pal in "The Crowd Roars" as the Gayety was born in England. He scored his first success on the New York stage, which won him a bid from Hollywood. Jane Wyman, who appears as Maureen O'Sullivan's best friend and rival for Robert Taylor's affections in "The Crowd Roars" at the Gayety Theatre, is a native of St. Joseph, Mo. A Phi Beta Pi at Columbia University, Missouri, Jane appeared in school plays from the time she was eight years old. She worked as a model in Kansas City, turned to radio singing, and obtained her first film chance in "My Man Godfrey," The role of Bagette in "The King and the Chorus Girl" led to her first leading role opposite Kenny Baker in "Mr. Dodd Takes the Air."

Be sure to to see "The Crowd Roars" at the Gayety Theatre on opening night. The crowd will also marvel at this wonderful theater.

Everything in the way of comfort has been placed in the new Gayety Theater, in order that its patrons may enjoy a good picture, and rest for their labors while being entertained. A wonderful theatre in a wonderful community.

"THE BIRTH OF A BABY" AGITATES MOVIE MEN

Studio officials, who are used to copying with anything from feuds to fires, admitted their consternation when the stork visited the Paramount lot during the filming of "The Texans" which will be shown at the Gayety Theatre Sunday and Monday, October 30th and 31st. The proud parent was a bit player in the picture—one of the twenty-five hundred head of cattle assembled for the stampede scenes!

Although "mother and baby" did as well as could be expected the production was held up in honor of the blessed event. Joan Bennett and Randolph Scott interrupted a love scene to visit the new arrival and "prop" men insisted they hadn't order the addition to the company. A studio vote was taken on the calf's name and, approximately, the result was a landslide for "Tex."

Two large exits at the front of the new Gayety theatr's aditorium located on either side of the stage, and two large exits at the rear of new Gayety theatre's auditorium all of which lead into public alleys, have been provided in the plans of the new structure to assure the public adequate safety measures at all times.

These four large exits are in addition to the wide foyer and lobby exit. It is estimated a capacity crowd can be dismissed from the theatre in 90 seconds because of the unusually large exit facilities. Maureen O'Sullivan and Robert Taylor in "The Crowd Roars"

Robert Taylor plays his first prizefight role in "The Crowd Roars," action-packed story of the modern prize ring.

Maureen O'Sullivan, who played opposite the star in "A Yank at Oxford," is once again cast as Taylor's heroine in the new picture, and an exceptional cast of prominent screen names includes Edward Arnold, as a racketeer, Frank Morgan, as a Taylor's father, an ex-vaudeville "ham".

"The Crowd Roars" offers Taylor in the hardest-hitting role of his career as Tommy McCoy, the boy from the wrong side of the tracks, who fights his way up from the slums to a chance at the light-heavyweight championship.

Three smashing bouts in the colorful setting of Madison Square Garden climax the eventful career of the young fighter, who finds a battle with racketeers more serious than his challenge for the title.

TEXAS STORY MAKES VIVID SCREEN SAGA

Seldhom has history been so excitingly told and characters out of the distant past so vividly brought to life as in Paramount's epic of the South's struggle for freedom during the dark days after the War Between the States, "The Texans," which will be shown at the Gayety Sunday and Monday, October 30 and 31. It recaptures the spirit of one of the most thrilling periods of this country's history and is a powerful story of the men who rebuilt America after the national destruction of the "brothers' war."

Don't miss this big picture. Also edded short subjects which will be interesting.

The Buildings We Build---BUILD OUR BUSINESS

Too Skinny When He Made 1st Screen Test, Taylor Now Tips Scales at 174!

Concentrated effort can train a film star for almost any sort of athletic role provided he keeps in good physical condition between roles, declares Robert Taylor.

Taylor, who amazed the profession fighters who appear with him in "The Crowd Roars"—among them Maxie Rosenbloom, Jimmy McLarnin, Patsy Perroni and Mickey McAvoy—by his near-perfect fighting build and ability to handle himself in the ring, trained for exactly fourteen days before beginning fight scenes for the picture, which comes to the Gayety Theatre Thursday and Friday, October 27th and 28th.

"One of the first things I was told when I made my first film test was that I was too skinny," the star reminisced. "At the time I weighed between 155 and 160. So I started working out with the weights. I did calisthenics every day. I concentrated particularly on arm and chest development and did enough running to keep my legs in shape. Gradually, I built myself to about 176 and I've stayed at that weight for the past two years. Right now I'm probably in the best shape I've ever enjoyed in my life and I tip the scales at 174.

"The only fighting I ever did before this picture was a kid in Nebraska, when I used to get my face rubbed in the dirt regularly. The one time I thought I had a good chance to win, somebody broke it up. Ever since I started work in Hollywood I've been a fight fan, however, and you can't sit at ringside at the Olympic and legion stadiums, without picking up some pointers.

When Taylor was informed by Producer Sam Zimbalist that he was to appear in his first prize fight role in "The Crowd Roars," he had just finished work in "Three Comrades." There was less than three weeks before the new picture was to start. At this Northridge ranch the star already had a punching bag set up, but had never learned to do anything but punch it with a straight left and right. Now a ring was set up near the stables, and instead of working out with his horses each morning, Taylor began working in the ring with Trainer Johnny Indresano, former championship contender who in his day had licked the best in several divisions.

"Sure, it was hard work, but I loved it," said Taylor. "We put in about six or seven hours each day for fourteen days. First I concentrated on the light bag, then on the heavy bag, then on footwork, then on actual ring technique with McAvoy and Perroni. Because I was in good shape I didn't seem to have much difficulty in picking up the knack of it. And I think 'good shape' is the answer to any star learning an athletic role."

Film Reveals Brutality of Penal Camps

The experience of a beautiful young girl who undergoes all the terrors of a brutal prison camp rather than desert the man she loves forms the unusual plot of Paramount's new drama, "Prison Farm," which will be shown at the Gayety Theatre Saturday, October 29th. With a group of noted young players turning in moving performances, the film uncovers the shocking conditions existing in certain American penal institutions and shows what their effect can be on an innocent young girl who is exposed to them.

Heading the cast in a new kind of role is Shirley Ross, the vivacious blonde who was hailed so enthusiastically when she sang "Thanks for The Memory" in the recent "Big Broadcast of 1938." She is now seen as a romantic young girl who throws up her home, her job and her friends for the love of a man who does not deserve it, and even follows him into a brutal prison camp.

Under the painstaking direction of Louis King, who has made an exhaustive study of his subject, "Prison Farm" reveals the tragedy of the innocent girl, who is exposed to one terror after another, climaxing with a live steam barrage when she and a group of her fellow-inmates strike for better treatment.

Lloyd Nolan, as Miss Ross's gunman sweetheart, and John Howard as the crusading prison doctor, have the other leading roles in the picture. As Howard shows the girl what the love of the right sort of man can accomplish, she gradually draws away from Nolan and in the end links her future with his.

Young Hollywood actors and actresses are too good looking to suit Oliver Hinsdell. Paramount talent director!

Hinsdell made this statement after an exhausting search for youngsters to play minor roles in the new drama of life in a brutal camp ,"Prison Farm." The players had to be between the ages of eighteen and twenty-two, but all those available were far too handsome to be criminals in a penal colony. As a result, Hindsell had to comb California little theatres before he found a group to fill the bill.

THE BOONE COUNTY RECORDER

ESTABLISHED 1875

VOLUME 63 — BURLINGTON, KENTUCKY THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 3, 1938 — NUMBER 24

SCHOOL BUILDING FOR BURLINGTON

INCLUDED IN SIXTEEN WPA GRANTS FOR KENTUCKY TOTALING $971,679 — LOCATION TO BE CHANGED SLIGHTLY.

Approval of a Works Progress Administration grant of $39,949 for the erection of a new school building in Burlington was announced Saturday afternoon in a telegram received by D. H. Norris, Superintendent of the Boone County Schools.

The Burlington school was one of 16 Grants approved by W. P. A. for Kentucky, totaling $971,679.

The exact location for the new school building has not been definitely decided. However, it will not be erected on the same spot the old building occupies. It is to have 8 class rooms and an auditorium. The total cost of construction is estimated at approximately $70,-000.

The old building, erected in 1910, has been unsafe for sometime, as the walls have divided and the entire structure weakened. The old building was examined by experts sometime ago, and was found to be in such condition that it was beyond repair and would have to be condemned for school purposes. What is to be done with the old building has not been revealed.

QUOTAS SUPPLIED STATE OFFICE SAT.

MANY STRENOUS HOURS REQUIRED TO OBTAIN INFORMATION—GROWERS EXPECTED TO BE WELL PLEASED.

Tobacco marketing information required for setting up 1938 AAA tobacco marketing quotas was supplied the state office Saturday night, October 29th, according to H. R. Forkner, county agent. The county office and community committees spent many strenous hours collecting and getting the information to the state office on time.

The quota information shows that Boone County farmers the past three years harvested a total of 5034 acres and marketed a total of 5,029,679 pounds. This information will be used in securing for Boone County growers their proportinate part of the 350,000,000 pounds allotment set up to be marketed under the 1938 AAA tobacco program. The county committees, on receiving the total county allotment, will proceed to set up farm allotments based on the past production and marketing of the individual farms.

The growers as a whole are expected to be well pleased with the marketing program as it is considered to be an important factor toward receiving a better price for this year's crop. Growers who derive a substantial part of their income from tobacco and who understand the general working of the program are rendering strong support to the program. It is expected it will be about three weeks before growers will be notified of their individual sales allotments.

The allotments are expected in most cases to amply take care of the growers marketing needs.

VOTERS SHOW LITTLE INTEREST

IN NOVEMBER ELECTION—FOUR NAMES ON SCHOOL BALLOT—TO BE ELECTED FROM COUNTY-AT-LARGE.

Little interest has been shown among the voters of Kentucky in the forthcoming general election, to be held Tuesday, November 8th. Voters in this section seem to be unconcerned, as they feel Sen. Barkley and Congressman Spence will be elected by a huge majority.

The vote in Boone County will probably be light. Approximately six thousand ballots were printed for this election, but it is estimated that not more than half this number will be cast.

This year we have an election of two school board members, with four names on the ballots. More interest is being shown in this election than in the senatorial race, according to reports. The following names will appear on the school ballot: H. R. Daugherty, R. L. Green, John L. Jones and T. B. Roberts. The voters are cautioned to vote for two, only.

$56,771,975 PAID INTO KENTUCKY

COFFERS EACH YEAR BY TAXPAYERS — GASOLINE TAX BRINGS IN MOST REVENUE, RUM SECOND.

For the support of the State government from July 1st, 1937 to July 1st, 1938, the taxpayers of Kentucky paid in taxes the sum of $31,736,490.11 for the salaries and expenses of the State government and also paid an additional sum of $25,035,485.23 to the Highway Department for road and bridge purposes. In addition to the foregoing, minor funds such as the Fish and Game Commission and others that are paid for a specific purpose and not used for any other, received $3,602,229.09.

The cost of operating the State government did not reach the total of the three funds, roads, minor and general. Some of this money went to pay interest-bearing warrants, a form of indebtedness incurred by former administrations. But including the debt payments all money collected was paid out during the year.

Citizens paid more than $1,000,-000.00 to use telephones, send telegrams, draw water from the faucet, burn gas and use electricity. This tax, a sales tax, produced more than the amount of $1,000,-000.00. Burlington Takes First Game From Highland Blue Birds

The local basketball team trimmed the Highland Blue Birds last Friday night by a score of 28 to 18. The Burlington boys displayed good form, and will prove strong opposition to any team they encounter this year.

Coach Walton deserves much for the splendid showing of our boys, and if the dope bucket isn't upset the Burlington boys will be one of the strongest teams in this section at the close of the season.

The boys will play the alumni Friday night of this week on the local hardwood.

ACP COMMUNITIES HOLD ELECTIONS

NEW OFFICERS WILL NOT TAKE OFFICE UNTIL COMPLETION OF 1938 AAA TOBACCO MARKETING QUOTA WORK.

Boone County ACP communities will hold their 1938-39 committee election beginning the week of November 7th, according to H. R. Forkner, county agent. The newly election officers will not take office until completion of the 1938 AAA tobacco marketing quota work.

The number of communities in all probability will be cut from six to five under the new plan that not more than one community will be used for each 300 farmers. New changes in community set ups includes the election of a delegate and an alternate, who will represent the community in a county convention for the election of the county committee. There will also be elected a community chairman, a vice chairman, a third member and a first and second alternate committeeman. The chairman of the community committee may also be the delegate to the county convention.

The effectiveness of the county association depends on the election of good, honest and substantial comitteemen who will capably serve their farmers. Boone County farmers in the past have done a splendid job of selecting capable committeemen who have generously given of their best. It is expected our farmers will continue this policy.

THE HUNTING SEASON

Another hunting season is near at hand. Preparations are already being made for the quail, and rabbit hunting seasons. Old hunting sites and new areas are being visited every week-end so that when the opening day arrives everything will be in readiness.

Major James Brown, Director of the Division of Game and Fish, asks that all sportsmen in going into the field on the opening day of the season to remember to ask the farmer for permission to hunt on his land. Farmers are vitally interested in the propagation of game birds and animals, but many of them have become "soured" on Kentucky sportsmen who persistently hunt on their land without permission to do so.

"We as hunters cannot be too courteous to the man who feeds the birds year in and year out. If the farmer should happen to turn your request down, he still deserves your courtesy. Perhaps the next time you call on him he will be more than glad to let you hunt on his land. A person never achieved any success by bluffing or forcing his way. Courtesy is a virtue which cannot be over-emphasized in any walk of life," Major Brown explains.

"Sportsmen in many localities are cooperating with farmers to improve homes for wildlife in their districts. Many farms can be made more attractive to game birds if sportsmen would help the farmers finance the bird feeding. With this additional financial assistance the farmer can well afford to leave a few acres of grain each year. This method would also help cut down over-production which we hear so much of these days. The birds will be able to take care of any amount of feed if it is left near cover.

"In our experience with the farmers we have found them to be a friendly lot, and usually willing to cooperate with the sportsmen when they are certain he respects their rights and desires to meet them on the same social plane. A little financial help for his effort is a sure way to arouse his interest, and often the recompense not be the actual cash. There are many other things that you can do for him which have far more value in that they carry the sentiment of genuine friendship.

"Hunters should be humane, observe the hunting and conservation laws. They should shoot to kill, but they should be sure that the game is within range. Crippled birds usually die, and many of them become more susceptible to predatory birds and animals. Only a poor shot takes a pot shot.

"Guns should be given a thorough check-up before taking to the field, and hunters should always remember that a gun is never empty. It is always the empty gun that causes most of the accidents. By being a little more careful with our firearms we may be able to save many a life," Major Brown stated.

FLOOD RELIEF

America again is called upon to come to the assistance of the stricken and bereaved families suffering loss of property and life by the recent hurricane sweeping a large New England area. The elements have spoken and we are asked to reply with help and sympathy for those who met with disaster. America has come to the aid of flood sufferers before—she will again. Plans are afoot to rebuild and reconstruct the damage to property, estimated at a half billion dollars, the government shouldering a great portion of the expense. But what about the loss of life, of the dear ones whose homes mourn?

The American Red Cross is giving of its labor and finances as always and extending their helping hand to the needy. You and I support this organization with our donations during seasons of calm, helping them lay aside that store of goodness which is passed on to benefit the stricken of this nation in their time of need. We bless this Red Cross and will continue to support them with our contributions. After all, we are a large family ,we Americans, and it is necessary, that we provide for our members as any family would. We are not supplying gas masks or building bomb-proof basements—we are supplying food for the hungry homes for the homeless. Nature, not man, is the cause for this call for help. May we answer and thank our God that we are able to assist. People of Boone County never know when they may call for the nation's aid.

QUICK RECOVERY

Who in Boone County hasn't had a miserable toothache that has been cured by walking into a dentist's office and merely looking around? In talking to a friend who felt tests and serum shots might help to relieve a hay fever condition, when she found out the cost her sneezing stopped! Which reminds us of the man who was suffering from uncontrollable hiccoughs for five days. He went to a hospital where the doctor lead him to an emergency room with its operating table, scissors, clamps and so on. One glance was enough. The sufferer stopped hiccoughing. And any person in our county who ever looked over a like situation will believe this a very plausible reason.

—o—

MODERN HEATING

Due to advertising in a new fall campaign to make the nation more conscious of air-conditioning, we are, as readers, going to read more about this system of modern heating. Modern living asks for modern heating and this seems to be the newest contribution in this field. The principle of air-conditioning gives the consumer purer air and more even temperature. With your automatic furnaces, your stokers, your thermostats, heating is made much simpler and less of a task for any fireman. There are many who think life is being made too easy for our own good and that we are becoming too dependent on mechanical devices. They may be right, but how naturally we seek the automatic way out. It would be a bit difficult to give up the things we own that make our lives more comfortable. To return to the more primitive manner would not get many votes.

PREVENT THIS

While folks are in the throes of the hunting season it is necessary and timely to caution the fathers who shoot the guns to take care in leaving weapons lying around where a playful child might reach them. Remove shells and ammunition from the reach of a child wanting to stage an act of "cops and robbers." Last year four children were injured trying to drive a bullet with a hammer. This is only one of a great many accidents which occur in homes during this season. This is only one instance where a fther was careless—there are many others. Weapons are all right in their place, but they should be kept in their place. A youngster who delights in playing Indian and cowboy would find keen pleasure in a real gun and ammunition. Guard against a tragedy in your home.

—o—

HAIL DUNKERS

The best news we have received in a long time, other than the bit about the peace pact from abroad, was the word that "dunking" is aceptable by the powers that be in the world of etiquette. No other authority than Mrs. Emily Post has favored the country with her opinion of this right of dunking, and she says it is proper. That is, where doughnuts and coffee are served. Perhaps Mrs. Post figured that where these are served it isn't necessary for all such rules of etiquette to be upheld to the letter. The subject of dunking has always been a bone of contention in many a home. The family without a dunker is hard to find, and up to this time many an act of dunking has had to be committed behind a paper or closed doors. From this date on we are a free and emanciated people as far as dunking is concerned. There have been instruments of dipping other than doughnuts but this new ruling does not cover them. We cannot be sure whether toast or corn pone enters into the picture. Mrs. Post does not desire that she be understood to tolerate wholesale dunking. There can be technique in the art, the idea of playing around in the coffee is not acceptable. It must be a dignified process with a display of daintiness and delicacy. The exact words are "Dip it (the doughtnut) not too far and spread it not too wide," and these words are no longer fightin' words, pardner! They say usuage makes words acceptable for the dictionary, and now it looks like a popular act has overcome the lifted eyebrow, the frown, the kick under the table.

A SHIRT TALE

This past summer here, there and every where the rage seemed to be fore the shirt-tails of the young to hang on the outside of the pants. Many boys at home and vacationing sported their shirts without the usual tucking-in and most of us thought it a bit untidy. Along came the girls with shirt-waists and skirts, and they too allowed the waist to remain on the outside. Many a mother has chided in vain to the tune of "all of them are wearing it this way." Looking through magazines you could see the pictured young wearing their "laundry" outside. But about this time comes a patent issued in Washington to an inventor of a "combination coat-shirt that leaves off the tail. A sort of abbreviated shirt and collar that button into the coat." You wonder if it will work? Back in 1920 the end of the shirt tail was predicted when a shirt was patented that buttoned to the top of the trousers and held up the pants without belts, suspenders and no shirt tail. There was another type of shirt with an extended garter fastening high on the shirt that stretched down to the socks, making the tail useless. The third patent was for a shirt that turned into underwear when it disappeared below the belt. With all these menaces to the tail the shirt manufacturers continued to make the regular tailed models. Cotton manufacturers will vote for the shirt tail to be worn on the outside if fashion prefers it. You can take away liquor, cigarettes and Sunday movies—but leave us our shirt tails.

A WALK A DAY

In England there lives a nine-year-old boy, weighing 59 pounds, is 4 ft. 4 in. tall and medical authorities declare him the most nearly perfect in health of any one within their range of experience Citizens can tell their own young that this English lad walks 10 miles before breakfast every day and lives on a diet which contains no meat, fish, eggs or bread. We figure he must arise very early to get in a ten mile hike before he eats his breakfast, which consists of a slice of pineapple. We do recognize that exercise is necessary to good health and that most of us don't walk enough to really be healthy. The auto has made walk-lazy. Rural people walk more than city dwellers perhaps, but even that is not enough. However, if we do take up this 10 mile a morning stunt we will insist on more than a slice of pineapple for lunch.

—o—

THE OPEN DOOR

The arrival of fall and cool weather brings another danger besides careless handling of guns and slipping on leaves on wet pavements. There arises the danger of starting the car in a closed garage on a cold morning. Escaping gasoline fumes are mighty hard to detect. You may know all there is to know about the mechanical end of your car but do you know about the elusive death by carbon monoxide? It comes suddenly and is very deadly. Few survive its fumes. Remember this and keep those garage doors open when you start the car, and keep them open when you start the car, and keep them open while you have your motor running.

—o—

NIGHT AIR

There comes to us the statement made by the the farm boy named health champion of his western state at the yearly fair. He says in the winter he sleeps in a room with its one window closed. No night air. To admit you don't have fresh air in your room is to be frowned upon by folks who "fiends" for it. There has always been much talk about the necessity in having all windows open and wide, to be healthy! Sleeping porches were added to houses to give the sleeper more air. Today they find it isn't necessary to have the cold night air blowing over you, in fact there are many doctors dealing in various disorders of nose, throat and lungs, who insist the patient is better to sleep in a closed room. Coughing is not helped by the night air we read. Health is hard to obtain and more to be valued than money.

Lesson for November 6

HONORING OUR PARENTS

LESSON TEXT—Exodus 20:12; Luke 2: 46-52; John 19:26, 27; Ephesians 6:1-4.
GOLDEN TEXT—Honor thy father and thy mother: that thy days may be long upon the land which the Lord thy God giveth thee.—Exodus 20:12.

The splendid obedience of parents to their children has been pointed out as one of the remarkable developments of modern life. No, we have not made a mistake in writing or in typesetting. We mean just what we say—the obedience of parents to their children. In all too many homes God's order has been reversed and instead of honoring and obeying their parents, children (both young and old) have taken the place of "boss," and mother and father must obey if they want peace and rest.

The need for our lesson of today is both great and acute. The future happiness of hundreds of thousands of children (Eph. 6:3) and the present welfare of thousands of neglected and boss-ridden parents will depend on the intelligence and faithfulness with which this lesson is taught in our churches, and the honesty of heart with which men and women study and receive its truth.

I. The Command of God (Exod. 20:12).

The first and most important consideration to come before us is—what is the ,mind and will of the Maker of us all regarding this matter of the relation between parents and children? His words are plain—we are to "honor" our fathers and our mothers.

The word "honor" carries with it a great many things, but perhaps the three outstanding elements are respect, obedience, and affection. We should look up to them with high regard, obey them as long as they have the authority over us, and show true affection for them.

II. The Example of Jesus (Luke 2:46-52).

The fact that Jesus was God manifest in the flesh only enhances the glory of His conduct. He who is divine presents an example of obedience and consideration both as boy and man which we do well to emulate.

1. As a boy (Luke 2:46-52). The boy Jesus, increasing "in wisdom and stature and in favor with God and man," (v. 52) had come to His twelfth year and with His parents had gone up to Jerusalem to celebrate the Passover. There moved in His heart the conviction that He must now be about His Father's business—an altogether proper and commendable purpose but one which resulted for the moment in separation from His parents. This was far more serious than a physical separation, for we read that they did not understand Him (v. 50). Tragic indeed are the consequences of our failure to understand our children. Notice, however, that Jesus did not withdraw Himself from their watch care, nor refuse to obey them even though they failed to understand Him. Equally tragic are the results of hasty and litter separations brought about by the disobedience of children.

2. As a man (John 19:26, 27). The value of our lesson will be greatly reduced if we see only the responsibility of children while they are young. We are the children of our parents as long as we and they live. Being grown up and having a family of one's own does not relieve one of the precious responsibility of care for one's parents. Jesus was dying on the cross, His brethren apparently still regarded Him in unbelief, and His mother now needed a son to care for her. Even in His dying agony Jesus remembers to commit her to the care of His beloved disciple, John. One marvels at the carelessness and hardness of heart that will permit men and women who have time and money for everything else and yet will neglect their aged parents and even shunt them off into a public institution for care. Notice the promise that accompanies the command of God (Exod. 20:12; Eph. 6:3). If that is the reward of those who do right, what do you think will be the punishment of those who disobey God?

III. The Admonition of Paul (Eph. 6:1-4).

This matter of honoring and obeying parents "is right," says Paul. It is the Lord's way. Only if parents command their children to do wickedness would there be ground for disobedience to parents. Apart from such circumstances every parent has the right to expect the child's obedience.

There is tremendously important truth on the other side of the picture. Parents are not to provoke their children to anger, to disrespect or disobedience. How much we need God's grace at that point. It is so easy to say and do things that needlessly irritate our children. It is so convenient to nag at a careless child. Often we expect more of them than their age will justify. We are apt to punish them in a spirit of anger or revenge and thus to destroy the value of discipline. May God help us, who are parents, that we may take to heart this part of our lesson. Our children are our most valuable possession.

Tomato Juice Ring—4 cups tomato juice, ½ cup chopped sweet pickles, 2 tablespoons chopped onion, 4 tablespoons gelatin, 1 cup cold water. Soak gelatin in cup smooth, place mixture in top of double boiler and heat until dissolved. Add the gelatin mixture to the tomato juice, to which has been added the chopped pickles and onion. Pour into a rinsed ring mold and chill until firm. Unmold and serve with center filled with a salad.

KITCHEN KINKS

Steaming is a good way to cook vegetables because it reduces the loss of minerals and vitamins . . . Meringue may be made on waxed paper and placed on top the pudding after it has been put into the sherbet glasses . . . . Do not throw away lumpy sugar. It will make a simple syrup good for sweetening if put in water and heated . . . Leftover onions and cabbage should never be put away in the refrigerator unless they are in a covered dish.

IN REMEMBRANCE

Of Sara Crisler Campbell, who passed away, October 27 1935.

Remembrance is a golden chain,
Death tries to break, but all in vain;
To have, to love and then to part,
Is the greatest sorrow of one's heart.

The years may wipe out everything,
But this they wipe out never;
The memory of those happy days
When we were all together.

I cannot forget you,
I loved you too dear;
My lips need not speak,
For my heart mourns sincere.

In my heart you are fondly remembered,
Sweet memories cling to your name;
I loved you in life sincerely,
In death, I love you the same.

Just a thought of sweet remembrance,
Just a memory sad and true,
Just the love and sweet devotion
From the one who thinks of you.

—A friend.

The Fords Tell Their Plans for 1939

Henry and Edsel Ford, on the occasion of the 35th anniversary of the founding of the Ford Motor Company, June 16, 1938

IF WE KNEW anything better we could do for the country than make good motor cars, we would do it.

By every one doing his best in the job he thinks most useful, this country is going to regain its momentum. We have tried to do our best in our job.

When business was suddenly halted in its recovery more than a year ago, we determined that we should keep going anyway, if not at full-volume motor car production, then at getting ready for greater motor car values that would help future production.

EXPANDING FOR THE FUTURE

We began to build 34 million dollars' worth of new plants and equipment. We felt that if we could not employ all our men building motor cars, we would employ as many as we could building better production facilities.

We were told, of course, that this was no time for expansion, that a wiser business policy would be to "hold everything"—which means, stop everything. But no one ever got anywhere standing still.

Besides, we are not defeatists. We do not believe this country has seen its best days. We believe this country is yet in the infancy of its growth. We believe that every atom of faith invested in our Country and our People will be amply justified by the future. We believe America is just beginning. Never yet have our People seen real Prosperity. Never yet have we seen adequate Production. But we shall see it! That is the assurance in which we have built.

Business is not just coming back. It will have to be brought back. That is now becoming well understood in this country; for that reason 1939 will be a co-operative year. Manufacturers, sellers and buyers will co-operate to bring back the business that is waiting to be brought back.

This construction program is almost completed. It has increased activity and payrolls in a number of related industries. It has given us better facilities for building better cars and trucks, and eventually our new tractor which is being perfected.

THIS MEANS MORE VALUE

The current program has provided a new tire plant, which will turn out a part of our tire requirements . . . a new tool and die plant that will help us cut the cost of dies . . . and a steel-press plant that will enable us to make more of our own automobile bodies. These are in addition to the plants we already had for producing glass, iron, steel, plastics, and many other things.

We don't supply all our own needs, of course, and never expect to. The Ford engine is one thing that no one's hand touches but ours. Of nearly everything else we use we build some quantity ourselves, to find, if possible, better and more economical ways of doing it. The experience and knowledge we gain are freely shared with our suppliers, and with other industries.

We take no profit on anything we make for ourselves and sell to ourselves. Every operation, from the Ford ships which first bring iron ore to the Rouge, is figured at accurate cost. The only profit is on the finished result—the car or truck as it comes off the line. Some years, there is no profit for us. But we see to it that our customers always profit. A basic article of our business creed is that no sale is economically constructive unless it profits the buyer as much as or more than the seller.

Our new plants have helped us build more value into all our cars for 1939. That means more profit on the purchase to the purchaser.

We have not cut quality to reduce costs.

We simply will not build anything inferior.

NEW TESTING EQUIPMENT

While we were putting up new plants to produce cars, we constructed new equipment to test them. The first weather tunnel of its kind ever built for automobile research went into operation at our laboratories this year.

It makes any kind of weather to order. The weather it delivers every day would take months to find in Nature. Our cars are weather-tested to give you good service in any climate anywhere.

In other tests, every part of the car is punished unmercifully. Then our engineers tear it down to see if they can find abnormal wear or any sign of weakness.

The money we spend on tests saves you money on repairs. And your family car is safer and more dependable when we put it in your hands.

THE NEW CARS

We have two new Ford cars for 1939—better cars and better looking—but we also have an entirely new car.

It's called the Mercury 8. It fits into our line between the De Luxe Ford and the Lincoln-Zephyr. It is larger than the Ford, with 116-inch wheelbase, hydraulic brakes, and a new 95-horsepower V-type 8-cylinder engine.

We know that our 1939 cars are cars of good quality. We think they're fine values in their price classes.

With new cars, new plants, new equipment, the whole Ford organization is geared to go forward.

FOOT ROT TROUBLESOME AMONG KENTUCKY SHEEP

Numerous reports being received at the Agricultural Experiment station at Lexington of the presence of foot rot in Kentucky sheep this year.

The wet season, increased numbers of sheep, and the rather extensive purchase of sheep are thought to have something to do with the prevalance of the disease. Sheep that pass through stock yards sometimes pick up foot rot.

It is recommended that sheep be kept in quarantine after they are brought on the farm, in order to determine whether they have foot rot. Some farmers give all purchased sheep a preventive treatment as soon as they are brought on the farm. This consists of standing the animals in a solution of bluestone, the same as is used to treat the disease after it has appeared.

The first sign of foot rot is a slight lameness. The diseased feet are swollen and warm. Badly affected animals walk on three legs or lie down most of the time. Those having foot rot in the front feet frequently rest on the knees while grazing.

The solution used for treating foot rot consists of dissolving 24 pounds of bluestone (copper sulfate) in 10 gallons of water.

In the average well-drained pasture, the diseases does not persist through winter, but in swampy or wet land it may carry over from one season to the next.

STORAGE TASK IN EARLY APPLE CROP

The Kentucky apple crop matured early, and so went into storage considerably ahead of the usual date, which fact adds to the storage problem, according to W. W Magill, extension fruit specialist for the College of Agriculture, University of Kentucky.

With proper storage, Magill says such varieties as York, Rome Beauty, Winesap and Stayman can be kept in good condition until February or even later. Most other varieties also can be preserved several months.

However, it is necessary to maintain rather low temperatures in the storage houses. Apples will ripen as much in 24 hours at a temperature of 85 to 90 degrees as they will in two months at a temperature of 40 degrees, Magill said.

Most storage houses and cellars can be cooled out at night, by opening up the doors. They should be closed tight through the day. Some commercial apple growers find that it pays to use several tons of ice in their air-cooled storages, during the course of the early fall.

Just Let Me Tell You A Few Facts About Walking, So You'll Realize Just How Much It Can Do For You.

N. TULCH

Foot Comfort Specialist at Peoples' Foot Comfort
9th and Madison, Covington, Ky.

The normal heart, you know, beats about seventy-two times a minute and pumps about six ounces of blood with each beat. Now, in fast walking, or at the rate of four miles an hour—(which is how fast you should walk to do you some good)—you'll find the normal heart will INCREASE its beat ten times to the minute, pumping six ounces of blood at each beat, gives sixty ounces per minute or 3600 an hour, which is 225 pounds. You can easily see that 225 ADDITIONAL pounds of blood pumped DAILY through your veins means just that much more life to your whole body.

There's no use of my telling you to get out and walk if you are having trouble with your feet, because I know you won't do it, BUT —if I tell you how to get rid of those aching, paining feet, first— then there's nothing to keep you from walking every day and benefitting your health by this wonderful exercise.

It has also been found that millions suffer without knowing the reason why—those headaches, those leg pains, and even sleepless nights may be caused by the shoes you are wearing. —Adv.

RECORD ENROLLMENT IN AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE

The College of Agriculture of the University of Kentucky this year has the largest enrollment in its history, according to announcement by Dean Thomas P. Cooper. A total of 563 young men and women are studying agriculture and home economics. Of the total, 206 are in home economics and 357 in agriculture.

To take care of the unprecedented enrollment, it has been necessary to create new classes and sections in both fields. Usually best results are obtained with 30 persons in a class, but this year classes are crowded even though there are more of them than ever before.

Entering for the first time are 129 men and 58 women. The sophomore class is made up of 88 men and 37 in home economics. There are 72 junior men and 47 junior women. The senior class has 67 men and 63 women. There is one special student in each field.

In home economics the number of seniors is so large that it has been necessary to open a second home management house, where students get intensive training and practice in the details of running a home.

AMONG THE COUNTY AGENTS

The homemakers' curb market brought in $47 last month in one county when a wide variety of food products were sold.

CORK GAME

This makes a good game for a party. For each player supply a cork with a narrow grove cut around the middle of it. Tie a piece of string about a foot and a half long several times to the cork in the groove. Give each player so many grains of corn, say 10 or 20 apiece. In the center of te players place a saucepan and lid. One member of the party becomes "lid slammer," who sees that each player places his cork in the saucepan, holding meanwhile onto the end of his string. When the banker brings the lid down on the pan the players quickly yank their corks. Any player being trapped under the lid pays a forfeit of corn, but if all succeed in removing corks before lid is down the banker pays, double! Good fun.

This is one of the institutions in Newport which has aided to tremendous extent in the upbuilding of the social and home life of Northern Kentucky.

It is an institution in which the people have every confidence, not only because the laws of the state and nation make it a safe association to do business with, but also because its affairs have always been in the hands of men experienced in the commercial and financial world; men who know the people and men whom the people know.

Many people have idle money or money which they think should be earning a higher rate of interest. Perhaps they are uncertain as to what to do with it. If you are considering the worth of an investment, just ask yourself these questions: Is it safe? Is it available at any time? Will it get good, steady return? Is it speculative? Is it tax exempt?

The plans of the Savings & Loan Association offers you an investment that will meet every requirement of the most exacting investor.

We take pleasure in this edition of pointing to the Kentucky Enterprise Federal Savings & Loan Association of Newport as one which is strong, safe and reliable.

Red Cross Drive In Kentucky Will Open November 11

The 1938 Rollcall of the American Red Cross in Kentucky will begin Armistice Day, November 11, and will close November 24, according to present plans of state and national officers and local chapters of that organization, which has completed preparations for its annual drive for members.

The Rollcall last year broke all records for Kentucky since the World War ,when 85,807 Kentucky men and women expressed desire to have a part in the work of the Red Cross by membership, more than 14,000 more than the Rollcall of the previous year showed.

It is the hope of the leaders in Kentucky to have a membership of 100,000 when the Rollcall closes on November 24, although some chapters and some individual workers may not have completed their work by that date and will require perhaps another week to finish their work and report.

Justifying continued support through membership in Kentucky have been the progress made in safety, first aid, accident prevention and health activties, in addition to the continuance of relief for those in distress.

Last year the Red Cross, for the first time in Kentucky, established its roadside accident service, when 37 stations were located and their employees taught how to render immediate aid to those hurt in accidents on the highways.

Public health nurses of the Red Cross during the past twelve months made more than 7,700 visits to the sick and, in co-operation with physicians, examined 8,640 school and pre-school children, arranging medical treatment for those needing it.

The Red Cross in Kentucky aided ex-service men and their families in 3,110 cases besides giving needed help to 4,000 civilian families.

If your father should say to you, "Son, can you spare me 50 cents a day to live on?" would you give it to him? Of course!

Some day an old man is going to ask you for 50 cents a day—not your Dad, but YOU. Why not put aside some each day now so that the money will be there ready? HOW? Life Insurance!

Chevrolet Takes Big Strides Ahead for 1939

New Aero-stream styled bodies combine with major mechanical improvements to provide new beauty, safety, comfort and operating ease, in the 1939 Chevrolets, presented October 22, and featured at the big auto shows this month. The new models are offered on two chassis, the Master De Luxe and the Master 85, both of which are powered with Chevrolet's famous six-cylinder valve-in-head engine.

A new vacuum gear shift mechanism with steering column control, optional on all models at small extra cost, does 80 per cent of the work of shifting gears. The Master De Luxe series features a new riding system, in which a brand new Chevrolet Knee-Action mechanism is scientifically co-ordinated with new ride stabilizer and double-acting hydraulic shock absorbers to furnish a smooth, soft ride.

IT WON'T SLIP

When cutting quilt blocks, make a pattern out of a good ink blotter. When placed on the material, it will stick to the goods and not slide around as your paper pattern does . . . To prevent small rugs from slipping, sew discarded jar rings under each corner.

CAR CAUTION

Carry a bottle of clear vinegar in your automobile. In case windshield wiper on your car does not work, vinegar poured over the outside of the windshield from the top will keep shield clear in a heavy rainstorm.

Trying to fool the people is understood to be out of date but you would have a hard time trying to make a lot of politicians believe it.

It is Dangerous

It is dangerous to sell a SUBSTITUTE FOR 666 just to make three of four cents more. Customers are your best assets; lose them and you lose your business. 666 is worth three or four times as much as a SUBSTITUTE.

Gayety Theater News

Fri. & Sat.—"Give Me A Sailor."
Sun. and Mon.—"Love Finds Andy Hardy."
Tuesday—"Crime Ring"
Wednesday and Thursday, Nov. 9 and 10th—"I'll Give a Million."

Judge Hardy's family is turned loose for the fourth time in "Love Finds Andy Hardy," which will be shown at the Gayety Sunday and Monday.

The same group which won wide recognition for its work in "Judge Hardy's Children," is found in the new episode, with important additions to the cast in Judy Garland and Lana Turner, making this the most pretentious of the series.

With George Seitz again directing, an inside story of the drama which is to be found in every American family is unfolded in an amusing and realistic manner.

Attention has been given to the romantic problems facing young boys and girls in a small mid-western city. Their heart-breaks and happiness, amusements and adventures are authentically painted against a background of the home.

Lewis Stone again plays Judge Hardy, kindly, understanding and discerning head of a family of five. Mickey Rooney as his son, Andy, is a happy-go-lucky, irresponsible youth, growing up and finding that such things as girls exist in his world. Judy Garland has been added to the cast, bringing her remarkable singing voice and indisputable acting ability to the role of one of Mickey's three girl friends. She sings three songs in the picture.

The story is a simple, unaffected treatment of the difficulties encountered by Mickey Rooney when he purchases a second-hand automobile without telling his father of his plans. Consequent difficulties drive him to a despair from which he is rescued by the wiles of Judy Garland.

How unlicensed and unscrupulous "mystic fortune-tellers" can delude gullible clients and rob them of millions annually is vividly depicted in RKO Radio's "Crime Ring," in which Allan Lane and Frances Mercer are teamed, to be shown at the Gayety Tuesday.

Lane is cast as a live-wire newspaper reporter who persuades the police department to use himself and his girl friend, Miss Mercer, as a decoy in trapping a gigantic ring of swindlers operating behind a fortune-telling front.

Inez Courtney, Frank M. Thomas, Clara Blandick, Bradley Page and Charles Trowbridge also appear in the RKO Radio cast.

Candid camera addicts who'd like to try their skill, or art, with themselves as subjects, soon will be able to do so, as a result of a device perfected by Christian Rub, noted character actor now in Warner Baxter's "I'll Give A Million," the 20th Century-Fox hit which will be shown at the Gayety Wednesday and Thursday, Nov. 9th and 10th.

After years of experimentation, Rub has perfected a mechanism which, attached to the camera, places the camera operator directly in focus as he snaps the shot. The contrivance probably will be patened and placed on the market, Rub said.

The management wishes to state that a matinee will be given each Sunday afternoon at 2:30 (fast time).

Any man would be smart if he could only learn all that a sixteen-year-old son would like to teach him.

Believe it or not but about the hardest thing on a reputation is a gossipy neighbor.

STOP IT WITH Alka-Seltzer

Does Headache "slow you down?" You are a rare exception if it does not.

One or two tablets of ALKA-SELTZER in a glass of water makes a pleasant alkalizing solution that usually brings relief in just a few minutes.

ALKA-SELTZER is also recommended for Gas on Stomach, "Morning After", Acid Indigestion, Colds, and Muscular Pains.

You will like the tangy flavor and the results when you take Alka-Seltzer. Alka-Seltzer, when dissolved in water, contains an analgesic, (Sodium Acetyl-Salicylate). In addition, the alkalizing agents in Alka-Seltzer help to relieve those everyday disorders associated with hyperacidity.

WEED CROP WILL BE EASY TO STRIP

AND GRADE FEDERAL TOBACCO MAN SAYS IN SERIES OF MEETINGS HELD HERE LAST WEEK.

The 1938 tobacco crop will be an easy crop to strip and grade, according to H. A. Terry, federal tobacco grade, who assisted in the holding of four tobacco meeting in the county the past week. The reason is the crop runs better than average in color, weight and quality.

Greater care in stripping and grading according to use was urged at the meetings. The bases for stripping should be according to the three important uses. That is, granulators, (tobacco granulated for sack tobacco, includes flyings, etc., which can not be stemmed), cutters (for ready made cigarettes) and fillers. It will be found this year that the leaf and tips of many crops are of smoker quality and will cigarette cutters. Careful grading according to uses and color will add many dollars to the value of the crop.

The federal graders at the meetings discussed how the grading systems worked on the markets. Where a number of growers on the particular market get together and apply for federal grading on the particular market a referendum will be taken by the government. If two thirds or more of the growers selling tobacco the previous year on that market vote in favor of grading, the grading system is established. There is no cost to either the warehouse or to the grower for this service.

Growers present at the meetings stated they were strongly in favor of grading on the markets. They requested that plans be made for a referendum on market grading for the coming year.

Trappers Must Obtain Written Permission From Land Owners

With the trapping season opening on November 1, Major Brown, Director of the Division of Game and Fish, wishes to call to the attention of all trappers the following in regard to trapping regulations:

"No person shall within the bounds of this state set any trap on the land of another without having first procured the owner's or lessee's written permission to do so without at the time of setting said trap or attempting the same he has in his possession said written consent and exhibits it to any one lawfully demanding to examine the same. And provided further that any trap set on land of another shall be marked with a metal tag giving the owner's name and place of residence. (This will be rigidly enforced). And provided further that any traps set on the lands of another must be visited at least once every thirty-six hours and any animal or bird caught therein removed therefrom. And provided further that any trap set on the land of another shall be set or placed eighteen or more inches within the entrance of a den-hole, tree-den or hollow log so as to be inaccessable to domestic animals, dogs or fowls and any person violating this section of the law is liable to a fine of from $15 to $100.00."

Animals that may be taken by means of traps—said season starting November 1 and extend to December 31—are the Mink. Opossum Raccoon, Red Fox, Skunk and Muskrat.

All persons who do trapping this season must have their hunting license.

Rabbit Law Explained By Major James Brown

Major James Brown, Director of the Division of Game and Fish, calls to the attention of all rabbit hunters the new regulation on the bag limit.

Heretofore there was no limit on the number of rabbits a hunter could have in his possession at any one time, but with the passage of the new Game and Fish Laws by the last Legislature, a limit of 8 a day or 16 in possession at any time was included.

The merchant and wholesale dealer come under this restriction as well as the hunter and such persons are warned to keep within the law by not having in their place of business more than the specified bag limit. Such violation of the law carries, upon conviction, a fine of not less than $15 and not more than $100.

All Conservation Officers have been instructed to rigidly enforce this law.

Sportsmen Plan Meeting At Walton

Members of the Boone County Fish and Game Protective Association meeting in Burlington last Thursday night, voted to hold a meeting at the Walton school building on Thursday, November 17th.

Plans are being made for refreshments to be served by the Walton P.-T. A., which will be paid for by the members.

Approximately twenty members were present at the meeting. Plans were discussed for a membership drive.

Another meeting is planned for Petersburg on December 1. These meetings are being held for the benefit of the sportsmen in these sections who desire to become members of the organization, and to acquaint the sportsmen and landowners with the workings of the club.

Many of our sportsmen do not realize that if it were not for this organization that the state would refuse to furnish quail or fish to this county, therefore replenishing our supply each year. All sportsmen should be interested in the club for this reason, if no other.

When the clubs meets in your community, come out and join this splendid organization. The dues for one year are only 50 cents.

IN MEMORIAM

To commemorate yearly the eleventh of November is the patriotic duty of each American citizen. To refresh the mind of past wars and their toll, to pause in respect and honor for those sons of America who marched to battle that peace might be on earth among men and nations. Amid vast rearmament and protective war measures we again come to November 11th. Today, after just recently passing through an ordeal involving the peace of the world, we pay added reverence to the day which it merits, and we say a prayer for a continued peace for our country. In 1914 nations were hurriedly involved in conflict while today nations parley and consider the deed before jumping into another war. 1914 taught us much which we have not forgotten. We think more of the orrors of war than the glory of victory. The World War was a devastating event but with these added 25 years in the way of scientific discoveries, with our modern inventions of destruction, another world conflict would be more fearful and terrifying. Any history student can tell you that in battles of old fighting was rather a glamorous way of displaying individual bravery, this "going off to the wars" was a hero's road to fame and often fortune. Today we are not reluctant to acknowledge that we fear war, and if this be cowardice, so be it! Fear is what called this recent meeting of Germany, Italy, France and England. Why not fear it when there were 13 million killed in the World War? It is figured the war cost $18,000 for each man killed, which goes to show that the cost of converting a living, breathing son into a corpse runs high. As we complain of the cost of government relief and jobs, think again of the $18,000 spent for a man's destruction. Let us continue to fear war for in this case fear is not inglorious or cowardly, it is rather noble and sane.

COTTON CROPS

With the large surplus of cotton crops on hand Secretary Wallace suggests that instead of dumping this surplus on foreign markets to get any price for it, that cotton be made up into cloth and distributed among our own people at a price they can afford to pay. He reminds us of the large amount of cotton and farm products that were sent to foreign markets in the past, on a credit basis. We have never been able to collect. It is right to figure that if any gifts of cotton are to be made it should be to our own people. The problem of crop surplus would cease to be a problem if the American purchaser could buy what he needed. Secretary Wallace is favorable to the idea of extending crop insurance to the cotton farmers as well as serving the wheat areas. Of course any action of this sort would require an amendment to the present law. Considering that a total of 260,000 farmers have made application for wheat crop insurance for next year, the cotton farmer will no doubt welcome a like opportunity. Two hundred thousand of these applications came from the winter wheat belt while the other 60,000 came from spring wheat areas. Readers are interested in crop insurance and its outcome and we feel sure the majority agree with the Secretary of Agriculture regarding the foreign shipping angle.

IT IS EXCUSABLE

We are eager and willing to wave the flag and shout hip-hip-hurray for any American scene displaying our democracy and the red, white and blue. But there have been times in all our lives when the refrain of the Star Spangled Banner has caught us where we weren't in a position to be so patriotic. Our problem has been answered for us by the retired President General of the U. S. Flag Association who answered a woman writing in for information It is all right not to stand during a rendition of the national anthem if you are: in bed, eating, telephoning, playing cards or taking a bath. This knowledge will be a relief to us who never knew what would be the action of a true American under situations as stated.

—o—

ANOTHER REASON

Here is another good excuse for failing to halt at a stop sign. It happened in England and it can happen here! Perhaps we have a victim of word blindness within the confines of Boone County. This is a new type of illness which has come into the news through the failure of a boy in London to read a halt sign. The boys' father explained that although the boy was a clever mathmetician and could copy writing well, he was unable to read. The father said he was just the same, could read figures but not words. An authority of the Institute of Child Psychology explained that such children are "word blind." They can spell out the letters of a word but the letters convey nothing to them. Some of us go all the way through school before any one ever discovers it, and if they do, they don't call it blindness in our case—they say it is "dumbness."

ARMIES IN SCHOOL

Before the Spanish war the republic was engaged in educating a great population of illiterate peasants. Along came the war and books and farm tools were laid aside for guns. Nearly half of the people were unable to read and write. But the war on this illiteracy continued in the armies. An American correspondent went on a trip of investigation of these soldier schools and found the instruction of the alphabet and reading, the teaching of the history of Spain's struggle through the years. Classes for illiterate soldiers are compulsory. The officers and literate men can attend classes of higher education if they like, where are taught science, geography and other subjects of general culture. Maybe the education of the peasant will enable him to become a citizen of deduction—in that war is not man's salvation.

Lesson for November 13

THE SACREDNESS OF HUMAN LIFE

LESSON TEXT—Exodus 20:13; Matthew 5:21-26, 38-42.

GOLDEN TEXT—Thou shalt not kill.—Exodus 20:13. Whosoever hateth his brother is a murderer.—I John 3:15.

Lesson subjects and Scripture texts selected and copyrighted by International Council of Religious Education; used by permission.

The sanctity of human life finds its foundation in the fact that God created man in His own likeness and image. Because that is true no man has any right to take the life of another for any cause except at the direct command of God. Only by the orderly process of law for the protection of society and in accordance with the Word of God may there be any such action by man toward man. Both of these truths are declared in Scripture in God's covenant with Noah (Gen. 9:5, 6), which was made possibly a thousand years before the Ten Commandments were given to Moses.

Life is held rather cheaply in our day. Nations count their boys and girls as only so much "war material." Life is destroyed on the highway, in the shop, or in the home. Let us declare again the solemn command of God, "Thou shalt not kill."

I. The Prohibition of Murder (Exod. 20:13).

The word "kill" in this commandment is one which means a violent and unauthorized taking of life, and is therefore more properly translated "murder." Not all killing is murder. A man may kill another entirely accidentally, or he may be the duly constituted legal officer carrying out the law of the land in taking the life of one who has forfeited his right to live because he has slain another. There is also the right of self-defense, be it individual or collective. But these are the only exceptions; let us not attempt to justify any other.

Murder is too prevalent in our land. In 1936 there were 13,242 outright killings—a murder every 40 minutes. The head of the United States secret service estimates that there are 200,000 persons at large in our land who "have murder in their hearts and who will take human life before they die." Also in 1936 there were 37,800 deaths in automobile accidents. Some of these were by unavoidable accidents, but many were really murder because the one responsible drove with defective brakes, dangerous tires, or while he was intoxicated. Add to these the deaths in industry caused by failure to provide proper safeguards or healthy working conditions, and by the exploitation of child labor, and we say again, that we should cry aloud, "Thou shalt do no murder."

II. The Cause of Murder (Matt. 5:21, 22).

The Sermon on the Mount, from which the rest of our lesson is taken, while it "describes the character of the citizens of the earthly kingdom which the Messiah came to set up" and "assumes a class of people already saved, regenerated, and in fellowship with their King" (James M. Gray), does provide fundamental principles for the guidance of the Christian.

In this matter of murder, Jesus cuts right through the outward aspects of the matter and points out that an angry hatred in the heart is the root of all murder. If we hate, we have murder in our hearts. Circumstances may hinder its fulfillment, but the danger is always there until we remove the cause. Just being angry—calling our brother "Raca" (the modern equivalent of which is "nobody there"), and calling him "thou fool," which classifies him as "morally worthless"—these are the three dreadful downward steps to murder. And they begin in anger. May God help those of us who have strong feelings that we may not yield them to the devil in such anger against our brother!

III. The Prevention of Murder (Matt. 5:23-26, 38-42).

Prevention with God means more than putting up a barrier to keep us from killing. He deals with the heart, and thus puts the whole life right. It is not even a question of how we may feel against our brother. If he has aught against us we are to do all we can to win him. He may be unreasonable, grasping, and unfair. However, the spirit that will win him is not that of retaliation or sullen submission to the inevitable, but rather a free and willing going even beyond what is required.

The full interpretation of this passage is not possible in our limited space. It is clear from other scriptures that it does not mean that wicked and unscrupulous men are to be permitted to defraud and destroy God's people. At the same time, we must not explain away the heart of our Lord's interpretation of this great commandment. Let us seek His grace that we may, like Him, silence by our loving deeds and words even the bitter gainsayers of the gospel.

AID IN SIGHT

With figures showing that 3,500 lives were lost and $100,000,000 in property destroyed last year by fires in the farming sections of the country, the U. S. Chamber of Commerce has stepped forward with what appears to be the best plan yet devised for curbing such waste. The Chamber plans a national rural fire prevention movement, with a branch in every town of any size. In its effort there will be enlisted the aid of the Boy Scouts, the Parent-Teachers' Associations, farm organizations, the rural press, etc. A little study of it shows that it has the earmarks of a worth-while program, and it should receive the heartiest support of the entire public. With fire-fighting equipment unavailable in rural areas, the only other recourse is to preach and practice fire prevention. Fire losses, as last year's figures reveal, are so great as to demand every possible effort to curb them.

IDEAL DRUG STORE - - Leader In This Line

The farmer and his lady believe in the concentration of shopping energy. That is to say, they prefer the store which carries the greatest stock that they may have needless steps in filling their varied wants.

Of course the first requisite of any successful business must be courtesy and of course, quality at the right price in the matter of merchandise offered. This has been this establishment's policy in conducting their business. They have directed their efforts to the end that this store must be headquarters for anything in the apothecary line.

With the shifting of sales methods in this brisk era too often the customer is subjected to brusque hurried service. At the Ideal Drug Store in Lawrenceburg, Ind., one gets service without sacrifice of courtesy.

The great stock of drugs and sundries is so complete that only rarely is it impossible to gratify a patron's every wish. They carry the largest stoc kof cosmetics in this section.

Foot Health

By N. Tulch at Peoples' Foot Comfort Shoe Store, Covington

There is a natural law constantly at work in the tissues of the human body. We must understand that bone, muscle and nerve consist of millions of ever changing tiny bodies called cells. These cells are held together with the tissue fluids and substances of the body.

Therefore bone, muscle and ligament respectively share the influence of this law, that constant tension causes wasting especially in the feet when the body weight which they carry about and support is not evenly distributed and balanced throughout the twelve major bones of the foot framework.

If ligaments are stretched, due to long and careless standing especially those which bind the weight-supporting and key bones together, these ligaments finally yield in about the fifth or sixth year to strain and abuse, and pull away from the bone attachments.

The rest which the night affords is not enough to counteract continuous strain during the day.

This same law holds true of the muscles and tendon attachments of the feet which lift the body weight on the metatarsal heads or pivots. On the other hand, constant pressure causes wasting of tissue.

If the muscles do not hold the weight-bearing joints of feet in proper dovetailing and interlocking action, these joints become deranged, misshaped and deformed because of the presseur of the body weight upon their point surfaces.

When we consider that we drive hundreds of tons of aggregate weight into the twelve major bones of each foot every day that we live it is easily understood why feet degenerate.

Can you be well with unhappy feet? Those headaches, those backaches, those leg pains may be caused by the shoes you are wearing.—Adv.

Western Stock Ewes Satisfactory Breeders

For the past two years, sheep growers in some of the eastern farm states have been going to the western range flocks for their breeding ewes.

Reports received by the U. S. Department of Agriculture indicate that this year, sheep growers in Kentucky bought around 200 thousand ewes from the western states. And, by the end of this year, it is estimated that nearly half—or about 600 thousand out of a million, three hundred thousand—of the breeding ewes in Kentucky will be of western origin.

This past year, Tennessee also introduced possibly 12 or 13 thousand of the western ewes.

At one time, if a sheep grower in Kentucky or Tennessee brought in western ewes, his neighbors thought he simply "didn't know any better." But the Kentucky and Tennessee growers are now reporting several advantages in the western stock.

For one thing, the western ewes have been raised out on the big open ranges where they have had less chance to pick up parasites than sheep raised on the small eastern pastures. And, so, the eastern grower usually has smaller parasite losses with the western ewe than with the eastern—and has to do less drenching.

A second advantage is that the western ewes with fine-wool blood in them tend to breed earlier—and so give the producer a chance to take advantage of the prices on the earlier lamb markets.

The western ewes also produce more wool.

And they seem to have a little better herding instinct that is an advantage even in the East.

The success with the western ewes seems to be starting the sheep population in Kentucky and Tennessee on the upward trend. For example, Tenessee had an unusually large number of rams offered for this year's ram sales.—In fact, so many that a good many folks thought they wouldn't be able to sell them. But this year's ram sales were the most successful Tennessee has ever had; 73 out of the 300 rams sold went to growers who had bought western ewes.

For Easier Seeing

Young Eyes and Old Need the Even Glareless Light of an

I·E·S Better Sight LAMP

I. E. S. lamps give an abundance of soft, pleasing light that acts as a balm to tired eyes. Glare is eliminated by a white glass diffusing bowl which provides both downward and upward light. The downward light is intensified and spread in a broad circle by a wide shade with white lining. The upward light goes to the ceiling and is reflected throughout the room, dispelling harsh shadows. The result is eye comfort such as you have never known. Try an I. E. S. lamp in your home and see for yourself how it aids your eyes.

YOUTH KILLED NEAR WALTON

SUNDAY WHEN JACK SLIPS—WAS PINNED BETWEEN CAR AND TREE, AFTER CAR PLUNGES OVER BANK.

Orie Lee Price, 24, near Walton, was killed Sunday morning when an automobile on which he had been helping to fix a flat tire slipped from the jack, rolled down a hill and struck a tree, pinning him against the tree.

His brother, Paul Price, 14, who had fallen to the floor of the car when it slipped of fthe jack, esccaped injury.

Price and his brother had parked the car on a steep hill on Percival Pike near Walton-Nicholson Pike to hunt opossum. When they returned they found a tire was flat. After repairing the tire, the boy entered the car as his brother prepared to remove the jack. Then the automobile slipped from the jack and rolled down the hill. The younger Price was thrown to the floor of the car and was unable to reach the brake.

Orie Price jumped upon the running board in an effort to reach the brake. The car plunged over an embankment, rolling more than 200 feet, the car came to rest against a tree with Orie Price pinned between the automobile and the tree.

Failing in an attempt to free his brother, Paul Price summoned aid at a farmhouse. He and residents of the neighborhood removed the car, freeing Price. It was found that he had died instantly of a skull fracture.

Besides his brother, his widow, Mrs. Etta B. Price, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Price and three-year-old son survive him.

The body was removed to Chambers & Grubbs funeral home, Walton, for preparation.

Funeral services were conducted from Chambers & Grubbs Funeral Home Monday afternoon with Rev. Demoisey, officiating. Interment followed in the Richwood cemetery.

TAX COLLECTION DATES ARE SET

BY SHERIFF F. M. WALTON IN ALL PRECINCTS OF COUNTY—UNPAID TAXES BECOME DELINQUENT AFTER FEB. 28TH.

Sheriff F. M. Walton, tax collector of Boone County has announced that he or one of his deputies will be in every precinct in the county for the collection of the 1938 State, County and Common school taxes on the dates as outlined in the advertisement on another page of this issue.

Also included in the announcement was that the sheriff would collect the 1938 Graded Common School taxes in the Verona and Walton districts. The dates for these collections are included in the advertisement.

All unpaid taxes become delinquent after February 28, 1939, and a six percent penalty will be due the State and County after March 1st, 1939 on all unpaid taxes. Six percent commission is allowed the Sheriff for collecting delinquent taxes, cost of levy 60c, advertising $1.00 and recording 60c.

It is therefore to the advantage of everyone to pay their taxes before they become delinquent and save this additional expense. The purpose of the sheriff coming to the various communities to collect taxes is to save you making a trip to the county seat for this purpose. It will to your advantage to pay your taxes on the day the collector is in your community.

Location For New School Is Announced

The location of the new school building to be erected in Burlington in the near future was announced this week by Supt. D. H. Norris.

The new building will be erected on the level plot of land just back of the present baseball diamond. This land was purchased from Robert Barnes this week. The new addition will be 100 feet wide and the width of the present school grounds.

This new location was selected in order to keep the children and the school buses off the main highway as much as possible, as all connection to the main highway will be cut off when the new building is completed. The new building will be erected to face the property of J. M. Lassing.

What is to be done with the present building has not been decided, but it will either salvaged or sold privately.

Street Light Fund For Burlington Is Exhausted

The street light fund for Burlington is exhausted and it is necessary to replenish this fund if we are to have lights this winter. The soliciting of these funds is not the job of one man any more than another as everyone benefits from the street lights. If you want the streets of Burlington lighted, then volunteer to assist in making up the fund.

There is some talk of incorporating the town and levying a tax to take care of these street lights, then every property owner would bear equal share of the cost of these lights. However, the tax levy would be more than is now required to collect voluntarily, fór the reason that a tax collector would be allowed a fee for collecting the tax as well as considerable expense for administering the town government.

The street lights are the only expense the citizens of Burlington are asked to bear in the town, which is very little compared to the tax paid by people living in other incorporated villages of the county. The cost of street lights is less than a 2c postage stamp a dag to a property owner. A tax levy for this purpose would be considerably more. Let's maintain our lights the most economical way by volunteering our contribution and services in helping to raise the necessary fund.

FINAL GAME IS CALLED 4 TO 4

DUE TO DARKNESS AT BELLEVIEW PARK LAST SUNDAY—WINNER TO BE DETERMINED AT CRESCENT SPRINGS PARK

It seems as though there must be two baseball teams in Boone County this year that are nearly equally matched and that the best way to determine the winner of the Northern Kentucky Amateur League is for the teams to flip coins.

The final game of a three-game series was scheduled for Belleview last Sunday, and when it began to get so dark the players were unable to see the ball, the score remained 4 to 4. Bob & Gene succeeded in obtaining 4 hits off "Hoots" Ryle, while the Belleview nine marked up a total of 8 hits off Goodhue.

The boys are battling for the beautiful Jim Weaver trophy that is to be awarded the winner of the Northern Kentucky League. The trophy is to be awarded by Judge Goodenough, of Covington, date to be announced after Sunday's game.

ELECTIONS BEING HELD THIS WEEK

COUNTY DELEGATES TO MEET HERE NOV. 18 TO SELECT COUNTY COMMITTEE—NUMBER COMMUNITIES REDUCED.

The number of AAA communities in Boone County has been reduced from six to four to come under the new AAA ruling, according to H. R. Forkner, county agent. The new ruling required that communities be set up to include an average of at least 300 farms and not more than 500 farms per community. The 1400 farms cooperating in the AAA programs give Boone county an allotment of four communities.

The new community boundaries include the following:

Community No. 1—Petersburg, Bullittsville, Hebron and Constance

Community No. 2—Grant, Burlington and Florence.

Community No. 3—Hamilton, Carlton and that part of Beaver west of U. S. 42.

Community No. 4—Union, Walton, Verona and that part of Beaver east of U. S. 42.

Community and county elections are being held this week. Each of the above communities will elect three committeemen, composed of a chairman, vice chairmar and third committeeman. Two additional alternates will be elected to assist the community committees. The communities also elect a delegate and an alternate delegate to the county convention. The county committee will be elected by the four delegates to the county convention.

BOONE COUNTY'S GOAL SET AT 350

IN RED CROSS MEMBERSHIP DRIVE—$14,313.00 SPENT IN BOONE COUNTY DURING RECENT FLOOD DISASTER.

From Mills Point, on the Mississippi, across the 650 to 700 miles that are Kentucky to the Big Sandy River, and from the Tennessee State line to the Ohio River, workers for the American Red Cross started Friday the rollcall for 1938. With the ground work of the campaign already laid by state and national leaders in preliminary meetings in various parts of the state, backed by proclamations of the mayors of the state's cities and towns, volunteer workers were optimistic as they began on Armistice Day the actual work of soliciting members for the organization.

This year Boone County has only been asked for 350 members, which is a very small allotment compared with the large amount that was spent here in our county by the National Red Cross in the 1937 flood disaster. The figures for 1937 as submitted by national headquarters for Boone County are as follows:

Contributions

Contributed by Boone County Citizens	$ 1,830.25
Contributed by the Nat'l. Red cross	12,482.75
Total	$14,313.00

Expenditures

Food, clothing and shelter	$ 1,089.00
Medicine and Nursing	210.00
Building and repairs	9,059.00
Household Goods furnished	2,699.00
Agriculture rehabilitation	1,256.00
Total	$14,313.00

The plan this year is to organize each community and town and have a chairman and co-workers for each community. This has already been done in most communities but the names of the workers has not been submitted to the county chairman, as yet. An effort effort is being made to ask everyone in Boone County to join the Red Cross this year. In previous years it has been the experience of the Red Cross Rollcall leaders in a number of counties to have persons explain their reason for failure to join by the statement that "nobody asked me to join." All who are not called upon by workers for the Red Cross in this rollcall are requested to send their contributions to the County Chairman, C. L. Cropper, Burlington, or send it in care of this newspaper, and you will receive proper credit.

The American Red Cross is supported through its annual rollcall which was started on Armistice Day and continues until Thanksgiving Day, November 24th. Your support during this period will insure a continuation of this worthy organization here and in other parts of the country. The Red Cross asks so little, yet does so much that we cannot afford to deny such an appeal.

Hunting Season Opens Next Thursday, Nov. 24th

The hunting law for quail and rabbit will officially open in Kentucky next Thursday, Thanksgiving Day, and many fellows will be so anxious to make a big kill that they will forget to remember a few things that should always be in the mind of the hunter.

Most public owned lands and water are posted with signs which tell the hunter he may or may not hunt. There are two large tracts of land in Boone County that have been set aside as game reservations in which hunting, trapping or pursuing wildlife is prohibited. Both of these reservations are posted with signs which state that hunting is prohibited. The purpose of the refuge system in Kentucky is to spread to outside territories the surplus game raised in refuges under ideal conditions, and to improve both hunting and trapping in the outlying territory.

Then there are "No Hunting" signs on farm fences, placed there by the landowner. When one sees such signs it usually means that some careless hunter has shot the farmer's cow or horse, or left gates open or perhaps broken down the fence by climbing over it. Or it might mean that some hunters have "sneaked" in and killed off all the game, even the seed stock, and the farmer or his boy have no game on their own land to shoot or enjoy.

As the hunting season draws near, we ask that sportsmen watch for signs on the farmer's land when hunting. Read them carefully and follow the instructions printed on them. When "no hunting" signs on private land are encountered, respect them. In most cases going to the farmer and asking his permission is all that is necessary and the request will be granted if asked for with respect. It is the gentleman hunter that obtains permission to hunt on any privately owned land. It is also the gentlemen hunters who respect the privileges extended to him on public shooting grounds by obeying the laws and being careful not to destroy the property by fire or otherwise.

It will also be well to remember that the field will be crowded on this day, and always look before you shoot. You would certainly lose all desire to hunt, if you should accidentally kill or cripple a fellow sportsman.

THE BANK AND THE COMMUNITY

The oratorical contest to be sponsored among the State's high school seniors by the Kentucky Bankers Association on the subject "The Value of the Bank to the Community" deserves the interest not only of students, but of the public generally.

A community without a bank is like an automobile without an engine. It usually stands still, and the only direction it can progress at all is down hill.

It is significant that banking, as it exists today, is the result of natural evolution, not of invention. We never hear of the father of banking, because no one can lay claim to that honor. As needs presented themselves with the progress of civilization, methods of meeting them had to be devised. The modern bank has developed so naturally to take care of such obvious necessities that few stop to consider how indispensable it really is. Like the sun, it is taken for granted, and like the sun, too, it would be hard to get along without.

Its functions are so numerous it is not surprising a bank should mean different things to different people. For one man it is a place to keep money. For another, it is a place to borrow money. For another, it is a place to cash checks. For still another, it is a place to get advice. In reality it is all these things, and a whole lot more.

The services a good bank renders to its customers are well known. It services to the community and the Nation are less appreciated but they are of even greater value. This country was built largely on self liquidating credit, and its future prosperity depends on the ability and willingness of enterprising individuals to obtain credit.

The banker himself does not have an easy life. He must be a business man, a psychologist, a father and a policeman rolled into one. He must know both his own business and the business of his borrowers. He must be an optimist and a pessimist.

For reasons hard to diagnose the banker in recent years has found himself the target of considerable criticism, a great deal of it incoherent without reasonable basis. He may hear himself accused in the same breath of lending too much and of lending too little; of being too conservative and of being too speculative; of being a miser and of being too reckless with other people's money. He must see the sins of a few visited on the many and thank his lucky stars he has a sense of humor.

(This editorial apeared in the Paducah "Sun Democrat" on Sept. 26. It was written by Henry Puryear, a grandson of one of the founders of the Citizens Savings Bank, of that city.)

HURRICANE SELLS APPLES

One would not ordinarily look for a hurricane to promote the sale of apples. But the recent wind and flood devastation in New England produced that very result.

Except for the comparatively small part of the crop harvested before the storm, the New England apple crop was on the ground after the hurricane passed—four to five million boxes. Many of these apples were damaged when blown from trees, hence normal storage and marketing was impossible—they had to be consumed within a short time, or be a total loss.

As soon as the situation became known, without red tape or delay, the First National Stores of Boston, with retail outlets throughout New England, began publicizing the situation and selling these apples at once. It said to the public:

This emergency calls for your help. Use apples liberally. Eat two apples a day. Baked in pies, in sauces and in countless other ways, use apples; turn this emergency to your health and advantage. Your neighbor apple grower isn't asking for pity. He's got apples to sell. Buy them!

Here is a striking illustration of the manner in which modern merchandising and sales methods provide the way to turn the tables on what would otherwise have been disaster for this farm crop. Following the lead of the chain stores, other distributors joined in the program.

It is probably impossible to estimate the tremendous value of such service to the apple growers of New England, but it is typical of service rendered by private enterprise at its best.

UTILIZING COTTON

The cotton surplus has given rise to various suggestions and solutions for the use of cotton in new ways. The Mellon Institute for Industrial Research is one of agencies studying the case and they have been trying various methods of utilizing the cotton plant. Cellulose is one of the new uses and cellulose is used to make paper, rayon, explosives and so on. This would require the stock, cotton and all parts of the plant. They are trying shoe polish and furniture polish made of the wax that is washed out of the cotton cloth in the bleaching process. The proteins in cottonseed oil seems to have possibilities for the making of plastics, this would mean the use of cotton in the manufacture of fountain pens, panels, vases and picture frames. The report also suggested fancy fancy shingles, floor tiling, insulating material and wall board. Invention found the cotton gin, invention will find new uses for the cotton.

TWO-HANDED DRIVING

Why is it that most automobile drivers feel that steering is so simple that two hands aren't necessary to do the work? We are all apt to take our hands off the wheel to point to some spot, we lean back and slam car doors while a car is traveling, and there are many drivers who eat with one hand while they steer with the other. This custom would be perfectly harmless if emergencies did not arise where two hands were necessary to insure safety. Steering is made so easy on modern cars that it is possible to steer with one finger, but this is not enough when you come to a hole or bump in the pavement or sudden obstacles that need quick action for brakes. A sudden turn needs a two-handed driver. You may be successful for years and not be faced with an acute situation where one-handed driving lands you in a hospital, but there are few drivers who haven't found circumstances arising where two hands clamped to the wheel kept them out of the hospital.

GIVE IT AWAY

This is an opportune time to clean out the cloak closet of old overcoats and give them to needy people, instead of letting hang another season. Give away your useless wearing apparel and household articles that would help to make someone else a bit easier. There is usually outgrown underwear stored away in most every home. There are few folks who haven't something that is of no use to them but that would be greatly appreciated by some person in want. A change of season finds most people changing their wardrobes to an extent. There are always people in one's own family who are on the list for "hand-me-downs," but even in this case there are, no doubt, clothes of no use to anyone in the circle but which might find a welcome place in another closet. In this Thanksgiving season let us do a bit of giving of used things. Someone will be thankful for your thoughtfulness and generosity.

A REMINDER OF SERVICE

We are far advanced from the days of nursery, stock, liniment and lightning-rod salesmen, when the average man's possessions consisted of salt pork, a feather bed, six pounds of horseshoe plug and one change of underwear. We have come a long way and for many reasons, one of the main ones for progress and enlightment can be credited to the newspapers of the country. Journalism has marched with time and has its place on the front line of the advance. The fact that the oldest newspaper in the world is the Peking Gazette, first issued in 1340 A. D. and still published, shows that this newspaper business is no new thing. The first American paper was the Boston News-Letter published in 1704 and since that time journalism has advanced with the country, developed with education and through modern mechanical appliances. Telegraph today brings news much quicker than when it was carried by stage coach and sailing vessel. More capital and continued growth in circulation, with increased advertising upon which the paper depends for its greatest source of income, all tend to give the reader his newspaper of today. The printed word thru these many years remains most powerful as it shapes the thoughts and actions of millions of people. Journalism has as important a responsibility as any profession and by it conduct you may recognize it a a blessing or a curse. Justice and mercy, be thorough but with a thought for others, to be sincere and truthful are requisities of your paper. The press serves politically as well as socially and must guard against radicalism and extravagance in expression. May it not fail in its purpose to you in Boone County, nor abuse its privilege of freedom of the press, but serve well and keep journalism on the high plane it has achieved after these many years.

PEACE AND QUIET

It is not a coincidence that the substantial improvement occurring in business since last spring took place during a relatively quiet period, so far as domestic affairs were concerned.

Congress was not in session. Comparatively few crack-pot legislative schemes were being aired. Rumors of new and still more extreme experiments were rare. Generaly speaking the attitude of the government was one of cooperation with business.

There is a hint in this for our lawmakers, now that a new legislative season is just in the offing. American business and industry are ready and eager to go places. They are prepared to spend tremendous sums for expansion and betterment, to reemploy hundreds of thousands of workers, and to provide a profitable and productive place of investment for savings. But this can only be done under sane, stable and reasonable government. Uncertainty is one of the worst enemies of economic progress. It breeds lack of confidence—and lack of confidence means retrogression.

The coming congress will do well if it attends to essential matters, makes shortshrift of what new "wild-eyed" proposals are presented to it, winds up its affairs as soon as possible, and calls it a day. We have had enough of chaos—as nine long years of depression amply testifies. Today we need more of that atmosphere of peace and quiet that will enable us to go forward in a normal manner.

Lesson for November 20

THE SACREDNESS OF THE HOME

LESSON TEXT—Exodus 20:14; Matthew 5:27, 28; Mark 10:2-16.
GOLDEN TEXT—Keep thyself pure.—I Timothy 5:22.

Lesson subjects and Scripture texts selected and copyrighted by International Council of Religious Education; used by permission.

The importance of the home as the divinely appointed center of all human life has always made it a special target of Satan. That onslaught of the power of hell is apparently redoubled in our day. Books, plays, movies, magazines, all contribute their filthy efforts to break down all sense of moral responsibility. Sex is magnified, and not in any useful or normal sense, but rather for the stimulating of unholy desires and purposes, the breaking down of Christian standards of living and the ultimate prostitution of the most sacred of all human relationships to a level of which animals might well be ashamed.

The lesson of today should be taught with care and tact, but also with a holy boldness and a plainness that will make it effective for God and for our homes. We begin with a word which is little spoken, while far too often the sin for which it stands is practiced and tolerated.

1. Adultery — a Grievous Sin (Exod. 20:14; Matt. 5:27, 28).

First, let us note that any violation of the divine plan for the marriage of one man and one woman, in loving communion for the founding and maintenance of the home, is a direct violation of the law of God. It is also a violation of the law of man. It brings serious results in the destruction of the home, and in the ruin of individual life—physical, moral, and spiritual.

The words of Jesus broaden the interpretation of the commandment to cover all sexual impurity in thought, word, or deed. While we recognize that the outward act of immorality carries with it consequences both in the life of the individual and those with and against whom he sins, which do not follow upon the thought of evil without the act, yet it is true that essentially he is guilty who had it in his heart to do the wicked thing even though a sense of prudence or circumstances hindered its execution. We need clean hearts and minds if there are to be clean lives.

II. Marriage—a Divine Institution (Mark 10:6-8).

As the proper background for a discussion of divorcc our Lord makes clear that marriage was ordained by God, and that it involves a holy union of two individuals which makes them one. All those who look forward to marriage should realize that it is not a casual thing, or a merely temporary legal contract. It is a union for life—be it for better or worse, in sickness or health, in prosperity or adversity. All who are married should therefore highly regard their sacred vows.

III. Divorce Limited and Remarriage Forbidden (Mark 10:2-4, 10-12).

This passage, and other scriptures, teach that divorce is not permitted except on the ground of adultery (Matt. 5:32), and that any remarriage involves the parties in the guilt of adultery. Aware as we are of the laxness of some branches of the church in such matters, and the almost entire lack of standards in the world, we cannot but present the plain teachings of our Lord and urge every reader to follow the commandment of God's Word.

There can be no question that divorce is a major evil in our day. The writer has been astonished to find one family after another in his own respectable neighborhood where the children bear one name and their mothers another, or there are two "sets" of children in one family with different surnames because of divorce and remarriage. In some cases he knows of the fathers of children coming to see their offspring at the home of the second husband. What utter confusion such situations must create in the minds and hearts of the boys and girls!

IV. Children—the Gift of God to the Home (Mark 10:13-16).

How relieved we are to leave the consideration of such sordid, even though vitally important, matters as moral impurity and divorce, and turn to the beautiful picture of Christ blessing the little children. It would appear that Jesus desired to turn the thought of His hearers from the negative "thou shalt not" to the positive solution of the home problem.

Children make the home. They are God's benediction upon the marriage of man and woman. Sad and disillusioned will be the men and women who make themselves childless, hoping thus for more comfort and pleasure. The road to happiness does not go that way. The soft and tender baby hand has led many a couple to full happiness, and the joy of watching our children grow into manhood and womanhood cannot be evaluated in the mint of gold or earthly pleasures.

Gayety Theater News

Fri. and Sat.—"Sky Giant"
Sun. and Mon.—Professor Beware
Tuesday—"I'm from the City."
Wed. and Thursday, Nov. 23-24—
"Spawn of the North."

A new romantic threesome has been created for RKO Radio's "Sky Giant," with the uniting of Richard Dix, Joan Fontaine and Chester Morris in the starring spots.

For one of the few times in his screen career, Dix loses the girl of his heart to another man and this despite the fact that she marries Dix in a moment of pique at the man she loves. Morris has had many films in which he lost his girl, but this time he wins out over his rival.

"Sky Giant" is a combination of romance and thrills among the men who fly the transcontinental planes and among the students being trained in ground school for this occupation.

Harry Carey and Paul Guilfoyle play the leading supporting roles in the Robert Sisk production which was directed by Lew Landers.

• • •

Lionel Stander, who poses as Hollywood's lowest low-brow, and who claims that fans only ask for an autograph to see if he can write is cast in an important part in the new Harold Lloyd film, "Professor Beware," which will be shown at the Gayety Sunday and Monday, with a matinee Sunday afternoon at 2:30 (fast time).

Stander, known to screen audiences for his frog voice, was most recently seen in "Start Cheering." In the new Lloyd comedy he plays the part of a happy-go-lucky tramp, with Raymond Walburn, as his traveling mate. The pair, along with Lloyd, travel from California to New York via the freight train route. Also seen in the new film is Phyllis Welch, young graduate of the legitimate stage and radio.

Philip Taliaferro, Erlanger funeral director was in charge of arrangements.

Hebron P.-T. A. Plan Meeting Nov. 22nd

The Hebron P.-T. A. has been carrying on a very successful membership drive. Mrs. Robert Reimer, president, reports that a splendid meeting is planned for the evening of November 22.

Some very fine meetings have been held to better acquaint the patrons with what a modern school does in the classroom. One of the most popular programs in the past was an exhibition by teachers and pupils of class exercises. For example, Mrs. Naney, first grade teacher, demonstrated the method of teaching children new words and how to read silently to follow directions.

The people of the Hebron subdistrict are very cooperative and have organized a P.-T. A. of almost a hundred members, who spend as much as $300 annually on school improvements. The library, which is a result largely of their efforts, has about 1000 volumes of good literature. Largely for this work, the state authorities have made the school an A class state institution.

WEAK FEET AFFECT BODY

by N. TULCH
Foot Comfort Specialist
AT PEOPLES' FOOT COMFORT (SHOE STORE) COVINGTON

When feet are permitted to pronate inwardly, the bony structure of the foot goes down, shutting off the nerve and blood supply in the bottom of the foot. When you cramp or choke the blood stream and slow up circulation, there is a lack of bone repair; chemical deposits, or waste matter form at the joints. Next inflammation sets in at these joints causing pain. That inflammation is often mistaken for rheumatism, arthritis and many other ailments. Also when you cramp the blood supply you shut off the food supply to the nerves.

When nerves are impoverished, muscle tons is impaired because sensory nerves indirectly control motor nerves which in turn control the muscles. When muscles in the feet have lost their tonicity due to impoverishment of the nerves, feet are no longer subconsciously held in normal position.

Surgical shoes give support to the vital arches in the feet releasing cramped nerves and blood vessels to promote better circulation. Gradually as circulation improves, muscles grow strong and regain their tonicity.

With foot health improved the person feels better all over. Research has shown that no less than eighty-seven diseases are indirectly caused by bad feet.

Don't take chances with your health, happiness and peace of mind. With foot comfort you'll live longer and feel better.—Adv.

BOB & GENE LEAGUE CHAMPS

ELEVEN INNING GAME DECIDES CHAMPIONSHIP OF NORTHERN KENTUCKY BASEBALL LEAGUE.

Not in the memory of the writer has there been a game so full of thrills as was played on the Crescent Springs grounds last Sunday. Both teams entered the game full of fight and confidence and from the first pitch until Mahan hit for the circuit in the 11th did anyone falter or lay down.

"Hoots" Ryle and "Bill" Goodhue were out there every inning pitching their hearts out, waiting for their teammates to give them something, but runs and hits were few and far between. "Hoots" not allowing anything that looked to be a hit for eight and two-thirds innings. Goodhue was being hit at intervals, more freely than Ryle, but when he had to bear down he had the old nerve.

Along with Goodhue's effective pitching, the hitting of Mahan was the feature of the Bob & Gene attack, getting a double and the game-winning homer in the eleventh. R. Bradburn and Bucky Rogers collected the only other hits, each one getting a single.

The feature of the Belleview attack and defense was the four-hit pitching and a Lombardi homer by "Hoots" Ryle and double and triple by Sebree, the "Medwick" of the league.

The fans who witnessed this game all went home rejoicing, the losers as well as the winners—singing praises of the boys who took part in this grand old game, "baseball."

The management of these two teams appreciate the fine sportsmanship shown by the players and want to thank both players and fans for their loyal support.

Building Stolen Near Belleview

Willard Kelly was arrested last Saturday by Sheriff F. M. Walton and Sheriff Joe M. Richardson near Laugherty Creek in Indiana, charged with stealing a building from the property of John W. Rogers near Belleview.

Kelly wrecked the building, which was said to be approximately 8x10 feet, and removed it from the Rogers property, hauling the lumber across the river in a row boat. He had used the lumber to build a house boat, which he intended to use on the Ohio River.

He was returned to Boone County and placed in jail, to await trial.

LOCAL FIVE TRIM COLD SPRINGS HI

FLORENCE AND WALTON TIED FOR FIRST PLACE—FLORENCE DEFEATS HAMILTON — WALTON VICTORS.

The Burlington basketball team were running in high last Friday night when a trounced the Cold Spring High boys at the Burlington gym, 45 to 31.

Charles Benson was particularly warm, banging the bucket for a total of 17 points. Albertson, captain of the losers, collected 12. The first half was close, intermission turning up with Burlington hold a 17 to 12 margin.

Burlington will invade the Hamilton stronghold Wednesday night.

Florence met the Hamilton five Friday night, defeating the Hamiltonians by a score of 26 to 24 in the first overtime game of the season.

The Florence-Hamilton game, featured by the uncanny bucket banging of both teams, ended in a 24-all tie. In the overtime Brooks who was high point man with 14, found the range from out beyond the foul line and the Knights jumped to victory. Miller displayed some flashy work for the losers and dipped in seven points.

Walton won their game over New Haven by a 26 to 22 count, in the New Haven gym. New Haven lost their game after leading most of the way. Late in the third quarter the Walton boys applied the whip and shot to the front.

Florence will visit new Haven Friday night.

SMOKE COMING FROM CISTERN VERY UNUSUAL

Something very unusual was witnessed Monday morning by citizens of Burlington, when smoke started billowing from the cistern under the jail porch. Shortafter the smoke was discovered in the cistern, it was noticed that smoke was pouring from sewers, and several holes in the lawn of the jail.

Upon investigation it was revealed that someone had started a fire at the end of a sewer near the county garage, and the wind was forcing the smoke through the sewers and backing smoke up through drain pipes into the, cistern and through holes tunneled under the ground by rats.

FOR WHICH WE GIVE THANKS

Pausing for a brief moment to look back over the year, back to the season when we last gathered a harvest, we find a multitude of reasons why the people of Boone County and surrounding territory should be thankful.

It did not just happen that we have had a bountiful season of crops, that our men have found labor in field and store and factory, that our children have continued their educational progress, that no irreparable disaster has wrecked our homes or saddened our hearts. It was not an accident that we prospered and that we have come to another Thanksgiving Day with bounteous blessings and with a full appreciation of them. We have labored that all these things might be so. We have lived in peace with our neighbors and the entire world and we have been faithful in every task to which we set our hearts and our hands. No strife has sprung up in our community, and neighborly differences have been adjusted with no great blot on the pages of our history. The same Fate which favors those who strive for the best has been our faithful companion, and brings us to the close of the harvest a happy and contented people.

Sickness has come into our community, and death has left its shadow in some of our homes. But over these things we have not a quarrel. It is the world-plan that we must lose those dear to us, just as those who hold us dear must later on lose us. We have not paused to question the wisdom of this plan—we know that all things work together for good among those who are faithful in following the Golden Rule of old.

The religious life, the business life, the educational life and social life of this county has been such throughout the year that every man, woman and child must be truly thankful for the privilege of living here. There may be other counties and communities which hold greater wealth but there are none in which true happiness is greater. Our people have lived in the spirit of human brotherhood and close to each other in handclasp and smile. We are richer as a result of this, far richer than those who lose sight of friendship in a desire for material wealth.

For all of the blessings that have come to us as a people, we are devoutly thankful. For the warm sunshine and the gentle rains that have grown and matured our crops, we are thankful. For the averting of foreign entanglements and political crisis we are grateful. For good health and the power to labor happily at the tasks before us, we are pleased. With hearts filled with happiness we join in a song of gladness and of hope. We join as a community in pledging anew a continuation of the same high principles of citizenship which, in a large measure brought the reward we are now enjoying, and of which we are duly mindful as we reach this, the nation's season of Thanksgiving

RAIN BENEFITS WEED GROWERS

THOUSANDS OF POUNDS BULKED DURING LATTER PART OF WEEK — MOISTURE MAKES STRIPPING POSSIBLE.

The rain Thursday, Friday and early Saturday morning has allayed the fears of many tobacco growers, because it is now possible to bulk and strip the tobacco.

LENTS NAMED CO. CHAIRMAM

OF BOONE COUNTY CHRISTMAS SEAL SALE IS PRINCIPAL OF CONSTANCE SCHOOL. SCHOOLS TAKE PART

R. V. Lents, Principal of the Constance School has been appointed by the Kentucky Tuberculosis Association as Boone Co., Chairman of the Tuberculosis Christmas Seals Sale.

Mr. Lents has already placed in the hands of the schools of Boone County more than 50,000 Tuberculosis Christmas Seals to carry more than 50,000 messages of health to the good people of Boone County. These seals will be placed in the hands of all school children in the county of Thanksgiving Day. The Christmas Seal gives the public an opportunity to have a part in continuing and expanding the fight against one of the world's most devastating enemies-tuberculosis.

It is through the sale of Christmas Seals that keeps the Kentucky Tuberculosis Association active. Without the proceeds of the Seals, this good work would cease.

Boone County keeps approximately 50% of the Christmas Seal proceeds. All the county's part except a small sum that is necessary to conduct the sale will go to the schools conducting the sale. The schools will in turn use their portion of the proceeds to provide a hospital room in the school. Many times pupils get injured or sick at school and must either tough it out at school or go home. The hospital room will be equipped with first aid materials, simple medicines, and everything that the proceeds will provide.

Many individuals will be mailed a hundred or more seals by the county organization. Each seal sells for one cent. Send the money to R. V. Lents, Seal Sale, Chairman, Ludlow, Ky. R. 2 telling him what school to give credit for the sale, and that school will receive full credit for the sale. Buy as many seals that your pocket books affords.

FARMERS FORM ORGANIZATION

TO SECURE FARM ELECTRICITY IN BOONE COUNTY—REV. WILL SMITH ELECTED CHAIRMAN.

Thirty five farmers met at Burlington Friday, November 18th to discuss ways and means of securing Federal Electric Association service. Rev. Will Smith was elected chairman and Edward Rogers, secretary of a temporary organization to organize the preliminary steps necessary for setting up the project.

Earl Welch, Agricultural Engineer of the College of Agriculture spoke at the meeting. He outlined the purpose of the REA, how it was organized and how framers could proceed to secure their service. Present plans indicate Boone County could connect up with the Owen county association line that crosses Gallatin county a short distance from Big Bone. A signed membership of not less than three to four users per mile must be secured before the extension of service could be granted. The only cost to users to bring the service to their farm would be a $5.00 membership fee which compares to the meter fee charged by commercial concerns. The right of way and securing of the miniumn membership for the line must be done by the farmers.

All attending the meeting were enthusiastic about the plans for rural electricity. Committeemen were appointed to make a membership survey of the roads that could likely be served. The membership survey committee consists of the following-Eugene Schwenke Reuben Kirtley, Vernon Stephens Lee McNeeley, W. L. Presser, Ralph Cason, Ed. Rogers, Lillard Scott, Cliff Jones, Ivan Clemons, Harold Rogers, Rev. Will Smith, Aubrey Finn, Clint Riddell, Parker Hollis, Elmer Elliston and Walter King.

If farm people want REA electricity it is up to them. Everyone interested is urged to get busy and assist their committeemen in the survey. Electricity is assured if sufficient number of users and right of ways are secured.

IT'S STILL WORK

There are some folks who hold to the idea that many young people desire to get a higher education so they won't have to work with their hands, who seek college in order to fit themselves for white collar jobs. This field is pretty well filled and many a lad is compelled to take a job where manual labor is necessary. Just because you are highly educated doesn't mean your work is not hard and tiresome. Often you will find that the uneducated man who labors by brawn returns to his home physically tired but not mentally worn out. Ask an office worker if he has sleepless nights worrying over mental problems? The fact that education gives a man a profession in business does not mean that the man does not want hard work and does not get it. Any one who wants to avoid hard work can do so without using education as an excuse. A tired mental condition is often not relieved through lying in bed relaxed, while the man whose muscles ache can benefit by such comfortable repose.

JUNK 'EM

Did you come in from a Sunday drive last week and make nasty remarks regarding that fellow who drove in front of you in a worn out rattle-trap of a car, who went so slow up an incline you were ready to back down the hill and come on home? His motor sounded weak and unable to make the grade, while you hoped to pass him before the next hill or curve. This has probably been the experience of every driver. Many of us have often wondered why there isn't a law to make him get rid of this antiquated menace to traffic and safe-guard himself as well as others. Of course we are aware that there are many older models of automobiles that with care and consideration have withstood the years in good shape and are as safe as up-to-date cars that have not been checked and gone over for safety's sake. It would be difficult to enact a law to remove certain models of car from the road but there should be some sort of action to remove the dilapidated affairs that often cause accidents to their owners and other traffic.

TOWN "KICKERS"

There are many boosters who are always satisfied with their town and who let folks know it. But every city, no matter how large it may be, has its allotment of kickers. There is no community that does not need some improvements. Nor is there a community where no controvery exists among its citizenry when attempts are made to do something about the needs of the town. There are always defects in management and public service and there are always those constant faul- finders who call attention repeatedly to these defects As a general rule the biggest home town kicker is usually last to try to do something constructive to remedy the fault. A bit of bustling about to get folks interested in repairing the need, to create sentiment in favor of the improvement, is much more apt to carry results. We will always have the man who thinks the small town should have all the advantages of the large one, who is eternally dissatisfied with things in his home place. The majority of us feel that we in the small town have much that a large place can't offer us.

SIMPLE—AND SOUND

"Simple and sound." That is the best characterization that can be given to a group of maxims recently detailed by Dr. Sam S. Bennion, assistant to the president of the Utah Power and Light Company.

Here they are, in brief:

1. Without profit no private enterprise can prosper.

2. Forty-eight million working people in America depend upon the maintenance of private payrolls—which can be met only by profit-making industry.

3. Industry must have the cooperation, rgeulation and protection of government—but the government should be an umpire, not a competitor.

4. The government should withdraw from the field of competitive business in which it using one taxpayer's money to destroy another taxpayer's business.

5. Government should not experiment beyond its mean to pay, and pass the debt on to other generations.

6. There is no magic about taxes Business may collect them—but the people pay them.

7. Let us be done with mutual bickering; with millennial reforms; with a financial system resting on the notion that "we can borrow ourselves out of debt." Let us set up the rules of sound business, and then let's free industry to build in the spirit of American pioneering.

You would go a long way to find a program containing more traditional common sense. We've tried one experiment after another, and spent billions—with little or no result, except to frighten and discourage industry. After ten years of depression, confusion and a long series of political panaceas, our relief rolls are at record level. Maybe it's time for a change back to fundamentals as outlined by Dr. Bennion.

BY ALL MEANS VISIT BOTH COASTS

If the King and Queen of England visit the United States, it is to be hoped that they may be induced to extend their trip to include the Pacific Coast and the great International Exposition to be held in San Francisco, as well as the New York World's Fair.

Traveling from Atlantic to Pacific would show King George and Queen Elizabeth, as nothing else could, the tremendous sweep of the country, the resources and the friendliness of the people of the United States.

Commenting on their proposed visit the New York Times says editorially: "Their visit would symbolize in an unprecedented manner the friendship of the great English-speaking peoples and a century and a quarter of peace between them. To increase still further the good-will between this nation and the British Commonwealth would imply no sort of an alliance, but merely greater cooperation on the part of both countries in striving to build a world that may be dedicated to the ways of peace rather than the ways of war."

KITCHEN KINKS

Wax bottom of glass or wooden cups placed under furniture. Furniture may be moved without scratching floors . . . To remove lime in teakettle boil a little vinegar in it . . . If crust on hot bread has been baked too hard, grease, place in open window and let soften . . . Roasting chicken, place breast down in baking pan for first half hour, making breast moist and tender . . . If you like the flavor of cloves, try adding a few whole ones to the fat in which doughnuts are fried . . . When sifting flour three or four times for a fine cake, sift onto a piece of clean paper. It is easier to pour from the paper back to sifted than from a bowl.

WEEK'S BEST RECIPE

Ten-Minute Cranberry Sauce: 1½ cups sugar, 2 cups water, 4 cups cranberries. Boil sugar and water together 5 min. Add cranberries and boil without stirring until all skins pop open, (5 min. is usually long enough.) Remove from fire and allow sauce to cool in cooking vessels. One pound cranberries makes 2½ lbs. of sauce. For a thinner sauce bring sugar and water to boil, add cranberries and cook until they stop popping. Put up sauce in steilized jars Pour sauce hot into jars and seal tightly.

COVINGTON LAND ONCE CHEAP AS LIFE DURING EIGHTEENTH CENTURY

Land was as cheap as life in Northern Kentucky during the frontier days of the fading years of the Eighteenth Century, research workers for The Federal Writhers' Project, Works Progress Administration, learned while gathering data for a comprehensive file of history that will go into a series of State Guide books.

What now is the choicest part of downtown commercial Covington, seat of Kenton County and second ranking city in Kentucky, once changed hands for about what the legendary figure was between the Dutch and the Indians for Manhattan Island. Covington realtors now appraise the section in platinum numerals.

One George Muse, a soldier in the French and Indians wars, on February 14, 1780, was the recipient of Land Warrant No. 367 for 200 acres at the mouth of the Licking River. The warrant was from the hand and seal of King George III of England under proclamation of the year 1763, and for distinguished military service. But to this hardy adventure it was just as much a scrap of paper as was a treaty made by former Kaiser Wilhelm before the late World War.

Muse tired of carrying around the warrant and when he deemed it high time to wet his whistle he bartered the deed off to a soldier comrade for a small keg of whiskey. His comrade also lightly regarded the right to be a landlord and swapped the paper for a quarter of buffalo meat to Gen. James Taylor, afterwards a resident of Campbell County. Gen. Taylor transferred the deed to Co. Stephen Trigg, who was killed by Indians in the Battle of Blue Licks. Trigg, before his death, had reassigned the title to John Todd Jr., another early settler, and Todd disposed of the parcel to one James Welch for an unrecorder figure, if any.

On May 2, 1785, a survey was made and entered into the records Then, in 1801, Thomas Kennedy acquired the land from Welch in a transaction involving 150 lbs. sterling, and along in 1814, three Cincinnati capitalists obtained title to 150 acres of it. Deed books fail to show what Gen. John S. Gano, his brother, Richard M. Gano; and Thomas Davis Carneal, who comprised the Cincinnati syndicate, paid Kennedy for possession of the land, but they laid out the infant city of Covington on their purchase.

During the following year the land was platted and chartered, named for Gen. Leonard Covington, a Maryland Revolutionary War hero, and became incorporated as a city by act of the Legislature on February 24, 1834.

Muse's original grant came from the State of Virginia. Aside from the foregoing period in his life, research workers were unable to find anything more about Muse in relation to Northern Kentucky history.

BLANKET CARE

If blankets have become short by shrinkage or mending they can be lengthened by sewing at one a strip of muslin 12 to 18 inches wide. This length will tuck in under the mattress at the foot and leave woolen part on top of bed. One woman reader found that covering a darned place with a brightly colored embroidered flower improved the entire appearance of a worn blanket. This would be very attractive on plain colored blankets.

HONESTY IN ALL THINGS

LESSON TEXT—Exodus 20:15; Matthew 19:1-10; 45, 46.
GOLDEN TEXT—Thou shalt not steal.—Exodus 20:15.

Lesson subjects and Scripture texts selected and copyrighted by International Council of Religious Education; used by permission.

Honesty in all things would seem to be what one should have a right to expect without question. As a matter of fact, dishonesty has become so common wherever man is found that people look on the person who is strictly honest as a peculiar individual. Try reporting an undercharge (everyone complains about an overcharge) or returning excess change, and you will see how unexpected honesty really is today. Under such circumstances the Christian needs to be vigilant lest he also accommodate his own ideas of honesty and begin to justify little evasions rather than being absolutely upright.

I. Honesty Respects Property Rights (Exod. 20:15).

The very commandment against stealing implies that men have a right to that which they have made, earned, or saved. If no one had property rights there could be no stealing. Some of our modern isms reason along that line, but their reasoning is clearly not biblical or Christian.

"Thou shalt not steal" forbids every kind of theft. It includes robbery, burglary, safe - cracking, housebreaking; but it covers far more than those obvious wrongs. It refers to such things as loafing on one's job, "borrowing" money from the cash drawer, taking goods from the stock with which one is working, stealing another man's sermon and preaching it as one's own, "lifting" material out of another man's book without credit, contracting debts which one can never pay, using false weights and measures, adulterating food or other material, "watering" milk for sale, selling worthless stock, dodging taxes or lying to the tax assessor, using a slug instead of a nickel in the telephone to escape proper payment.

It really means something to be honest, and it is a great testimony to the unregenerate world.

II. Honesty Restores Stolen Goods (Luke 19:1-10).

The story of the conversion of the despised Jewish tax collector Zacchaeus has many interesting features, but for our lesson we stress but one, namely, that the reality of his conversion was demonstrated by his honesty in restoring that which he had obtained unjustly, and that in fourfold measure.

Insofar as it is possible to do so, the honest person will make right any known injustice. To be right with God must mean that we are to be right with men. The testimony of many Christians could be presented to show that they have only entered upon real peace and usefulness as they have made consistent effort to right every wrong, to pay every debt. Often such actions open opportunities for Christian testimony and point others to the redemption in Christ, which makes a man live right as well as talk right.

III. Honesty Resents Crookedness (Luke 19:45, 46).

In sharp contrast to the prompt restitution by Zacchaeus, the converted publican, was the stubborn disobedience and dishonesty of the priests in the temple. Jesus had already cleansed the temple of the traffic in money-changing and the sale of animals for sacrifice practiced there (see John 2:13-17). On that occasion He rebuked them because they made His Father's house "a house of merchandise." Had they known the change of heart of a converted Zacchaeus they would have heeded His admonition. But they did not believe in Christ and went on with their ungodly desecration of the temple area until it became "a den of thieves" (v. 46). The Lesson Commentary of the United Lutheran Church makes an unusually apt application of the truth to "the goings on in our own churches" in the following paragraph. Read it, ponder it, pray about it, then act, if it describes your church.

"Is a church honest when it assumes obligations that it cannot meet, and is then forced to use all sorts of questionable means to raise money for the benefit of the church? Is a church honest when it turns a building consecrated to the worship of God into a restaurant or a theater, regardless of whether it is done to make money for the church or to attract people who are more interested in eating and drinking or playing than in the preaching of the Word and the worship of God? Is a church honest that turns its pulpit into a lecture platform for the discussion of current events or the review of popular books or plays while the world is destroying itself because it does not know the time of its visitation? The answer . . . is that the church is dishonest that permits any such things, because it robs God of the honor and glory due to Him, and it robs people of their chance of salvation by giving them stones when they need the bread of life."

FSA MAKES LOANS FOR MEDICAL CARE

Acting on the principle that a family in good health is a better risk than a family in poor health, the Farm Security Administration has put through plans looking toward complete medical coverage for all its borrowers.

"Quite aside from any humanitarian purpose, it has as a lending agency," said Dr. W. W. Alexander, Administrator, "found that a family in good health is a better credit risk than a family in bad health."

Plans for medical care and hospitalization at nominal cost to low income farm families who have been without this service, were worked out by the Farm Security Administration through co-operation with physicians and estabed medical societies.

The first step is an agreement with the State Medical Societies outlining general principles acceptable to both. Next, medical societies in areas where need seems greatest are approached and the details of a local medical care plan for borrowers are worked out. In the past, families from this group have been a large part of the tremendous burden shouldered by doctors without pay.

In co-operation with medical societies, the Farm Security Administration already has brought 60,000 low income farm families in 18 states within the plan and they are now being given medical care at a cost they can afford. The administration found it necessary to help provide such care in the course of its efforts to rehabilitate more than 600,000 low income farm families, many of relief levels.

Annual cost to member families is between $12 and $30 a year, advanced in the loan by FSA. This provides for annual physical examination, needed home and office visits and, in most cases, drugs and hospitalization. Physicians submit monthly bills for services rendered. In general, if total bills exceed the amount available for a given month, physicians are paid their pro-rata part of the month's allotment. Bills are paid in full when the allotment is adequate. If a balance remains, it is carried over to the next month or to the end of the period. Any surplus left at the end of a year may be returned to the family.

Since these families have net incomes of only $20 to $300 a year, what medical care they had was largely without any compensation to the doctors who helped them. Under this plan, the physician will be assured of payment up to the limit of the ability of the ordinary borrower to pay. One southern county with 300 FSA farm families paid 73 per cent of the total monthly doctors' bills presented from January to September.

County plans are in operation in 56 of the 75 counties in Arkansas, in 13 counties in Missouri, 12 in Mississippi, nine in Texas, five each in Alabama, Georgia, North Carolina and Ohio(four in Tennessee, three in Indiana and Oklahome, two in Virginia and one in Iowa. Agreements have been reached with State Medical Societies in seven other states.

CCC ELIMINATES WORRIES OF MOTHERS

Kentucky mothers today have little used for the old refrain, "Where Is My Wandering Boy Tonight?". The C. C. C. is the reason and a good one too!

Latest personnel reports on activities and strength of the Citizens' Conservation Corps in the State and the remainder of the Ninth Corps Area account for more than the usual number of would-be wanderers of other years according to the Works Progress Administration. Not one of the 120 Kentucky Counties lacks representation.

Of record at close of the first ten days of November there were 7,107 juniors and project assistants enrolled from Kentucky. And of the 6,972 juniors selected by local selecting agents, 5,300 are in 24 white camps and three Negro camps in Kentucky. The balance, 1,492, are in camps in Indiana, Ohio and West Virginia and the remaining four states in the corps area Each camp has five project assistants, or a total of 135 thus assigned.

In addition there are 500 World War veterans from Kentucky enrolled in three similar camps. These escaped enrollment on relief through selection by the Veterans' Administration Facility, Lexington.

Utopians Hold Annual Initiation Thursday

Utopia Club members held their annual initiations excerises at Burlington Thursday evening, November 17th. New members enrolled during the year were the goals for the recreational program.

Mr. Wm. Johnstone, crops specialist, spoke to the boys on the educational program. He outlined the results being secured over the state from hybrib corn. He stated differences were not so striking in a year like 1938 as would normally be received. Hybrid corn was giving increased results thru more uniform stands, more sound ears, greater weight per bushel, small cob and better quallity of grains. The great danger lies in unscrupulous seed dealers. Hybrid seed that is not properly crossed and detasseled will not give the results desired. Growers should purchase hybrid corn seed only from breeders of known reputation.

Alice Katherine Tupman led the girls discussion group. She gave a report on social customused in public, especially at the theatre, church, school and parties.

The next meeting of the club will be held Tuesday, Dec., 13th.

"Gateway" will be shown at the Gayety Sunday and Monday, with Don Ameche and Arleen Whelan co-starred and Gregorl Ratoff, Binnie Barnes, Gilbert Roland, Raymond Walburn and John Carradine featured.

Whitney Bourne, Eduardo Ciannelli, Paul Guilfoyle, Richard Lane, and Jack Arnold have important supporting roles.

A psychiatrist with dancing feet meets an actress with a similar complex, and the result of a delight in Terpsichore in "Carefree," spectacular filmusical starring Fred Astaire and Ginger Rogers. This picture will be shown at the Gayety Wednesday and Thursday, Nov. 30 and Dec. 1.

All Soddy Knows "Aunt Dodie"

By Sue Mills Loop

The article below was taken from the Chattanooga Sunday Times Magazine, and concerns a former resident of Union, Boone County.

Mrs. Dora Bannister, familiarly known in Soddy, where she makes her home as "Aunt Dodie," has a philosophy of life that might well be emulated. Reaching her eighty-second birthday, last Dec. 1, Mrs. Bannister has been ill since, but her dauntless spirit has not wavered.

Adhering to the belief expressed by Homer that "To conquer is to live long," Mrs Bannister has surmounted many hardships and obstacles with a high heart. She has been active in various lines of work during her thirty years residence in Hamilton county, many of which were spent in Chattanooga.

"The last good deed I performed," Mrs. Bannister told this interviewer," was to vote for Franklin Roosevelt for president on Nov. 4, 1936." She drove to the polls at Soddy in a pouring rain to cast her vote, at the age of 81. She had voted regularly since woman suffrage was granted and on the first election in which women were allowed to participate she was active at the polls at Walter's store, on Missionary ridge.

"I am not at all sensitive about my age." Mrs. Bannister said, "and I thank the Lord I have been spared these many years."

Mrs. Bannister was married to Charles T. Bannister in Union, Boone County, Kentucky, in 1880. He died in 1895. Her father, Rodgers Clements, died in 1900, and her mother, Minerva J. Riley Clements, died four years later. Mrs. Bannister had inherited from her father a store situated on the road between Louisville and Covington, Ky., and this she continued to operate. She also served as postmaster, and as telephone operator In 1908 she sold her store, and came to Chattanooga. She first bought property in Highland Park, which she held for ten years. Selling it, she invested her money in a bank with somewhat disastrous results. "Most of my money is there yet," Mrs. Bannister explained. "It represented a life-time of savings . . . But the Lord knows best if we can only reconcile ourselves and put our trust in Him, for there is always a way."

One of the sights that Mrs. Bannister recalls during her childhood is the building of the suspension bridge at Cincinnati. She drove to the city with her father in a spring wagon, crossed the river on the ferry, while the bridge was under construction, she said.

Part of Mrs. Bannister's married life was at Daisy, where there was a flourishing general store and the mines were operated day and night, she said. Her husband, Charles T. Bannister, was railway station agent at Daisy and Morris Jenkins operated the mines.

Very proud of her Revolutionary ancestors, Mrs. Bannister said her great grandfather, Rodger Clements, served with Daniel Boone in Kentucky. A sketch sent her in 1924 from the bureau of pensions, department of interior, states that Rodger Clements was born Jan. 1, 1762, in Augusta county, Virginia While residing in Rowan county, North Carolina, he enlisted, in the spring of 1780 and served as a private with the North Carolina troops, under Capt. Alexander Davidson and Col. William Davidson, and was in the Battle of Ramsours Mills. Later he served under Capt. James Hogan, at Charlotte and was a spy under Capt. Samuel Hart, Col. William Davie and was discharged Nov. 16, 1780.

The information states he had further service in Fayette county, Kentucky, in 1781, where he served two months under Capt. Robert Patterson in a "Row Galley" on the Ohio river. In August 1782, he was with Holder at the Battle of Blue Licks. He served two months with Capt. John Constant's company, in Gen. George Roger Clarke's expedition to the Big Miami. He was allowed a pension on his application executed Sept. 8, 1882, while a resident of Montgomery county, Kentucky. He died July 31, 1835.

Rodger Clements was married to Hannah Hathaway, Jan. 25, 1787. She died in July, 1846, in Boone County, Indiana, leaving thirteen children, of whom Mrs Bannister's grandfather, also named Rodger Clements, was a son. The name was carried on by the grandfather to his son, Rodger Clements III, Mrs. Bannister's father.

Mrs. Bannister's first residence in Hamilton county was shortly after her marriage in the '80's. Her husband, having studied telegraphy at Hixson, was made stationmaster at Daisy, but because of his ill health, they returned to Kentucky a year later. On her return in 1908 she said, Chattanooga was experiencing a boom, and she bought property as an investment.

Serving as a companion in a number of homes in Chattanooga, Mrs. Bannister has had the opportunity to travel throughout the United States, her last trip being to New York in 1936. She has been active in the work of the Baptist church, and has attended a number of meeting of the Southern Baptist convention.

Mrs. Bannister is known by everyone in Soddy for her kindliness and generosity. Though she is now confined most of the time she is cheerful and bright. In spite of the fact that her sight is failing, she does not allow it to worry her. Until the past year or so she has never been seriously ill.

NEW MERCURY 8 IS ANNOUNCED

The newest car in motordom—the Mercury 8—was announced recently by the Ford Motor Company as its representative in the lower medium-price field. It fills a place the Ford-Lincoln line between the DeLuxe Ford V-8 and the Lincoln-Zephyr.

The Mercury 8 is a big car. It measures more than 16 feet from bumper to bumper. Its wheelbase is 116 inches. It is a powerful car, and with high road speed when desired. It's V-type 8-cylinder engine developes 95 horsepower. It is also an easy car to handle. Hydraulic brakes enable the driver to slow down or stop quickly with light pedal pressure.

In its modern streamlined styling of its own, both in flowing body contours and in interior appointments.

Four body types are available on the Mercury 8 chassis and there are eight color options. The body types are a town-sedan, a sedan, a sedan-coupe and a sport convertible. The bodies are exceptionally roomy, comparing favorably with the Lincoln-Zephyr.

All bodies are extra wide, seating three persons comfortably in both front and rear seats. The belt and cowl lines are low, giving driver and passengers wide visibility. Running boards are narrow and the bodies are widest at seat level. The unusual roominess of the bodies and the large luggage space at the rear are both achieved without excessive overhang, as a result of able designing.

A notable characteristic of the Mercury 8 is the quietness of the interiors. With the windows closed passengers may converse without raising their voices even when the car is travelling 70 miles an hour or more. This effective sound insulation was achieved as a result of many months' tests on the road and in the laboratory.

Interior styling and choice of appointments are as distinctive as the exterior beauty of the car. Typical of this originality of design are the instrument panel, the two-spoke steering wheel and the steering column support. The instrument panel is tilted to permit the instruments to be read easily. The dial of the 100-mile speedometer is formed in a long arc corresponding to the curve of the steering wheel. The speedometer and gauges are in a group in front of the driver. One of the gauges is a new battery condition indicator.

New ideas in interior tailoring are also carried out. A paneled and piping treatment is used. In the three closed cars upholstery is taupe-colored broadcloth or bedford cord. In the sport convertible the seat cushions and backs are genuine hand-buffed red leather. Cushions are exceptionally deep and comfortable. The front seat in all body types is adjustable.

Much of the new car's equipment is in pairs. There are dual windshield wipers, twin electric air horns, two sun visors and dual combination rear-and-stop lights. The spare wheel is carried upright against the front panel of the luggage compartment.

Chassis frame is of full box section from the X-member to both ends of the side channels. Springs are of transverse cantilever design, with four double-acting hydraulic shock absorbers. Transmission is of blocker type, preventing clashing in changing between second and high speeds.

Emily V. Farrell

Especially do we thank the nurse Mrs. Fannie Pettit for her faithful and loving care; Dr. Yelton for his ever faithful services; Rev. Father Egbring and Rev. Hauter for their comforting words; the organist and choir; the donors of the beautiful floral offering and Philip Tallaferro, funeral director.

INSPIRATIONAL

It is not work that kills men; it is worry. Work is health; you can hardly put more upon a man than he can bear. Worry is rust upon the blade. It is not the revolution that destroys the machinery, but the friction.

NEW FRUGAL FURS AIDS TO LIMITED WARDROBE BUDGETS

You won't get far in the sartorial swim this season without fur.

Never has there been a year when furs were so important, so opulent and so imaginatively used.

Wee little hats of furs with bright colored birds perched in the center, for all the world like nests, coquettish little muffs and huge big ones that have a trick of makin gone appear fragile and utterly feminine are just a few of the accessories that go along with coats furred to within an inch of their fabrics.

Then, of course, there are the short fur jackets that are becoming almost ubiquitous to well assembled winter wardrobes.

But, fortunately, furs are more attractively priced than for many seasons and there are a number of so called "budget" furs on the market this season designed for the girl who must shop economically.

In this class is the new guanoco, a South American fur, which is dyed to look like blue fox and made into short shunky jackets that are as smart as can be and amazingly low priced. There is also sable dyed fitch which is soft, silky and has a deceptively expensive look Beaver is a medium priced fur which is high on the list of fashion favorities this season. It is sheared and thinned to make it one of the most supple of furs. Sable dyed opposum is another frugal fur which is used for smart little jackets and for huge collars on both coats.

Many of the cloth coats have great swags of fur swooping down the front to make them look extravagantly luxurious. Others have stoles of fur that form collars and continue down the front to the hem. Sometimes these stoles widen out to such proportions that the entire front of the coast is of fur. Others have sleeves and plastron fronts of the shorter haired furs, Persian lamb being particularly smart when used like this.

When you are ready to go shopping for your fur trimmed cloth coat, your fur jacket or coat this season remember these hints—mink makes the skin look white, silver fox makes you look fragile, Persian lamb will give that chic streamlined look and beaver will stamp you as being up to the minute on fashion news.

USING CANDLES

Never include candles on the dining room table service unless they are to be used to supply needed light. Light them just before guests arrive . . . If the decorated wax candles have a soiled appearance, wipe them off with absorbent cotton dampened with alcohol. All soil will come off like magic . . . A candle may be made to fit any candlestick if dipped for a moment into very hot water.

SILVERWARE SATISFACTION

Silverware will stay shiny and untarnished if it is used daily, washed throughly and stored carefully. Use hot soapy water for washing, hot clear water for rinsing. Wipe silver carefully with lintless soft cloth. Don't pile silverware; that is likely to sratch it. To remove tarnish use a polish that is very soft and gritless . . . Before putting away spare silver clean it thoroughly. Wrap it in dark blue paper with a few camphor balls, and when the silver is unpacked, even months afterward, it will be found to be as bright as when put away.

It may be true that a willing horse gets the heaviest load, but he also gets the most oats.

Freak Autumnal Storms Kill 500, Red Cross Aids Hundred Thousand

At top—Hurricane-wrecked home and motor car on Long Island; thousands were similarly destroyed. Lower right—One thousand fishing and pleasure craft were beached by tidal wave; a glimpse of Long Island coast. Lower left—Refugees from storm, seated on an overturned chimney, fed by Red Cross.

SIX New England states and Long Island are engaged in digging out from under the debris of wrecked buildings, roads and utilities, of destroyed homes and forests as a result of the worst hurricane storm damage tol visit that section since 1821.

The storm, known as a West Indies hurricane, swept in from the Atlantic on September 21, virtually without warning, attained a wind speed of 100 miles an hour at some points, and was accompanied by high seas. Fire followed in some sections, and rivers already rising, were soon in flood. Lives lost numbered 475 identified persons, with many still reported missing.

More than 56,000 families suffered grave losses, and today the American Red Cross is engaged in rehabilitating 21,000 of these families in their homes, their occupations, and on their farms, because they are unable to restore their losses without some outside help.

The Red Cross is in a race with approaching winter to get families back into their homes. Work to be done ranges from mending roofs and chimneys to completely rebuilding and refurnishing modest homes. Fishermen and farmers were heavy losers, because boats, nets, lobster pots were washed away, and tobacco crops, barns, poultry, maple sugar and fruit trees were destroyed.

Red Cross Chapters rescued, housed, fed and sheltered the storm victims, and more than 100 disaster relief workers of the Red Cross were in the stricken area within three days, arriving by airplane, boat and bus, despite disrupted communications.

Mobilization of Red Cross workers to aid victims of this storm was not completed before a series of three tornadoes struck Charleston, South Carolina, September 29, killing 30 people and making 600 families homeless. Red Cross provided shelter, and now is engaged in rebuilding homes and aiding the families. Thus these two September catastrophes claimed more than 500 lives.

The annual roll call for members in the Red Cross which occurs from Armistice Day to Thanksgiving provides the funds which keep the Red Cross Chapters and national organization prepared to meet emergencies such as these.

Compliments from his friends don't make a man feel any better after he has heard his wife's description of him.

FOOT TEST

by N. TULCH
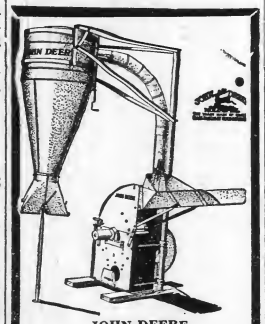
AT PEOPLES' FOOT COMFORT (SHOE STORE) COVINGTON

Now friends I am going to ask you to do something which I think will give you the answer to the trouble you are having with your feet.

No, You must do just as I say, so you will understand what is meant when I say . . . Most All Weak Feet Roll Inward. Now, friends take off both shoes right now. Please stand up, both feet side by side about six to eight inches apart with the same amount of weight on each foot. Now, this is important! Relax all muscles in your feet and legs. About 7 out of 10 of you will find that your feet roll inward. In other words, your feet go down on the inside, some of them all the way down to the floor. You probably have one of the four stages of weak feet . . . first degree, about 1-4 of the way down; second degree 1-2 way down; third degree, 3-4 of the way down; and fourth degree, all the way down on what is commonly known as flat foot.



But, here's the important thing for you to remember, two important things in fact; when your feet roll inward and go down, you are shutting off the nerve and blood supply going into the bottom of your feet. The result is poor blood circulation which oftens lets chemical deposits or waste matter form at the points of your feet and lower limbs.

Now, the second important thing is this, weak, inrolling feet also cramp nerves, then through nerve relaxes, some weaker part of the body is usually effected. Remember, when you cramp the nerves in your feet, you cause reflexes to be sent to some other part of the body that is more sensative and has less resistance. Then old mother nature comes right back at you with back aches, headaches or something worse. If you are not sure about the condition of your feet, go where trained foot comfort specialists will make a thorough scientific analysis of your feet. Adv.

KENTUCKY PIGEON FOUND IN ONTARIO

A pigeon, wearing a band with the following marks thereon: "No. 62 August 26th, 1938 Kentucky," was found early in October feeding with some hens in the little village of Rossport, Ontario, Canada.

Percy Barr, Agent, Canadian Pacific Railway Co., was the person to catch the pigeon and notified Major James Brown, Director of the Division of Game and Fish, of the incident.

The pigeon was banded by someone in the state of Kentucky and if this story is printed in the newspapers, he should read about his pigeon, which has traveled approximately eight hundred miles to the north country.

If the person who liberated this particular pigeon reads this article, the Division of Game and Fish would appreciate his getting in touch with them at Frankfort, Ky., by letter or card.

PARAGRAPHS

Marriage is the only life sentence that is never commuted for good behavior.

It is the opinion of many a voter that we could do with public officials that had less personality if they only had more sense.

Don't you hate to start giving a man a lot of good information and have to pause a dozen times to hear him say, "don't I know it?"

Some girls think it is a tragedy if they have to go through life without having men staring at them.

"It is amusing to see an old batchelor petting a baby," sigs Pops, "especially if the baby is about 18 years old."

Now and then we meet someone who doesn't seem to realize that a flea has as much right to live off of a persons as persons have to live off of each other.

Corrigan showed us the ocean in good time, darkest Africa is now an automobile boulevard, the North Pole is no secret—but no one has discovered how to collect bad debts.

Even the man who doesn't kiss his wife is considered a pretty good sort of husband, if he doesn't go around kissing other men's wives.

When you look around and see how swell-headed and spoiled money can make some people, you sort of understand why Providence keeps most of us poor.

Why is it that people can always be depended upon to do the things that they don't get paid for?

The average man looks on middle-age as that time of life when one more pain doesn't cause any particular worry.

It is getting so that the black sheep of the family looks as white as any of the rest of them.

It is as hard for some people to keep a secret as it is for all of us to keep the Ten Commandments.

More than one man is afraid that he is going to be compelled to lie when he gets to heaven and St. Peter asks him if he was always prompt in mailing the letters his wife give him to mail.

Whenever we hear of any couple living together 20 years without quarreling, we wonder how the husband kept his mouth shut that long.

A fool and his money wouldn't be parted so often if there was a law against trying to get something for nothing.

Many new inventions are needed and one of them is a pipe that won't make a man's breath smell like a fertilizer factory when he is through smoking.

It looks to us that growing old is sorrow enough, without having Dame Nature rub it in by providing double-chins and baldness.

Silent contempt is the kind a woman shows for another woman with whom she is not on speaking terms.

Our advice to men is not to knock the church. Maybe it has improved a good deal since you were there.

Why is it more fellows will pay $1200 for a motor car and then kick if the laundry loses a quarter collar?

As a general rule, people who have a skeleton in their closets do the most talking about other people.

A woman always thinks she is better than other women, while a man invariably thinks he is no worse than other men.

LEFTOVER BACON

Leftover bacon, end pieces and so on, are delicious additions in flavoring combinations of foods. A plain bread stuffing is improved by adding 2 cups of chopped bacon to 2 cups of bread crumbs. Do not put the same amount of salt in the dressing as otherwise necessary . . . Break crisp cooked bacon leftover into potato soup. It improves the flavor of the soup.

EGG BEATING

A small gold fish bowl is most useful in beating eggs, cream or mayonnaise. The shape of the bowl is especially good as it prevents the spattering of the contents. The small opening at the top of the bowl is just large enough for your egg beater.

GOOD TASTE TODAY by EMILY POST

World's Foremost Authority on Etiquette

Shall I Wear a Hat With Afternoon Dress?

DEAR Mrs. Post: We seldom wear formal clothes in our simple community, which fact I contend is no reason why the ladies here may not go to evening parties wearing afternoon dresses and no hats. Don't you agree with me? There are several new residents who have been turning up on such occasions with hats on.

Answer: The general rule is if you wear an afternoon dress (meaning a dress not suitable for general wear on the street) in the evening, then you should go without a hat, but if you are wearing a street dress, then you should wear a hat. But whether the hats you describe are bad form or not depends entirely upon their type. In other words, if they are an indoor type of hat, they are quite as suitable to wear with afternoon dresses as to go without. In fact, they are decidedly a fashion of the moment.

• • •

Hands in Greeting

DEAR Mrs. Post: Etiquette suggests that a man wait for a woman to extend her hand in greeting first. But what is a man to do when a hostess receiving at a party for her daughter fails to put out her hand in spite of the fact that etiquette also says that a guest should shake hands with a hostess and her daughter in the receiving line at such a party?

Answer: If she does not hold her hand out to him, then he behaves as he was taught in dancing school when a small boy. In other words, he takes one step, cracks his heels and bows from the waist and says, "How do you do, Mrs. Brown."

• • •

Seek Local Custom

DEAR Mrs. Post: Should the ladies pouring at a formal tea wear hats? Common sense seems to be the basis of your etiquette, and in my humble judgment hats at this time do not sound sensible.

Answer: This question is best decided by the arbitrary custom of each community. In New York, for example, a deputy hostess always wears a hat unless she is a house visitor, and even in this case she is likely as not to wear one. Neither dress or hat for a deputy hostess should be too tailored.

ENDORSEMENT BY ELKS OF AMERICA IN SALE OF CHRISTMAS SEALS

Endorsement by the Elks of America in the sale of Christmas Seals for the National Tuberculosis Association was announced recently by Dr. Kendall Emerson, managing director. Various other fraternal organizations throughout the country have expressed approval of the campaign, Dr. Emerson said.

"The Elks of America are interested in the fight against tuberculosis," said Dr. Edward J. McCormick, of Toledo, Ohio, Exalted Grand Ruler. "I am very happy to express approval of your Christmas Seal endeavor and of your nationwide activities. I am sure that every Elk in America will be glad to give you whatever aid is possible. I trust that success will continue in your endeavor to the end that this dread disease will be completely conquered."

The National Grange sent an endorsement through its Master, L. J. Taber, of Columbus, Ohio. Mr. Taber said:

"Each returning Christmas season should bring to us the ceaseless challenge of trying in every way possible to help those suffering from disease or handicaps. For almost a third of a century, the Christmas Seal Campaign has been a factor in helping to stamp out the Great White Plague. Our million members hope for a real sale of Christmas Seals in 1938."

Walter F. Dexter of Chicago, speaking as president of the Lions International, said:

"The work of the National Tuberculosis Association for the eradication of tuberculosis is an exceptionally noteworthy activity. On behalf of Lions International, it is a pleasure to endorse this splendid movement. You may depend on the International recommending to the individual unit clubs cooperation in the work before you."

THE BOONE COUNTY RECORDER

ESTABLISHED 1875

VOLUME 63 | BURLINGTON, KENTUCKY THURSDAY, DECEMBER 1, 1938 | NUMBER 28

4-H WEED SHOW AND SALE DEC. 12

ONE HUNDRED AND SEVENTY-SEVEN MEMBERS ELIGIBLE TO COMPETE FOR PRIZES AND HONORS.

One hundred and seventy-seven Boone County 4-H tobacco club members will be eligible to compete for prizes and honors in the 5th annual 4-H tobacco show and sale to be held at the Kenton Loose Leaf Warehouse in Covington, Monday, December 12th, according to H. R. Forkner, county agent. Four-H club members of Boone, Kenton, Campbell, Bracken, Pendleton, Grant and Gallatin counties will take part.

Boone county 4-H tobacco project members this year have produced approximately 75,000 pounds of high quality tobacco. Every 4-H tobacco project member enrolled in 1938 tobacco project work is eligible to compete for prizes and sell his crop through the special 4-H sale. Only 4-H tobacco will be on the floor the day of the sale.

The rules of the show and sale are as follows:

1. Tobacco will be graded by warehousemen if desired.

2. Complete record books are required for club members to compete in show.

3. All crops will be brought to the warehouse in time to place on the floor Saturday, December 10.

4. Crops to compete for premiums must be over 150 lbs.

5. Baskets eligible for premiums must be 25 lbs. or more in case of trash, lugs, bright leaf and red leaf and 15 lbs. or more in the flyings classes.

6. County entries should be grouped together for the purpose of selecting crop awards. These will be judged on quality and balance of grades. Five crops of over 150 lbs. each qualify a county for county awards.

7. Judging will be done December 11th. No tobacco will be received after Saturday, December 10th.

8. Each county agent will check the eligibility of crops from his county for show and sale.

9. Only 4-H project tobacco will be exhibited and sold thru the show and sale. Every 4-H club member is put on his high and unquestioned honor to strictly observe this point.

Cash awards will be made on county and district championships in baskets of flyings, trash, lugs, bright leaf and red leaf and on crop awards. Twenty-five percent of the total premiums available will be made to crop awards. Prizes will also be awarded on best project record books in the district and in the county.

Members will deliver their crops on Saturday, December 10th. Judging of baskets and crops will be completed on the 10th and 11th. The sale of tobacco will begin early on Monday, December 12th. Every 4-H tobacco project member is invited to take part.

Approximately 20,000 pounds of tobacco, the first of the 138 crop to be sold in Covington, was on the floor of the Kenton Looseleaf Warehouse Tuesday as officials made ready for the opening sale.

As in the past season, Col. Rome Kinman, Elsmere, will be the auctioneer. Others officials include, Herbert Whitley, general manager; M. E. McClure, bookkeeper; George Steffen, floor manager and Ray Hurdler, sales manager.

NEW HAVEN HI WINS 36 TO 24

IN CONTEST WITH FLORENCE—BURLINGTON TAKES TRIMMING AT HANDS OF STRONG HAMILTON FIVE.

Walton went to the front when Florence went down to defeat before New Haven, 36 to 24, at the New Haven gym Wednesday night. The result puts Florence in second place and gives New Haven at least a tie for third.

Neither Walton or Hebron played during the past week. Hebron school was closed due to what was thought to be an outbreak of scarlet fever.

In the game between New Haven and Florence, New Haven led almost from the beginning, taking a 15 to 6 lead at half time.

Howard was tops for the New Haven team, making nine points. His mark was bettered by Brooks the Florence star, who piled up ten markers.

The New Haven reserves defeated the Florence reserves 36 to 14 lead by Stevenson who hit the hoop for 21 points.

Burlington journeyed to Hamilton Wednesday night, to be turned back on the short end of a 31 to 19 count. Miller was high point man for the winners with nine points, while Benson was high for Burlington with five.

Friday night the Burlington lads will journey to Dixie Heights to do battle with this strong team, and on Saturday night New Haven will be entertained on the Burlington hardwood.

The bicycle is a streamlined model, fully equipped with coaster brake, speedometer, and headlights, and will be on display in the lobby of the new theatre.

Merchants Not Included In Rabbit Possession Law

Merchants are not included in the 16-possession rabbit law provision, Maj. James Brown, director of the state Division of Game and Fish, announced this week.

Attorney General Hubert Meredith formally approved an opinion of J. K. Lewis, an assistant attorney general, that dealers who bought rabbits for resale could possess more than the legal possession limit of 16 for hunters and trappers.

Maj. Brown said the ruling was desired because "many poor people are able to have a little Christmas money by reason of the fact they can kill a few rabbits when they have no other source of income."

Covington merchants are again cooperating in a Pre-Christmas Dividend Club, fully explained in a recent issue of The Recorder. Six hundred dollars in cash will be awarded this season. There will be 63 cash prizes, ranging from $250 down to two dollars.

All you have to do is to ask your merchant for a coupon for each dollar purchase you make.

Awards will be made on Friday, Dec. 16, 9:15 p. m., at the Seventh Street Plaza, Madison Ave., Covington. However, attendance at the time of awards is not required —winners will be notified by mail.

REA ORGANIZATION FORMED AT MEETING HELD MONDAY NIGHT

Seventy-five Attend Meeting Held at Courthouse—Three Hundred Thirty-Six Sign Applications For Rural Electricity

Seventy-five Boone County citizens met at Burlington courthouse last Monday evening, November 28 and voted unanimously to form a Boone County Rural Electric Cooperative Association and to proceed immediately with a membership sign-up campaign, and right-of-way easements for the lines. Rev. Will Smith was elected President and Edward Rogers, Secretary and Treasurer of the temporary association.

Mr. Chester Roland, manager of the Owen county association was principal speaker at the meeting, outlining the REA program and the efficient manner in which it was serving Owen county rural residents. He stated that if the membership sign-up was completed immediately, it might be possible to get the lines constructed at an early date, probably before the majority of customers could get their houses wired for electricity.

Reports of membership committeemen present totaled 336 customers on 90.1 miles of line. The committeemen further reported there was considerable territory not covered and both members of prospective customers and miles served will be greatly increased as the sign-up campaign progresses. Committeemen were supplied with right-of-way easement forms and membership applications on Wednesday of this week. The sign-up is to be completed and membership turned in by the next meeting, Friday, December 9th.

The sign-up committee follows:

Eugene Schwenke, Hamilton school to Gallatin county line.

Reuben Kirtley, Gunpowder Creek to Hugh Stephens'.

Vernon Stephens, Stephens, Rabbit Hash to Orville Kelly's.

Lee McNeeley, Orville Kelly's to Waterloo.

W. H. Presser, Waterloo to Gunpowder Creek.

Ralph Cason, Road 18 to Waterloo.

Ed Rogers, Rabbit Hash to McVille.

Lillard Scott, McVille to Waterloo.

Cliff Jones, Waterloo to Burlington.

Hayes Feldhaus, Rabbit Hash to Hathaway.

Ivan Clemons, Hathaway to Huey's corner.

Ivan Clemons, Normansville to Big Bone Church.

Ivan Clemons, Portwood to Arch Rouse.

Harold Rogers, Belleview to Petersburg.

Rev. Will Smith, John Rogers' to Finn's.

Aubrey Finn, Finn's to Petersburg.

Clint Riddell, Francesville to Bullittsville.

Parker Hollis, Burlington Bullittsville.

J. C. Hollis, Burlington to Constance Road.

Walter King, Verona to Walton.

James Pennington, U. S. 42 to Verona.

Dolpha Sebree, Burlington to Gunpowder Road.

Charlie White, Woolper Creek to Petersburg.

Every farmer who wants electricity on his farm is urged to contact his committeeman, sign-up his membership application and help secure easements for line construction immediately. The project is strictly a cooperative enterprise. There is no pay for sign-up committeemen and every prospective customer is urged to do his part to get this work completed immediately. Delay of a few days will probably delay the construction of the lines several months. Immediate construction will likely begin if the organization can be completed in the next few days.

The dream of electric serviced farm homes by many farmers and farmers' wives may become a reality, according to H. R. Forkner, county agent.

The Federal Government is financing the construction of the lines with the lines themselves being the sole security. The only cost to the customer (except for the wiring of the individual home) is a $5.00 membership fee. This fee will be returned if electricity is not supplied. The decision as to whether or not our farmers are to have electrity at a reasonable rate rests with our farmers themselves.

TOO JITTERY

There are among us who term ourselves the older generation, a deal of censorship of the "jitterbugs" of today's dance floors. The older citizen whose breath can't take it and whose joints can't make it, has disapproving remarks for the sanity and sensibilities of a youth so depraved as to call this type of jiggling a dance—by any name! "Flat-foot Floozies" and "killer diller" dances are only for the very young and agile who have the not unnatural leaning of youth to be show-offs. They are only relieving themselves of energy and though it looks fantastic and slightly demented, it is merely a crazy sort of dance by normal, healthy young people. It will soon give place to another type and we will soon forget. What matter if it be the Cake Walk or Virginia Reel, a hale barn dance supplied with polkas, a dance is still a dance for a' that. It may be that our dance crazes are a bit more energetic in their demand than those of some other civilized countries, but America is vital and her dances express her individualism and that of her young. There are Boone County folks who can remember many a dance in the past that seemed as insane and jumpy as this school introduces. And there are many of these same folks who rather believe a good old-fashioned hoe-down with all the trimmings would give these modern dancers something to really pant about. Perspiration can be worked up as easily over a Portland Fancy as any up-to-the-minute fandango. They may call it by a different name but you still "swing your partner."

AUTO REASONING

A judge has ordered a young WPA worker "either to sell or give away" his automobile. This was due to the fact that the man's wife testified that her husband spent most of his $12 weekly wage on the car. We can believe this as anyone who owns a car realizes the upkeep is a major part of the family expense. Yet there is the side of the WPA worker too, for in many cases a car is necessary in securing and holding a job. It has happened many times that unemployment relief has been refused on the grounds that persons applying owned an automobile. There have been many tales of cases where families have called for relief checks and grocery supplies—in their cars. One story goes about the woman, living in the city, who called a taxi from relief headquarters as her car battery was run down. Most any one can relate stores of cases where relief was undeserved. But the thousands of worthy cases suffer due to these fewer outstanding instances of selfishness.

It would be hard to draw the line as to who should own a car and who can afford a car. There are many families where incomes are far above relief checks and WPA salaries where wives have had to go without fall millinery and husbands without new suits, because the auto needed new tires, valves ground and a new brake lining.

FAREWELL TO NOVEMBER

The very unusual fall we have enjoyed in almost every section of the country, is memorable in many ways. Sections where there has been severe frosts accompanied by heavy snows and icy rains by this time every years, are commenting upon the beautiful days, the balminess of a November breeze. To make readers in this county more aware of the remarkable November, spring flowers have been found along a stream in Maine. The first of this month found cowslips, or marsh marigolds, growing in a field in this same state, while one woman displayed strawberry blossoms found in her field. This is indeed an indication of a warm season. There have been many predictions that there will be mild weather until Christmas, but if not, those who live in zones where noses are usually red during this time of year, are grateful for the lovlinest of autumns.

POOR GRANDPA!

It may be that your Grandad never saw a movie, an aeroplane, or listened to a radio, or owned a modern automobile. But there is one thing on Grandad's side, he never had to wait in a barber-shop until a girl got her neck shaved, he probably never went in swimming with a lady, he didn't smoke mentholated cigarettes, have his finger nails manicured or his toe nails doctored. We doubt if he drank near beer and he didn't divorce Grandma; he undoubtedly did not shoot a filling station bandit, didn't sleep in broadcloth pajamas and was satisfied with a heated game of checkers as an active sport. But somehow, Grandad lived to a ripe old age and never knew what he was missing. He never got behind with his work on account of golf and he was always up to scratch when it came to paying his bills. And there are a good many of the offsprings of Grandad who could profit by his example.

NOT THE SIZE

Maybe it is due to the many movies we have seen of vast halls, the estates, the castles of the English gentry but we have been of the opinion that Englalnd was a land of mighty palaces and huge beamed ceilings. But when we learned that their last year demand for Christmas trees dwelt on those three to five feet high, our sense of proportion was upset. We couldn't figure a three foot cedar in some of those rooms we have seen on the movie screen! Seems that the trees of large size that were formerly in demand were sold last year to hotels.

But this buying of smaller trees does not mean a dwindling of the "Christmas Spirit." Voices raised in carol-singing sound the note that what difference does the size of the tree make? Many folks prefer the simple holly wreath tied with a large red bow, while others would rather decorate a mantle with branches of pine sprinkled with artificial snow. Whatever you use, or whether you use no holly or pine, as long as your spirit is whole-hearted and seasonal—the size of the tree doesn't matter.

TOO MANY LAWS

Many states attempt to make hunting safe by enacting laws regulating the use of firearms. Many citizens feel that we already have on our statute books too many laws. In the final analysis, public sentiment is the governing factor and only when all hunters join in a crusade to make the use of firearms a safe sport, will road hunting and other dangerous practices resulting in all too frequent accidents, be eliminated.

The following list of suggestions is respectfully submitted by the Division of Game and Fish for the earnest consideration of those who seek recreation in the Out-of-Doors:

1. For the safety of yourself and companions, treat the muzzle of a gun with as much respect as you would accord a serpent. Its stock makes a most convenient handle.

2. A loaded gun in the hands of a hunter has no business on a public highway, much less in an automobile.

3. So that the "business end" of a gun will not "look you in the face," lay it carefully on the ground parallel to the fence, before you go through or over a barbed-wire fence.

4. After tramping a field, unload your gun before approaching within range of the rest of your party who may be waiting for you in the automobile.

5. Land animals, both human and domestic, will be less likely to stop your charge of "No. 6's" if the bird flushed in a cornfield is given an opportunity to gain altitude before you fire.

6. "Fender hunting," particularly on highways, saves steps but is extremely hazardous to participants as well as others and is a violation of the Kentucky State Laws.

"MUSTS" FOR TRAFFIC SAFETY

Julien H. Harvey, managing director of the National Conservation Bureau, lists six vital "musts" for the solution of America's Number 1 accident problem—the street and highway death and injury toll.

First, all drivers must be licensed. and only after stringent tests.

Second, real, not perfunctory physical examinations of drivers at periodic intervals is important.

Third, all high school students should be educated in safe driving through specially devised courses.

Four, there must be more stringent enforcement of laws affecting both drivers and pedestrians by police and traffic courts.

Fifth, ticket fixing must be 100 per cent eliminated.

Lastly, all safety organizations should give their primary effort toward discouraging the speed mania—principal cause of the bulk of serious accidents.

These "musts" provide a well-rounded traffic safety program, within the power of any state or community to meet. They touch the all-important high-spots—education, examination and law enforcement. They deal with specific cures—not more or less meaningless generalities, and represent the only kind of program which has a chance for permanent success.

America has had enough of reckless drivers—of ignorant youth taking the wheel for the first time —of the ticket-fixing racket that lets the guilty man with pull go free—of the callous indifference toward others that the speed maniac displays. Every one of the 48 states, every one of the thousands of villages and cities in the land, must give its energies to solving the traffic problem.

COURAGE

"The brave man is not he who feels no fear, for that were stupid and irrational; but he whose noble soul subdues its fear, and bravely dares the danger nature shrinks from."—Joanna Baillie.

"Physical courage which despises all danger will make a man brave in on way; and moral courage, which despises all opinion, will make a man brave in another. The former would seem most necessary for the camp; the latter for the council; but to constitute a great man both are necessary."—Colton.

"There is too much animal courage in society and not sufficient moral courage."—Mary Baker Eddy.

"No man can answer for his courage who has never been in danger."—Rochefoucauld.

"True courage is the result of reasoning. Resolution lies more in the head than in the veins; and a just sense of honor and of infamy, of duty and of religion, will carry us farther than all the force of mechanism."—Collier.

"Courage from hearts and not from members grow."—Rryden.

Lesson for December 4

THE SIN OF LYING

LESSON TEXT—Exodus 20:16; John 8:42-47; Ephesians 4:25.
GOLDEN TEXT—Behold, thou desirest truth in the inward parts.—Psalm 51:6.

Lesson subjects and Scripture texts selected and copyrighted by International Council of Religious Education; used by permission.

"God is truth. The word truth describes the very nature of God. Lying, therefore, reveals a character opposite from God. Satan is a liar. He was a liar from the beginning and is spiritually the father of all liars. A lie does not necessarily have to be an untruth. A statement of a truth may be a lie if its purpose is to deceive. A half truth may be the worst kind of a lie. Satan's lies . . . are usually mixed with truth." Consider "modernism, which has enough truth in it to make it accepted by thousands of people, but sufficient error to deprive it of any power to save souls" (L. D. Higley).

I. Forbidden to Lie (Exod. 20:16). This commandment specifically forbids perjury, which is one of the worst forms of lying, because it may result in the forfeiture of the very life of a fellow being. It is obvious, however, that it includes all forms of lying, whether in business, in social contacts, in the home, or in the church. We might do well to consider what the Bible has to say about whisperers, talebearers, backbiters, and others (see Lev. 19:6; II Cor. 12:20). A man's reputation may be as easily ruined by a whispered lie over the back fence or the luncheon table as by formal perjury in the courtroom. "Thou shalt not bear false witness" at any time, anywhere, or in any way.

II. Fountain of Lies (Matt. 15:19, 20).

Our constant concern for the body that it may be healthy, clean, and well groomed is commendable up to the point where it becomes an attempt to "glorify" the flesh. But after all, the body is not the most important thing. The heart is what makes a man (read Matt. 15:7-11). But what comes out of man's unregenerate heart? What a horrible catalogue we read in verse 19! It is not what a man eats or what he wears that makes him, but what is in his heart. How foolish then to hope to redeem humanity by improving housing, having better schools and bigger playgrounds. All these are desirable, but the one thing needful is that man's heart be washed in the blood of the Lord Jesus Christ, that he be born again.

III. Father of Lies (John 8:42-47).

Liars had better consider their "family tree" and see how they like their spiritual father. He is lustful, murderous, and there is no truth in him (v. 44). If you belong to that family would you not like to change families and be born into God's family.

As we have already suggested, the prize lie of Satan is modern religious liberalism. We quote again from Mr. Higley: "The first lie was told by Satan and it brought about the fall of the human race. The last lie . . . by Satan is being told even now . . . in the form of modernism, that makes the Church impotent even to save its own people." Let us have no part in putting forward this falsehood.

Note that in verses 45-47 Jesus challenges His enemies to convict Him of sin or of falsehood. No one has ever been able to meet that challenge. Even those who deny His Godhood and Saviourhood speak swelling words of commendation of His pure life and exalted moral teaching. If then He told the truth about other things, surely He spoke the truth about Himself. The claims He made for Himself as the Son of God and the Saviour of the world are plain and unmistakable. If we deny them we either make Jesus a liar, or we lie ourselves, and it is obvious that the latter is the case.

IV. Forsaking of Lies (Eph. 4:25).

"Wherefore" refers us back to the preceding verses where we are told how, as Christians, we have put off the life of the "old man" (v. 22) and put on the "new man"; therefore we are to live in true holiness. But evidently the Ephesian Christians still fell into their old heathen habits of lying. Would that the tendency had died out with the early Church, but as a matter of fact, it seems to have become aggravated as the years have come and gone.

Being in Christ—members of His body and thus united to one another in Him—should make us scrupulously truthful toward all men. Let us —which means you and me—scrutinize every relationship of life and be sure that we have not by word, act, or inference told lies. Think carefully of your family life, your church life, your community life. Deal with such practical things as grocery bills, taxes, tendencies to gossip. We preachers need to consider our sermons. Are they true to God's Word? Are they honestly prepared? Do we "stretch" our illustrations to make them effective? Surely all of us who bear the name of Christ must put away every form of falsehood.

Rankin, who adds that this is the best record in Metcalf county this year, and probably one of the best in the state.

WASHING SHIRTS

When washing men's shirts use a small brush and soap to scrub the neckbands and collars and cuffs, where the dirt forms a line. This is not hard on the shirts if your brush is not one with too stiff a bristle.

Officers Elected To Kentucky Merchants Association At Meeting

Members of the Kentucky Merchants Association, at their annual meeting November 22nd, at the Brown Hotel in Louisville, elected Frank J. Lanz, Elizabethtown clothing merchant, President, to succeed Jas. W. Smith, Campbellsville, who became Chairman of the Board of Directors.

Other officers elected were: First Vice-President, J. B. Miller, Williamstown; Treasurer, Shirley E. Haas, Louisville; Secretary, Uncas Peacock, Louisville; and Field Secretary, Mrs. Ruth Gilbert, Louisville. The latter three were re-elected.

Directors named for the 5th Congressional District are: B. H. Eilerman, Covington, V. P.; J. Robt. Coppin, Covington; Jos. Luhn Covington; Chas. Brandt, Newport; Milton Marx, Newport; C. F. Nagel, Ft. Thomas; E. M. Tiller, Carrollton; Paul Sidebottom, Williamstown; Geo. Held, Falmouth.

The directors voted unanimously to affiliate with the American Retail Federation, a national organization with headquarters in Washington, whose purpose is to coordinate the various branches of retailing and to serve them as a central clearing-house of facts, ideas, and attitudes toward public questions.

Shirley E. Haas, Treasurer of the Kentucky Merchants Association, addressed the meeting on the Federal Wage and Hour Law. Haas explained the provisions of the Act and brought out the fact that intrastate retailers are exempt from its provisions by two separate sections, the first of which states that the minimum wage and maximum hour provisions shall not apply to any employee employed in a "local retailing capacity," and the second that the minimum wage and maximum hour provisions shall not apply to "any employees engaged in any retail or service establishment, the greater part of whose selling or serving is in intrastate commerce."

R. P. McKim, a Director of the Association, in speaking to the merchants on the topic "Better Retailing," stressed particularly the importance of training employees to do their individual jobs more efficiently.

The annual meeting was attended by many members of the Kentucky Merchants Association, whose membership numbers several thousand merchants in every line of business from all sections of Kentucky.

Men of the Mounted

by Captain G. Elliott-Nightingale
Copyright, WNU

REDCOATS GUARDED TRAIL OF '98

VOLUMES have been written on what happened here and there during the Klondyke gold stampede, but very little has been said about the handful of Men of the Mounted who brought law and order and decency to many an outlaw camp. The first steps along the historically famous "Trail of '98" were taken two years before, in 1896, when Carmack's discovery just about electrified the whole world, and when thousands of men, and a few hundred women began converging upon the Yukon from all corners of the earth. Eighteen months after the Carmack discovery the population of Skagway had been increased by more than 30,000 newcomers, gold-seekers taking a breathing spell there before heading north into the Yukon goldfields.

The majority of the newcomers were Americans, and whatever they might have been before they hit Skagway, they cast off all desire for law and order. The decent law-abiding element, being in the minority, laid low, outfitted their two or four - man expeditions, and mushed silently away toward the Yukon, while the outlaw element hung around Skagway, living on their wits.

From Skagway, the rallying point, the stampeders, tugging and carrying their outfits, headed for Lake Bennet where they built their boats and pushed off to the north and into the Lewes river that flowed north through the rugged but rich Yukon goldfields. That is, they pushed north provided the two or three Men of the Mounted stationed on the sixtieth line of latitude were satisfied that the stampeders were properly outfitted, had sufficient food, and were not criminals or outlaws or bad characters. During the early days of the rush, the American stampeders kicked up quite a row because they were asked to pay customs and duties at Line 60 and they demanded to know what the Mounted were doing there, on American territory. Although the one hundred and forty-first parallel had not yet been decided upon as the dividing line between American Alaska, and British Canada, the Yukon territory, nevertheless, had been under the British or Canadian flag and government for some time. Most of the stampeders really thought they were heading for their own American Alaska, and it was quite a startling discovery for them to find the Northwest Mounted Police on guard on what the stampeders thought was American territory. When the vanguard of the '98 hegira were stopped by the Redcoats, there was, of course, considerable argument, a bit of nose punching, and a few shots exchanged. As the crowd grew larger, indignation meetings were inaugurated at which it was voted that the only way out was to tie the Northwest Mounted Police into a bundle and throw it into the lake or some roaring river. One group of foreign - speaking Americans (?) staged a bloody riot, then voted to gather the redcoats, place them aboard a barge or raft, and anchor said barge or raft in the middle of the lake. One Yank climbed to the top of his outfit and called for a thousand men to help him wipe the Mounted off the face of the earth forever. But, he shouted in vain, for in that mob were scalawags and cutthroats and criminals who, while they did as they pleased in Skagway, were now willing to impress the Redcoats that they were decent, law-abiding miners eminently qualified to take their places beside law-abiding Canadians. Reason was again enthroned as these wily lawbreakers did everything possible to appear to the best advantage to the half dozen men of the Northwest Mounted Police who, during all the rumpus and riot, had stuck to their post on the sixtieth line just a few yards away, watching and listening, and realizing, no doubt, that the several thousand stampeders could soon eliminate half a dozen redcoats if they ever set out to do it.

But, they never set out to do it. Those who came to destroy remained to childishly beg the Men of the Mounted to pass them through into the gold-filled Yukon territory. The human jackals and rascals that had terrorized Skagway, now turned into soft-spoken, well - mannered, sensible and very obedient children as they stood by to be examined by the Mounted. Thus it happens that thousands of bad characters who claim that they were in the Klondyke gold rush really never took one step past the half dozen redcoats that held the Chilcoot and White passes. Half a dozen against thousands. Truly the Redcoats were the Daniels in the lions' den in the Klondyke gold rush of 1898.

Long Run for Fire Department

One of the longest "runs" of fire apparatus on record occurred in February, 1904, when the New York fire department rushed nine engine companies and one hook-and-ladder company, on flatcars, to the great fire in Baltimore, a distance of 180 miles.

In wiring the house, a light at the head of the attic stars and at the foot of the basement stairs will be found of great convenience. Lights also should be provided for all bins and storage rooms in the basement.

HORSE DISEASE IN ADJOINING STATES

A disease among horses commonly known as sleeping sickness, which has been moving eastward across the United States, is now prevalent in Illinois and Missouri, according to information which the Horse and Mule Association of America sent to the Kentucky College of Agriculture.

The disease is thought to be spread principally by mosquitoes, although flies and other biting insects also probably carry it. Twenty-five to 30 percent of the afflicted horses have died in states where the disease is prevalent. The chief control to date consists of protecting horses from mosquitoes and flies by keeping them in the barn and spraying the animals and their quarters.

Symptoms of the disease are dullness, sluggishness and drowsiness, with the eyes tending to close. The animal also shows inability to control its legs, and stumbles about as though blind. It may try to sit down, carrying most of its weight on the hind legs.

Horse owners are advised to call a veterinarian, if these symptoms are observed. Until the veterinarian arrives, give the animal cool, fresh water. Get the horse in the shade, in a stall or pen where it cannot hurt itself after it gets down. Feed little grain, but instead green corn stalks, cut fresh at each feeding, with the ears removed.

Since paralysis of the throat often follows in 24 to 36 hours, it is important to have the animal drink as much water as possible before it becomes unable to swallow.

What's the Answer?

By EDWARD FINCH

WHAT ARE DREAMS AND WHY DO WE DREAM THEM?

DREAMS are the means by which Nature insures to us the rest which we should otherwise lose did we not dream. When the entire brain is unconscious during sleep we do not dream. But when a portion of it is awake and some force from the conscious penetrates to it, a dream is set into motion. For instance, we are asleep in a hammock on a hot day. The sun creeps on us and the heat of it causes that portion of our brain which is not entirely asleep to start dreaming that we are on a hot dry desert. The glare of the sun becomes the bright blinding glare of the desert. Were the dream not set into motion, the sun would awaken us.

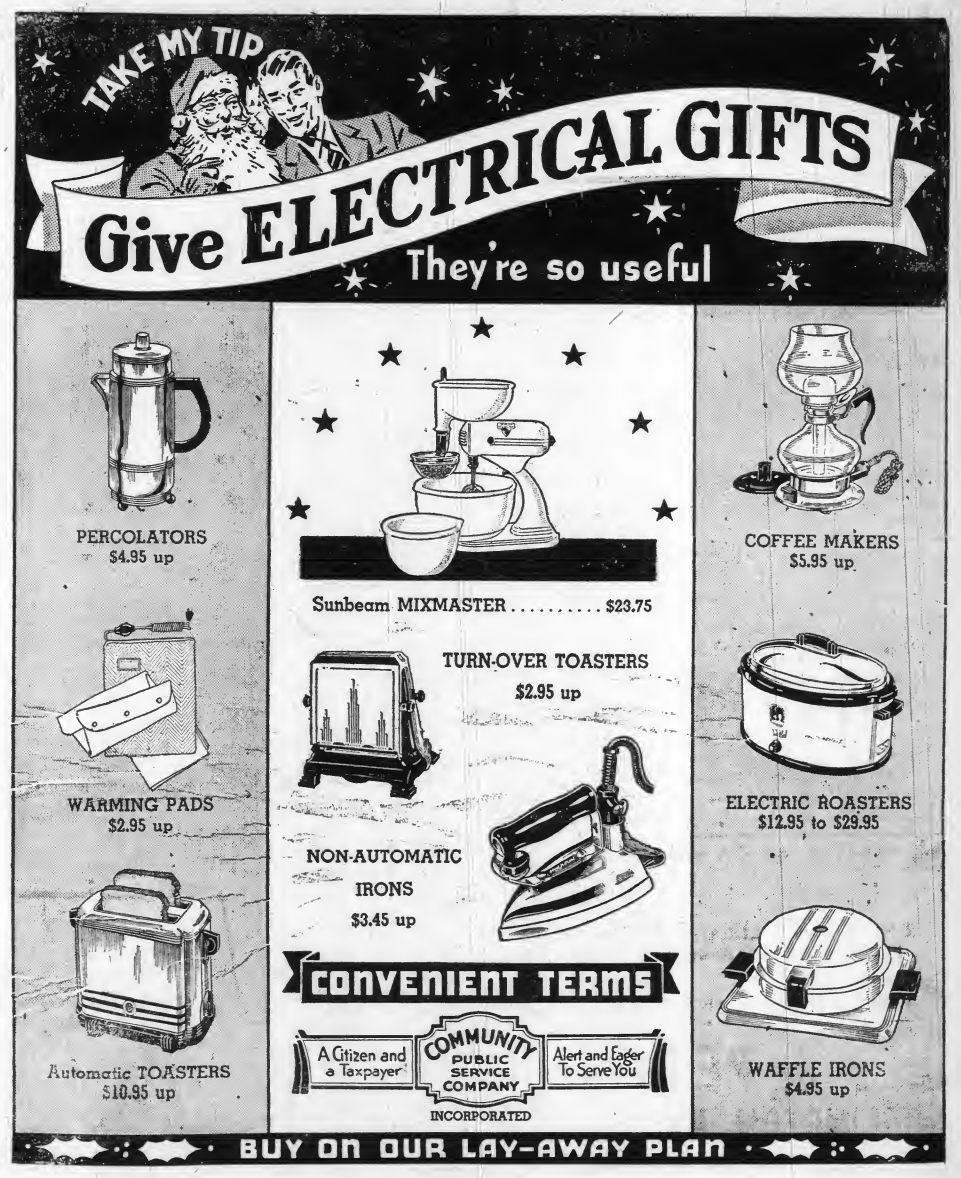
STATE FRUIT MEN MEET IN JANUARY

The annual winter meeting of the Kentucky State Horticultural Society, with the College of Agriculture cooperating, will be held during the Farm and Home Convention the last week in January. The fruit growers usually meet in December.

The April freezes played havoc with Kentucky's fruit crop this year, but W. W. Magill, field agent for the College of Agriculture, said budding indicated a good crop next year, if spring frosts are not too severe.

It remains for us to discover that a boy knows he is growup when he can put on long pants, but how is a girl going to tell when she's grown up since all skirts remain the same length?"

Just because your congressman declares he is going to do something is no sign that he isn't going to do it.



Do you ever stop to wonder what became of the old-fashioned girl who used to carry a button-hook in her shoe?

GIFT SUGGESTIONS

A few suggestions for easily made gifts. There are many simple cross-stitch patterns of border designs. Transfer a strip across one edge of a pillowcase and the top of a bed sheet. Embroider in two shades of blue, green or lavendar, which will make a gift outfit to delight any woman . . . The lovely colors available in the double-fold bias binding added to towels and washcloths in the way of monograms are additions to any bathroom's appearance. Or for those particular people, embroider the words "His" and "Hers" on a pair of towels . . . Quilted on the sewing machine, a large sewing bag of gayly colored chintz is useful as well as charming . . . A bath mat of quilted table padding cut oval shape and bound with bias-binding, then decorated by appliquing percale designs will gladden some heart, and if you care to make a seat cover it will make a pleasing outfit . . . Make a breakfast table cover of a small patterned yet colorful print and napkins of plain colors to be found in the cloth. It is new to have each napkin a different color.

KENTUCKY GIRLS TO SHOW CHICAGO KIWANIANS HOW TO MAKE BUTTONS

So clever are two Kentucky 4-H club girls in making buttons from wood and nut hulls, that they have been invited to give their demonstration before the Chicago Kiwanis club Nov. 29, while attending the National 4-H Congress and International Live Stock Exposition. The girls are Miss Juanita Britt and Miss Louise Crump of Warren county. Their button making won them the Kentucky championship in 4-H club clothing demonstration.

Fri. and Sat.—"Border G Man
Sun. and Mon.—"Campus Confessions."
Tuesday—"Army Girl"
Wed. and Thurs. Dec. 7 and 8th—"Marie Antionette"

What might be aptly termed as a "streamline western" is George O'Brien's newest outdoor drama, "Border G-Man," coming to the Gayety Friday and Saturday.

The story is ultra modern and involves the recent Neutrality Act, while the unique background is laid on the gulf coast of Texas where fast smuggling ships, machine guns, short wave radio and other modern devices have their place in the thrilling plot. Laraine Johnson and Ray Whitley are featured in this RKO Radio Picture.

One of the greatest basketball aces in collegiate history, Hank Luisetti, makes his motion picture debut when Paramount's "Campus Confessions" will be shown at the Gayety Sunday and Monday. Luisetti was born in San Francisco and made his mark on the athletic field when he captained his high school basketball team for two years. After that he studied at Stanford University and starred on the basketball teams that won three coast conference championships. The only games he ever lost were two in his frosh year. In "Campus Confessions" Luisetti is seen with an all-star collegiate cast which includes Betty Grable, William Henry, Eleanore Whitney and Friz Feld.

One of the largest motion picture "locations" that has been held in recent months took place at Lone Pine, California, during production of the Republic Picture "Army Girl," which will be shown at the Gayety Tuesday.

This spectacular film, starring Madge Evans and Preston Foster, has a background of an army post, situated near the Mexican border. A complete calvary unit plus a large tank corps, play an important part in the story.

"Army Girl" promises to be one of the year's outstanding pictures. In addition to the stars—Miss Evans and Foster—the film has an excellent supporting cast.

Marie Antionette was a very human person. Her virtues and faults were no different from those of any modern woman. It was this discovery that first interested me in playing the last Queen of France on the screen.

Marie Antionette was outspokenly frank and impatient of ceremony. She never could hide her feelings. Hating her royal robes and ornaments, she exclaimed when freed from them, "Thank heaven I'm out of harness!" That sounds most 1938!

This splendid picture will be shown at the Gayety Theatre, Wednesday and Thursday, December 7th and 8th.

WORD PICTURE TO BE RELEASED ON PUBLIC HEALTH SERVICE

A comprehensive word picture of medical aid and public health service in Kentucky from 1745 to the present time is being compiled by the State-wide Medical History research, one of the many divisions of the Works Progress Administration, Sam M. Hubley, State Supervisor, reports with release of a periodical statement to all State newspapers.

Sponsored by the State Board of Health and now in its twelfth month, this project is housed in the State Board of Health Building on Third near Chestnut Street in Louisville. In addition to the office personnel there are thirty-seven counties, and they have supplied data sufficient to be put into 3,000,000 words spread over more than 10,000 typed pages of bond paper.

Sources of information have been the libraries of the various colleges, universities, hospitals, newspapers, medical and dental societies and social hygiene groups, and from personal interviews with physicians and surgeons, hospital executives, supervising nurses, clinic heads and informed individuals in a carefully checked research into a profession that has played an all-important part in the molding and progress of a great state.

When completed this material will be published in book form. A complete file also will be preserved on shelves of the board's library for reference work by medical students and others interested in the subject.

BUY SURPLUS SWEET POTATOES

The Federal Surplus Commodities Corporation, operating with Paducah as headquarters, purchased 20,000 bushels of surplus sweet potatoes grown in the Purchase region of Kentucky. Growers netted 33½ cents a bushel. Increased acreage and a favorable growing season gave Western Kentucky a large crop of sweet potatoes.

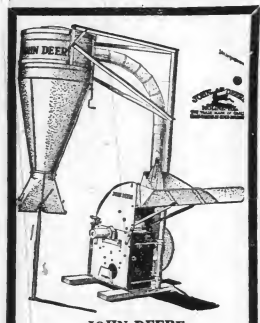
The death angel visited our county and took from us a loving friend, Mr. Lige Williamson, who passed away Nov. 14th. "Uncle Lige" as he was known by his friends made his home with his brother, Boone Williamson for the past several years. He leaves several brothers and a host of other relatives and friends. Uncle Lige was laid to rest in the Belleview cemetery Nov. 15th. The family has our sympathy in their hour of sadness.



Mr. and Mrs. Ray Smith had supper with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Smith Wednesday night.

The Death Angel visited our county again and took one of our loving friends, Walter Rector, who passed away November 23. Mr. Rector had been in ill health for several years, but just a few days ago was confined to his bed. He leaves to mourn his passing, a loving wife, Mrs. Birdie Rector, two sons and two daughters and a host of relatives and friends. He will be sadly missed by his loved ones and friends. Funeral services were held at Belleview, with burial in the Petersburg cemetery. The family has our sympathy.

We have often observed that the bigger a man's bank roll the tighter he keeps the rubber band around it.

What used to be called the "silent vote" now appears to have a feminine voice.

WEAK FEET AFFECT BODY

by N. TULCH
Foot Comfort Specialist
AT PEOPLES' FOOT COMFORT
(SHOE STORE) COVINGTON

When feet are permitted to pronate inwardly, the bony structure of the foot goes down, shutting off the nerve and blood supply in the bottom of the foot. When you cramp or choke the blood stream and slow up circulation, there is a lack of bone repair; chemical deposits, or waste matter form at the joints. Next inflammation sets in at these joints causing pain. That inflammation is often mistaken for rheumatism, arthritis and many other ailments. Also when you cramp the blood supply you shut off the food supply to the nerves.

When nerves are impoverished, muscle tone is imaired because sensory nerves indirectly control motor nerves which in turn control the muscles. When muscles in the feet have lost their tonicity due to impoverishment of the nerves, feet are no longer subconsciously held in normal position.

Surgical shoes give support to the vital arches in the feet releasing cramped nerves and blood vessels to promote better circulation. Gradually as circulation improves, muscles grow strong and regain their tonicity.

With foot health improved the person feels better all over. Research has shown that no less than eighty-seven diseases are indirectly caused by bad feet.

Don't take chances with your health, hapiness and peace of mind. With foot comfort you'll live longer and feel better.—Adv.

CAPITOL COMMENTS

By David M. Porter

In a formal Thanksgiving Proclamation, Governor Chandler expressed the hope that Christian Principals and Brotherly Love would spread more widely over the world.

"Our people, shocked by the greed and heartlessness manifested in some sections of Europe and the Orient, approach another Thanksgiving season with grateful hearts that in America at least we have not adopted the slogan of the Dark Ages:

"'Let him take who has the power,

"'And let him keep who can.'

"The picture of a people driven from their homes by a merciless invader or harassed and robbed of their possessions for no excuse except their race saddens our hearts and causes us to add to our prayer of Thanksgiving an appeal to the Almighty that the principles of Christianity and brotherly love may have a wider acceptance among the people of the earth."

Former Commissioner of Welfare Mr. Wallis, issued a statement last week, in Louisville, he was discharged by the Governor over a conflict in the appointing of state institution executives. He said modern institutions without the proper personnel, were only an empty shell. Governor Chandler, in his speech at Louisville, stated, as Governor of the Commonwealth he was alone responsible to the people and as he was not an aspirant to any political office, politics did not hinder him from doing what he thought best for the state and its institutions. For that reason he had discharged Mr. Wallis because he would not cooperate with him.

While this was taking place, Circuit Judge King Swope, of Lexington, was calling for a grand jury investigation of charges "revolting in nature and comprehensive in form," which has arisen out of conditions at the Eastern State Hospital for the Insane, at Lexington. The charges grew out of an article in a Lexington paper written by a reporter and illustrated with photographs, telling and showing cruel and inhuman unsanitary conditions at the hospital.

All this may be changed now that Dr. Floyd K. Foley, senior physician at the United States Veteran Hospital, near Lexington, has accepted the appointment as superintendent at the hospital, with the assurance politics would not interfere with his administration of affairs.

The Kentucky State Employment benefit fund now stands at $18,136,441 and will reach $20,000,000 before January 1st, when payments start. The fund, made up from contributions from employers and employees, is to provide payments to unemployed persons qualified to receive benefits. Mr. Barnes said a total of $331,927.90 had accured on the fund since deposits started in 1936.

Random Shots

In a statement issued from Washington, Harry Hopkins, Works Progress Administrator, stated that in the fiscal year, which ended June 30th, 1938, approximately 60,000 Federal employes on projects using emergency relief funds, received $16,544,782 and averaged 29.8 cents a working hour.

Governor A. B. Chandler will head a delegation to a World Premiere of a technicolor film, "Kentucky," early in December. The film was made in Kentucky.

Jim Farley, Chairman of the Democratic National Committee, invited the Governor to New York to discuss party matters in the coming Jackson Day Campaign. Mrs. Sam Conner, of Bardstown, Democratic National Committee-Woman from Kentucky, and Robert Humphreys, Chairman of the Kentucky Democratic Central Executive Committee, have also been invited to discuss matters in New York on Monday.

The national elections in November showed a trend toward Conservativeism, that was a political barometer of public opinion. The results of it has changed party lines and party policies.

Governor A. B. Chandler's campaign against Senator Alben Barkley, attracted intense National interest and was much publicised in National publications. His platform for the campaign was, among other things, a balancing of the national budget, less federal spending, and some planned payment on the national debt. Although he was defeated in his campaign, candidates with similar platforms led winning tickets in other states.

In 1936, when President Roosevelt came to Kentucky, we rode with him on his train to Elizabethtown and back to Louisville. Chandler had a long conference with the President then and it was rumored, all through the train, he would be "built up" nationally with a speaking campaign thru thirty states, and would be nominated as Vice President in 1940.

The rest is history, his reduction of the State debt, his campaign of conservativeism against New Dealer Barkley, and the trend of the elections over the nation.

Last week Postmaster General Farley called Chandler to New York for a conference and rumor has it, that the Democratic party, i. e., Farley and Roosevelt, may court this conservative element with Chandler on the 1940 ticket as Vice President and the ticket be Harry Hopkins and Chandler.

Michael Brennan died last week in Louisville, a powerful political leader of the Democrats in Louisville. He was a benevolent old time type, of Irish gentleman and politician. His loss will be mourned throughout the State.

KENTUCKY FARM NEWS

"Better Diet—Better Health!" Adopting that as a slogan, Anderson county homemakers have used more fruits on the daily menu, more milk, cream and butter, salads frequently, less fried foods. Within a year they expect to see better health throughout the county.

The value of a cover crop having been proved in previous years, Daviess county farmers have spread limestone on land and planted rye grass extensively. Dealers report that sales have increased constantly during the past five years.

Pikeville business men cooperated in making the annual harvest festival a success by donating $200 as prize money. Every 4-H club that had an exhibit received $5 and the general excellence of exhibits counted most in grand prize awards.

Four-H club members in Fulton and Hickman counties have formed an organization to sponsor the use of purebred gilts. They feel that they are more economical in the long run in hog production. Gilts bred now will have litters that can be fattened for the annual show and sale.

Diversification is the watchword of Crit Willis, of Grayson county, apparently. He has sowed 28 acres of beardless barley, 17 acres of rye of the Balboa variety and 5 acres of the Abruzzia kind, 13 acres of wheat, and 12 acres of winter turf oats for his cover crops.

Seeing large profits in properly managed poultry flocks, Floyd county farmers have built new, roomy houses and started the fall season with well-developed pullets that are fed carefully balanced rations.

MEADE GIRL QUEEN

Miss Mildred Brown, of Brandenburg, a senior student in home economics, was crowned queen of the annual fall festival of the College of Agriculture of the University of Kentucky. Farm and home exhibits at the International Live Stock Exposition, and pledging to college organizations were other features of the festival.

TREATMENT SAVES CURTAINS

To save curtains, draperies and other household fabrics from the deteriorating effects of gases coming from stoves in winter, dip or spray the fabrics with a solution of 7 ounces of borax and 3 ounces of boric acid dissolved in 2 quarts of water. Sulphur in illuminating gas and in gases from coal-burning stoves and furnaces is destructive to curtains and other fabrics, says the U. S. department of agriculture, in offering this treatment.

IMPROVEMENT DRIVE FOR PERRY COUNTY

Applying 10 carloads of phosphate last year and 10 carloads of limestone this year, in preparation for the use of 102,000 pounds of grass seed this year, Perry county farmers in Kentucky now are engaged in a campaign to improve livestock, according to County Agent Allington Crace.

Orchard grass, timothy, alsike and crimson clover and Italian rye grass were sown this year on more than 1,000 farms. Now farmers want stock to eat the grass and hay. Twelve Milking Shorthorn bulls have been taken into the county to cross on native cows, and farmers are looking for more breeding stock.

Prices of milk, butter and other dairy products are good and milk is being shipped long distances to supply the Perry county demand. Egg and poultry prices also are good according to the county agent, and many farmers received $100 to $300 a year from their flocks. One farm has cleared more than $500 a year for several years from chickens.

Cooperating in a program to encourage fruit growing, the newspaper, The Hazard Plaindealer, gave 200 strawberry plants to each of 200 4-H club boys and girls.

HOME BUTCHERING EQUIPMENT PLANS

The College of Agriculture of the University of Kentucky is distributing plans for building home butchering equipment on the farm which will make butchering easier and more efficient. The equipment is not elaborate or expensive, and can be made by farmers from materials probably to be found right on the farm. While designed for butchering hogs the equipment could be used in killing either cattle or sheep. The plans can be had from county agents or by writing to the College of Agriculture at Lexington.

ANOTHER CARLOAD AWARD TO GARRARD COUNTY 4-H CLUB

For the 14th time in 17 years, the Garrard county 4-H club had the grand champion carload of baby beeves at the annual fat cattle show at the Bourbon Stock Yards in Louisville. Fifteen Angus calves, pronounced among the best ever shown in Louisville, were in the carload.

Nelson White, of the Future Farmers of America chapter at the Clark county high school at Winchester, captured the grand championship on single calves. Nelson is a brother of Jack White, who won the top prize at last year's show, and his calf was a half-brother of the 1937 grand champion.

At the sale after the show, the grand champion calf brought $1 a pound and the top carload from Garrard county sold for 16¾ cents. The reserve grand champion calf, shown by Kenton Ross of Garrard county, sold for 34 cents a pound.

The show this year attracted about 750 calves, including 43 carloads, finished by 4-H club members in 38 counties; 225 head finished by the Future Farmers of America at 12 schools, and several hundred head of cattle fed by farmers in Kentucky and Tennessee.

Prizes awarded at the show included three trips to Chicago to 4-H club members owning the best Angus, Hereford and Shorthorn calves in that division. Winners were Wesley Townsend, Harrison county; Junior Rector, Wayne county, and Polly Cocanougher, of Washington county.

PICKED UP HERE AND THERE

Lots of fathers and mothers would take an optimistic view of the rising generation if they didn't have a few members of it in their own family to worry over.

The world would be better if the high speed at which we travel was matched by the importance of what we do after we get there.

It is has been noticed frequently, that about the time a man is fixed for life he has worked and worried himself to death.

A jack is that bit of notched gadget that lies on the floor of your garage when your tire is flat ten miles from town.

Many can remember when the parents who worried until their children were all in bed could at least rest peacefully from twelve o'clock on.

Some men never hunt for rheumatism cure because they don' want to lose their best weather indictator.

ANOTHER SPORTS EVENT

Football can have its Saturdays, but corn-husking comes in for its day. Without the rah-rahs of school cheers and songs for Alma Mater, minus the band music and colorful uniforms, the cheer-leaders and swinging batons, we received this past week a stirring recital of the national corn-husking contest. The fact that it lacked the frenzied shouts and hoarse voices of a filled stadium did not mean a lack of interest and participation by thousands of folk from near and far. This is the fifteenth annual contest and was enacted before thousands of corn-husking fans. The entrant in what has been termed the nation's most grueling sports event, requires training, strength and technique to play the game. He is not permitted to be a professional but must play the game as an amateur. The time of year is apt to bring unseasonable weather but the corn-husker strips his ears of corn wet or dry field. The husking takes 80 minutes of non-stop work and for those not fortunate enough to view the scene a microphone is placed within range of the activity where it is possible to hear the ears pound against the wagon bang-boards as the husker works his way down the rows. As you listened to the thump and bang as the ears were thrown into the wagons, the shouts of the people to their favorite husker, you thought that the next best thing to seeing it was to hear it described so vividly. The sports of America may be criticised, and often rightly, for being crooked and yellow, but America can't be all wrong when she enjoys such a clean and wholesome contest as staged by these corn-huskers. "Keep 'em in the air, boys."

THE FARM AND HOME

Manure spread on bare land soon loses much of its nitrogen, which is carried through the soil in time of heavy rain. The best practice is to disk or plow under manure soon after it is spread, unless there is some kind of growth on the land.

Apples, potatoes and some other vegetables may be stored in barrels set in the ground. The barrel should be placed only in a well-drained location. Cinders or crushed rock beneath the barrel improves drainage. Cover with a sack of leaves or litter and boards.

Cheese is a rich source of lime, being a concentrated form of milk, and should be used freely for the well-being of teeth and bones. It also furnishes muscle and body building materials. It can be used in salads, sandwiches, scalloped dishes and many other attractive ways.

In painting the pitchen, a semi-gloss finish is preferable to a glossy surface because the latter is hard on the eyes. A coat of clear, water-proof varnish makes a flat finish easier to clean. Only paint and enamel of good quality are satisfactory.

It is good business to sell only clean eggs. A clean cloth moistened with vinegar will remove small dirt spots. Very dirty eggs should be used at home, or washed in clean, cool water before taking to town. Dry well before packing.

Tyneside "ghost station" at Felling, England, on an abandoned railway line is to be preserved as a relic of the days when engineers wore top hats and passengers rode in open trucks.

A man finds one disadvantage about going into a movie show after it starts is that you are apt to feel around in the dark for a seat and get hold of a pair of indignant knees.

You Needn't Return Social Favors in Kind

DEAR Mrs. Post: Within the past few months I have been invited by the same person to a tea, a bridge luncheon and to several big buffet parties. All these parties have been very grand. I can not make a return that in any way is proportionate to my obligations. The only thing I can do is ask several people at one time or ask this hostess to the theater perhaps, although she is not an intimate friend and these invitations of mine are necessarily so personal. What would you suggest?

Answer: All hostesses who entertain constantly invite those whom they like and who help to make their parties successful either by being very ornamental or amusing, or in any case friend-making. If you can find out the date of her birthday or their wedding anniversary, or other special occasion to her, or if not, then merely any special day on the calendar—for instance, Valentine's day—send her a present of flowers or a plant.

• • •

Flower for Groom

DEAR Mrs. Post: I am giving a party for a young bride and groom, and am sending the girl a corsage to wear at the party. Do men wear boutonnieres on such occasions and do you think it would be nice for me to send the groom something too for his lapel?

Answer: It would be very nice to send him a flower to match hers, or else a white or red carnation.

Wearing Diamonds

DEAR Mrs. Post: My husband has given me a diamond bracelet, which is simple in design but very beautiful. What I would like to know is on what occasions is it suitable for me to wear this bracelet. My husband would like me to wear it even to church, while I feel that perhaps it is intended only to ornament evening clothes, which unfortunately I seldom wear.

Answer: Again the vagaries of fashion! At the present moment those who have diamond bracelets wear them at practically all times, although the ones that are broad and composed of big stones are really only suitable on formal occasions, either in the afternoon or evening.

KENTUCKY FARM NEWS

A cannery established at Cloverport to give farmers an extra crop and to provide work for local persons received 41 tons of tomatoes in one day, according to County Agent Will B. Ray. A large number of farmers in Breckinridge and adjoining counties grew tomatoes on a commercial scale this year.

A litter of eight pigs which weighed 1,820 pounds when 5½ months old returned Leonard Rush of Metcalfe county $1 a bushel for the grain fed. Clover and lespedeza pasture reduced the cost of grains. Corn, wheat and tankage were fed.

More than 100 Lincoln county farmers will use tobacco presses this season. A simple hand press is made from plans furnished by County Agent John R. Killinger. Many farmers will press tobacco for the first time.

A high-grade sow owned by Jack Darnall, of Benton, gave birth recently to 18 pigs. This is the sow's third litter and the largest. All of the pigs lived except one that had to be killed because it was injured by the mother.

Injection for Hernia

By DR. JAMES W. BARTON

© Bell Syndicate.—WNU Service.

I BELIEVE I am safe in saying that practically every physician has among his patients one or more who have a hernia or rupture requiring treatment who, for various reasons, will not submit to operation.

It is only natural, therefore, when they read and hear of cases of hernia cured by the injection method which means just a few visits to the surgeon's office, that they feel willing to undergo this simple method of getting their rupture cured.

Dr. Barton

Much to their surprise and disappointment in consulting a surgeon they are informed that their particular case is not suitable for the injection method; that only a surgical operation will correct the condition. Unfortunately the majority of the medical profession were opposed to this "new" method at first and rightly so as all types of hernia were being treated with many failures. These failures were due to not selecting the cases suitable for this method and to the use of some sclerosing or "hardening" fluids which failed to work properly.

Cases Must Be Selected.

It is fortunate just at this time that a general survey of the results of the injection treatment throughout this and other countries has been made by Dr. Nathan N. Crohn, Chicago, as reported in the Journal of the American Medical Association. The records show that the cures by this method were as high as 98 per cent in 15,000 cases in one European report;

After discussing various methods and various sclerosing or hardening material to form scar tissue, Dr. Crohn concludes:

"The hernia cases for injection must be suitably selected. The tissue surrounding the hernia must be strong and elastic (not too flabby or worn too thin by a truss).

"A large number of patients who reject surgery and who would otherwise go untreated except perhaps for a truss, will submit to the injection treatment. In proper hands, in carefully selected cases, the method is valuable; abuse is extremely easy and can cause general condemnation."

Posture and Overweight.

Most physicians are of the opinion that there are just two types of overweight, (a) those whose overweight comes from outside themselves—eating more food than their body needs or uses, and (b) those whose glands do not manufacture enough juice (thyroid and pituitary gland). Then the two kinds of gland overweight differ from one another in that those whose overweight is due to lack of juice from the thyroid gland are fat all over the body, and those with lack of pituitary juice have their excess fat across shoulders, abdomen, breasts and hips, and no excess fat on forearms or lower legs.

However, Drs. W. J. Kerr and J. B. Lagen, San Francisco, in Annals of Internal Medicine, Lancaster, Pa., discuss a type of overweight that appears to be not due to any lack of gland juice but which arises in persons who not only eat more than their daily requirements, "but whose posture (position of the body when sitting or standing) is relaxed or careless. It is not easy to determine whether individuals with the relaxed habit of standing or sitting are predisposed to the train of events which follow, but it is apparent that, when medical aid is sought, these patients present the posture of relaxation. The gradual accumulation of fat tissue in the normal or usual places where fat gets deposited (abdomen—inside and outside—hips) gives the appearance of rotundity or 'roundness' which is called corpulence."

Drs. Kerr and Lagen tell us that between the ages of forty and fifty is where these overweights can do something for themselves by proper exercise and diet. They can actually "delay" the heavy and "old" appearance caused by overweight by eating less food and taking more exercise.

If they really want to postpone old age, want to give heart and lungs plenty of room, allow the floor of the chest to come down farther and get more air into the lungs, they must always sit and stand as tall as possible, take regular exercise, and eat less food. And as most of them would find this a terrible task, at first, anyway, Drs. Kerr and Lagen made this suggestion: "Treatment requires temporary support for the pendulous or low hanging abdomen, and assistance in emptying the lungs of used air which should leave the lungs. A belt—an abdominal belt—gives this support and aids the lungs in breathing out the used air. The weight should be 'gradually' reduced to bring the normal curves back in the spine."

BOND $2500 FOR PETERSBURG MAN

CHARGED WITH HOUSEBREAKING—ARRESTED IN HOME OF PETERSBURG MAN ON WEDNESDAY NIGHT.

Emerson Rogers, 25, of Petersburg was arrested Wednesday night by Sheriff F. M. Walton and Deputy Jake Williams, on a charge of house breaking.

Hogan Ryle, who was passing by the home of Berkshire, discovered a light flashing inside the building. He was aware that the Berkshires were visiting in North Carolina, and immediately called the sheriff. Several citizens of Petersburg surrounded the house in order to keep the intruder from escaping.

Sheriffs searched the downstairs of the residence, which revealed that Rogers had prepared a meal in the kitchen. Sheriffs Walton and Williams found Rogers under a bed on the second floor.

After searching Rogers, officials stated that only a flashlight, a key and other small articles were found. A search of the room where he was hidden revealed that several items had been left under the bed.

A key which was found in Rogers' possession was identified by Jack Berkshire, and was said to fit the front door of his residence.

Rogers was returned to Burlington and was placed under $2500 bond, which he failed to execute, and will be held for grand jury action which will convene next Monday.

Monday afternoon Emmett Riddell, of the Constance neighborhood identified a grey jacket which Rogers was wearing at the time of his arrest, as the same stolen from his truck sometime ago. He also stated that at the time his jacket was stolen, an attempt was made to steal his truck.

WEED MARKET OPENED MONDAY

AT SLIGHTLY LOWER PRICES THAN OPENING YEAR AGO—LOCAL MAN HAS FIRST BASKET TO SELL IN COVINGTON.

The Lexington tobacco market opened Monday with prices below the 1937-38 average by 48 cents per hundred. Seven of the warehouses in Lexington sold 958,868 pounds at an average of $21.95. Last year's average for the opening day was $22.43.

The Covington sales opened Tuesday with more than 140,000 pounds on the floor. Rome Kinman, veteran auctioneer opened the sale shortly before 10:00 a. m.

C. D. Hedges of this county had the honor of selling the first basket of leaf which sold at $27 a hundred pounds and was of high quality. Prices for the first hour were high on the Covington market, and few fell below $18 or $20.

The high basket for the day was $31 and the low was $4. The Covington market sold 115,448 pounds at an average of $21.72 per hundred.

Selling on the Maysville market was suspended Tuesday when farmers staged a noisy demonstration against low bid prices and withdrew their tobacco from the market.

Sales had progressed to the fourth warehouse, with bid prices ranging from $6 to $30, when the farmers began their demonstration.

Prices bid for burley on the opening day of the Maysville market last year ranged from $1 to $42 with the average being $23.46.

Agricultural Adjustment Administration officials who visited several of the tobacco sales stated that the leaf offered for sale on the opening day of last year was of higher quality than the leaf offered on the opening day this year.

R. G. Kinman Begins 20th Year As Auctioneer

R. G. Kinman, well known tobacco auctioneer and realtor of Elsmere entered his 20th year last Tuesday as a tobacco auctioneer at Kenton Loose Leaf Tobacco Warehouse.

Mr. Kinman is well known in this county as one of Northern Kentucky's leading realtors, and is widely known in many states as the world's fastest tobacco auctioneer, holding a record of 676 baskets per hour for nearly six hours when he was pushing the weed over the breaks at the Horse Cave burley market.

Mr. Kinman has not missed a season as auctioneer since he was 17, now being 37. He is in the best of condition, which was noted at the opening sale Tuesday.

He has been employed by the Kenton Loose Leaf Tobacco Warehouse, of Covington for the past four years. Previous to that time he held the position as auctioneer on the Horse Cave market. He has served at numerous southern markets in the burley belt.

Mr. Kinman is a native of Grant County, and his first sale was cried at the old tobacco warehouse in Williamstown twenty years ago. Since that time he has gone far in the auctioneering field, and was at one time a member of the faculty of the Reppert School of auctioneering, located in Indiana.

WALTON LEADS HOOP LEAGUE

WITH NO DEFEATS THIS SEASON—BURLINGTON DEFEATED IN TWO GAMES OVER WEEK-END.

The Walton high school basketball team continues to lead the Boone County League with no defeats chalked up against them this season. Friday night the Walton five trounced Hamilton by a 26 to 15 count. McClure led the scoring for the winners, with a total of 12 points. Miller was high for Hamilton with six points.

Burlington entertained Dixie Heights Friday night and were defeated by a count of 48 to 19. Porter and Rouse hit the hoop for four points each in this game.

On Saturday night the Burlington boys were defeated by the New Haven hoopsters by a 32 to 16 count.

The Florence Knights were hosts to the Lloyd Juggernauts of Erlanger Friday night. The Knights went down by a top-heavy score of 40 to 21. Florence held the lead at the half 16 to 11. However, the second half was different with the Lloyd basketeers hitting the hoop time after time, to claim the contest.

Hebron won their first game of the season Friday night by defeating Beechwood 20 to 13. The Hebron reserves also won their game by defeating the visiting reserves 12 to 11.

Huey, Hebron guard was high point man with 11 points, and Lumsden was best for Beechwood, with three.

The Walton Bearcats defeated the Florence Knights 29 to 10, for their fourth Boone County conference win Tuesday night.

The Bearcats took an early lead and maintained it throughout the game.

Hebron went down to defeat last Tuesday night at the hands of the Ludlow High Panthers by a count of 28 to 26 in a hard-fought game on the Ludlow hardwood.

The score at the half was 15 to 14 in favor of Ludlow. Huey was high point man for Hebron with 8 points.

Lillard Scott, popular McVille landowner, was a brief caller at The Recorder office Saturday. Mr. Scott reported that he was feeling much improved.

Gayety Theater News

Fri. and Sat.—"Speed to Burn" Hickok"
Sun. and Mon.—"Mother Carey's Chickens"
Tuesday. Wed. & Thursday, Dec. 13, 14, 15—"Alexander's Ragtime Band"

There's no such thing as a "cinch" bet, ruefully declares screen actor Michael Whalen, and it cost him five dollars to make the discovery.

While on location at Santa Anita racetrack for scenes in "Speed To Burn" 20th Century-Fox film to be shown at the Gayety Theatre, Friday and Saturday, Whalen noted that the horse War Paint was scheduled to win the race in an exciting sequence of the film.

Kidding, he offered to bet five dollars on the nose and Lynn Barl grabbed his offer.

When his horse won, according to the script, "Mike" tried to collect the bet from his leading lady.

"You haven't won yet," she stalled. Turning to Director Otto Brower she asked, "How was it?"

"He went by too close to the camera," he replied, "so I'll have to disqualify him!"

Fresh from his recent success in Ginger Rogers' "Vivacious Lady," James Ellison is currently cast in the top masculine role in "Mother Carey's Chickens."

Ellison shares leading honors with Anne Shirley and Ruby Keeler in this RKO Radio filmization of the famous classic by Kate Douglas Wiggin. He is ideally cast as the youthful school-teacher with whom both girls fall in love although he himself loves but one.

The husky, six-foot actor leaped to film prominence in the role of Buffalo Bill in "The Plainman," which was followed by several Hopalong Cassidy western dramas, in which he portrayed the romantic leads.

Fay Bainter as Mother Carey, Walter Brennan, Ralph Morgan, Frank Albertson, Jackie Morgan, Frank Albertson, Jackie Moran and Donnie Dunagan fill other important roles in "Mother Carey's Chicken.s" an RKO Radio Picture.

The international success of the first syncopated dance hit, "Alexander's Ragtime Band," won Irving Berlin, its composer, a contract to appear in person at the London Hippodrome. He put up at the Savoy Manor apartment house in the British metropolis.

Rehearsal of his act showed the American songwriter the necessity of an additional piece of new music to get it under way and so he sat the piano until very late each night. Other tenants raised such a fuss that the management requested Berlin to stay away from his instrument so other people could sleep.

Berlin stuffed his piano with towels and rags to soften the notes and make them inaudible outside his apartment. It was in this manner that he composed "International Rag" which became an instantaneous hit.

Twenty-six of Irving Berlin's matchless melodies, as well as two additional new tunes, provide the score of the 20th Century-Fox spectacular dramatic - romance "Alexander's Ragtime Bad" which will be shown at the Gayety Theater, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, Dec. 13, 14, and 15th.

Tyrone Power, Alice Faye and Don Ameche portray the principal roles in the stirring romance that takes place against the background of America's most turbuyears—our times.

L. C. Beemon, of Florence was a business visitor at this office Saturday. While here he had is subscription moved up another year. He stated that he was feeling very good, but that doctors had ordered him to remain quite. He was completing negotiations for a farm he recently purchased near Hebron.

BUSINESS SHOWS IMPROVEMENT

DURING PAST WEEK—TOBACCO SALES IS CAUSE OF PICK-UP—BOONE HAS BEST CROP IN YEARS.

Northern Kentucky merchants and automobile dealers report a very satisfactory improvement in business the past week. Stores enjoyed a good business, due to wise shoppers who realize that early Christmas shopping pays—the crowds are not so large, the clerks can give better service, and stocks are fresh and complete.

The improvement in business in general is being greatly stimulated in Northern Kentucky by tobacco sales. It is reported that Boone County's burley crop is the best in years—may be the best crop in the whole state.

The obnoxious Ohio sales tax, together with the "Kentuckians for Kentucky" spirit, redounds greatly to the benefit of all lines of business through this locality.

As an inducement to keep trade at home, Covington merchants will on the evening of Dec. 16, award 63 cash prizes, totaling $600, and ranging from $2.00 to $250. With each purchase of a dollar's worth of merchandise, made at any of the stores co-operating with the Pre-Christmas Dividend Club, a coupon is given.

The Recorder sincerely hopes that some of its readers will be among the winners.

Ward Yager Is Visitor Here Sat.

Ward Yager, Commonwealth Attorney of this district was a visitor in Burlington Saturday. He was shaking hands with his many friends here, and upon being asked how things were down in Gallatin, he replied: "Just fine, but it is a hard matter to keep to the people from talking about the Circuit Judge's race."

It is understood that Mr. Yager will make the race for Circuit Judge, and he will be a hard man to beat.

"Alabama Coons" Presented At New Haven School

Miss Frances Barlow, student of the New Haven school made her bow on the thespian stage on Tuesday night when she, with a bevy of young actors and actresses presented to the Parent-Teacher Association meeting a play, "Alabama Coons." BODY OF WOMAN FOUND NEAR VERONA SATURDAY

By Hunter—False Teeth Offers Only Clue to Identity—Several Bones Missing.

Boone county authorities were seeking identification of the decomposed body of a woman, apparently middle-aged, found by Marvin Smith, a hunter, on the farm of C. C. Kennedy, 1½ miles south of Verona, Saturday.

The body was found along side of an unused lane, approximately 75 yards from the Walton-Verona pike. It was thought that the body had been thrown from an automobile.

The only clue to her identity was a pair of upper and lower false teeth, which were marked with the letter "Bos" and several letters which were unreadable. Dr. Garrison, local dentist, stated that the teeth were made by a firm in Chicago, but upon investigation it was found that the firm had not been in operation since 1906.

Clothes found on the body were washed and checked carefully for any trade marks or other identifaction marks, but none were found.

The body was in such a decayed state that authorities were unable to determine whether or not any bones had been broken.

Residents living in the neighborhood where the body was found recalled they first detected an odor, presumably from the body, about September 1st.

The body was almost devoid of flesh which apparently had been torn away by animals. Many of the bones were missing. A blue crepe dress, blue slip, pink slip and bloomers are being held by local authorities.

Sheriff Walton and County Attorney Charles Riley searched the spot where the body was found Sunday and Monday but no other clues were discovered.

HOMEMAKERS TO HAVE EXHIBIT

AT CONVENTION TO BE HELD IN LONDON ENGLAND—BUTTONS MADE OF PEACH SEEDS, ACORN CUPS TO BE SHOWN.

Buttons made from fruit and nut seeds will be sent to London England by Boone county homemakers. This exhibit will be used in the international handicraft display at the convention of Associated Country Women of the World in London, June 1939.

Boone county sent a box of buttons for the Kentucky exhibit at the National Convention of the American Country Life Associa- held in Lexington, Ky., in November. Walnuts, peach seeds and acorn cups had been converted into usable buttons. A committee of extension specialists selected the outstanding handicraft work from each of the ten state exhibits. The buttons from Boone County were chosen to be sent to London next year, according to a letter received by Mary Hood Gillaspie, Home demonstration agent.

Homemakers of Boone County have handicraft work as a minor project. Five clubs held special meetings in the fall to make buttons. Club members found that button made from seeds are very attractive, unique and inexpensive. The heavier buttons, such as walnut and peach are appropriate for woolen dresses and suits; white buttons of acorn cups and pawpaw seeds are suitable for cotton or silk dresses.

WHY GUNS?

A woman told us she had read, in a magazine for parents, the sound advice of watchful and careful buying in regard to toys for children's Christmas gifts. The move to forward instructive toys rather than destructive ones goes on each year by various groups inerested in moral welfare of the nation's youth. And each year the counters and windows display war toys ,guns—big guns and little guns—but guns! You have seen children of sensible parents engaged in a battle of gangsters. Wise heads have already warned us in this county and every other American community of the dangerous results of playing at crime. In New York state a Grand Jury advocated a law prohibiting the manufacture of toy pistols. This body also deals with the parents who permit their children to flourish guns. This latter has not the meaning without the success of the former idea. With all the modern games on the market today, the wood-burning sets, carpenter outfits, printing sets, chemistry outfits, erection sets, modeling clays, puzzles, books, and on and on—why guns?

SOUTHWARD HO!

Remember the cry that was raised against the trailer when it first came into popular being? They continued to grow in numbers until a trailer no longer existed as a novelty but became an established modern convenience and a means of sensible transportation for tourists and short-term pleasure seekers. There isn't a village, where someone living there hasn't a trailer, who has been in one or is well acquainted with a man who owns one. In other words trailers are accepted in good society. No longer is the trailer a menace to the people but a boon to the man with the wherewithal to seek his climate. At this time of year the southern highways are alive with trailers of northern citizens who migrate to the sunnyland to cut out coal and cough-syrup. There are towns all over the country where residents are getting things in shape to leave for the south. Other folks have already arrived in the warm zone and, no doubt, started in to acquire a tan.

The man who tried to keep out the horseless buggy and the man who would pass a law against the invasion are living in the same world, apart from a changing universe. There are fewer communities barring the trailer than last year and as time goes on those who have placed regulations against them will realize, as have the states, that the trailer home is here to stay.

HOME IS BEST

The "back to the farm" movement has another famed advocate and praspective "hay-seed" in the very noted American writer, Louis Bromfield. The three daughters of this Pulitzer prize winner have talked him into leaving his present home in France and returning to their native U. S. where they will take up their abode in a rural section of Ohio, the home place of Mr. Bromfield. We don't know whether the author intends to settle down and make a permanent thing of this gentleman farmer business. Whatever he does, Mr. Bromfield will find this country to his liking and his home soil will feel mighty sweet to his touch. The native son returns to Boone County, and though he may leave for other ports the fact that a cheery hello from boyhood friends the hand-clasp of folks who care, the family friends who "remembered when" will strike a welcome note that does something to the core of a man, be he a local prodigal or a Louis Bromfield.

HERE'S A GIFT

It might be just what you are looking for and perhaps this suggestion from us will help you in figuring on a worth while gift for a worth while fellow. Almost anyone is open to hints at this time of year. Here is ours. In order to give comfort and happiness all the year round your gift must be a lasting one, so why not send that relative or friend who has moved to a distant section, your home town paper for the year of 1939! It means a present each week for 52 of them and would cost a little in comparison to his appreciation for your thoughtfulness. What is nicer than a letter from home-your home town newspaper. We will glady drop a note to tell of the gift and who is sending it, with our personal good wishes for the Christmas-tide. Think it over!

HISTORY REPEATS

The many Bible students will tell you the story of how Joshua trumpeted on a ram's horn and fell the walls of Jericho. This place in 1450 B. C. when the armies of Israel crossed the river Jordan and invaded this city inhabited by an idolastrous people called the Canaanites. After forty years of wandering the Israelites made a miraculous achievement in taking Jericho, a stronghold, and the first possession in the Promised Land.

On November 13, 1938 Jericho again fell but into British army hands this time, after being occupied for two months by Arab rebels. It has been too long for us to calculate the years, but Jericho again falls. Not to the sound of a ram's horn but with the rumble of British army tanks, artillery and trucks. The population slept as the Britishers took them by surprise. It is indeed a far call from the day of Joshua, not only in years but in army maneuvers and war equipment. Yet again the historic Jericho falls.

WHAT ABOUT YOUR FOOD

Men and women have been eating for thousands of years but not until comparatively recent times has there been any real scientific study of foods.

The discovery of the vitamins and the information secured as to the processes of digestion has, in recent years, revolutionized the scientific conception of food. So much so that it is no longer possible to distinguish between food and drugs, for the financial products of protein digestion are very closely related chemically to certain active drugs.

Inasmuch as the function of food is to provide energy for the individual and to assist in rebuilding the constituent parts of the body, a deficiency in any needed element is reflected in ill effects upon the body itself. Along this line, certain, vitamins have been recognized as of peculiar value in preventing the common cold, which is one of the scourges of the day. In fact, the diet containing the proper proportion of these vitamins has been noticeably effective in group tests in protecting individuals against colds.

A CONFERENCE USELESS

Protestant church leaders, representing twenty-one denominations throughout the country, recently conferred with President Roosevelt, urging him to collaborate with other States to convene a world conference to (1) remove the cause of war, (2) facilitate economic intercourse between nations, (3) to build agencies to maintain order and promote peaceful change, and (4) to reduce and limit armaments.

In general the people of the United States are in thorough accord with the position of the church leaders and would be very glad to see some successful effort to accomplish the objectives mentioned. However, it ought to be apparent to everyone that unless certain nations in the world are willing to change their stated attitudes, there is no change whatever of any successful conference.

Of course, the United States can do nothing by itself to promote either of the objectives mentioned. Every one requires the cooperation of other powers. When it is perfectly plain that this cooperation is impossible, there would seem to be little sene in initiating negotiations.

"POLITICS" AND HIGHWAYS

The American Automobile Association, in a recent convention, followed the great American custom of framing a platform of principles, purporting to give the answer to highway problems.

As an example of the value of "planks" we call attention to that on Highway Planning, where in it is said "eliminate politics as an influence in road building programs" and "let engineering surveys and sound economics dictate the programs."

The first clause is all right if "politics" be defined to mean the location of highways to "take care" of members of planning boards but it is wrong if it implies that the people who pay taxes should not have any voice in determining where highways should be built. In this country, where the people foot the bills, it is vital that they have the right, if they are so inclined, to build highways where they want them.

The second clause carries much the same observation. "Surveys" and "sound economics" mean what engineers and economists happen to think is the solution of highway problems. They may be right, or they may be wrong. But the point is that the taxpayers, who put up the money, have a right to be heard upon any program involving their funds. "Sound economics" may mean one thing to experts and another to people who are willing to pay for what they want and unwilling to pay for something they do not, as yet, desire, even though expert opinion thinks it is better.

We are perfectly willing to admit that the people may make mistakes in locating their highways.

We are perfectly willing to admit that the people may make mistakes in locating their highways. They will, no doubt, spend money foolishly on grandiose schemes which will give them more experience than service. However, in a democratic country this is the cost of popular government and it is being paid in every activity of government and people.

WEEK'S BEST RECIPE

Sausage Stuffing: Cut bread in tiny cubes and toast very lightly. Cut sausage into tiny pieces and fry until crisply brown with onion. Add salt, pepper, celery and parsley and blend with the bread. Be sure to include all the fat. If desired an additional ¼ cup melted butter may be added. Add enough boiling water to very lightly moisten the dressing—(about 1 to 1½ cups). Use for stuffing turkey. Remember that stuffing needs room for expansion during cooking inside a fowl. Do not press it too much; it will become soggy.

CARE OF LINENS

Never starch your linens that you are storing away for any length of time. Starched linens are very apt to crack. Rinse free from all starch, dry and fold away and if you care to wrap them in blue paper you will find it will prevent them from turning yellow.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL Lesson

Lesson for December 11

THE SIN OF COVETOUSNESS

LESSON TEXT—Exodus 20:17; Luke 12: 13-21; I Timothy 6:6-10.
GOLDEN TEXT—Thou shalt not covet.—Exodus 20:17.

Lesson subjects and Scripture texts selected and copyrighted by International Council of Religious Education; used by permission.

"The word of God is quick, and powerful, and sharper than any two-edged sword, piercing even to the dividing asunder of soul and spirit, and of the joints and marrow, and is a discerner of the thoughts and intents of the heart" (Heb. 4:12). These are the words that came to the writer's mind as he read the Scripture portions assigned for this lesson. He would fain have set aside his own comments and used this column to print the words from the Bible. If any reader of these lines purposes to read just these efforts to expound the truth, and not to read the Bible itself, let me plead with you to stop here and turn to God's Word. Let its powerful truth grip your soul and change your life.

It seems peculiarly appropriate that this lesson on covetousness should come right in the midst of our preparations for Christmas, for it directs our attention away from things to God, from outward preparation to the preparation of the heart, from greedy desire to true liberality of heart. Christmas may be literally "made over" for all of us if we receive its truth.

I. A Command (Exod. 20:17).

"Thou shalt not covet."

This last commandment carries us "beyond the domain of civil magistracy into that intellectual realm of motive, desire, and thought, where God alone is Lord and Judge" (Dykes). It deals with the heart, out of which are all the issues of life. It reaches to the root of so much that is wicked and destructive in the world—the covetousness of man. The love of money makes men lie, steal, kill, cheat; in fact, "the whole realm of human interrelations is disorganized and broken up by the dishonoring of the tenth commandment" (Morgan).

II. A Warning (Luke 12:13-21).

"Beware of covetousness."

The teaching of this passage is so directly opposite to all ideas regarding such matters accepted by the world at large, that it may be a total surprise to some readers and attendants at Bible school.

The yardstick of success in the world—for an individual, and organization, or a nation; yes, even for many a church—is the possession of wealth, or property, or other "things." Write it then in large letters on the hearts and minds of our boys and girls, "A man's life consisteth not in the abundance of the things which he possesseth" (v. 15).

The one who was known to his friends (and to himself) as "a rich man" (v. 16), but whom God knew as a "fool" (v. 20), had more than he could use for himself. He had to build new and bigger barns, and could not see the "barns" that were already prepared, for, as Ambrose says, "Thou hast barns—the bosoms of the needy, the houses of widows, the mouths of orphans and infants." He was a fool who loved money for himself. One wonders what he had to say for himself when that very night he was called into the presence of God to give an account of his stewardship (v. 20). If you are similarly situated and have the same attitude, what will you say in that day?

An important point which we must note is that Jesus expressly repudiated the connecting of His name with the so-called "social gospel" in His reply (v. 14) to the question of the covetous fellow who regarded his inheritance as of more importance than brotherly love. Those who are ignoring the gospel of redemption and claiming Jesus as a social reformer or the "judge and divider" of some new economic solution for the world's ills, need to read and ponder this verse. Every Christian is interested deeply in social problems, but knows that the first concern of Christ and His followers is the souls of men.

III. A Way of Victory (I Tim. 6:6-10).

"Godliness with contentment."

As a minister of the gospel the writer would first remind himself that this was written by Paul to the preacher Timothy. Brethren in the ministry, let us not fall into the temptation and snare that comes with the love of money.

In this dizzy age when many are so intent on making money that they have no time for home and children, church and fellowship; when men neglect their responsibilities and duties as citizens to get gain; when any dirty business is all right if it produces a profit; when "for gold men betray their country, their friends, their God, their immortal souls" (Farrar)—yes, in this day let us remind men that "we brought nothing into this world, and it is certain that we can carry nothing out." Let us teach and exemplify in our lives the fact that the only real and worth while gain in life is "godliness with contentment."

CAPITOL COMMENTS

By David M. Porter

The whole State was shocked last week at the finding of a Fayette County grand jury which investigated conditions at the Eastern State Hospital near Lexington. It was clearly brought out that politics should play no part in the appointments or administration of the employees of state institutions.

Dr. Vallandingham was indicted, charged with "nonfeasance in office" and for violating a Kentucky statute which forbids solicitation of State employees for money to be used for political campaigns. D. M. Ford, employee of he State hospital, and G. K. Holland, Superintendent of the Kentucky House of Reform, were also charged with this last offense. The charges against Dr. Vallandingham were based on happenings at the institution while he was superintendent and were so shocking that we shall not repeat them in this column. Wallis, before the public eye, as he had discharged Dr. Vallandingham in the summer and lost his place as Commissioner of Welfare as an indirect cause of this incident. The voters of Kentucky may remember this in Wallis' campaign for governor.

Charles D. Arnett, Secretary of State, was the first candidate to publicly announce for the governor's race. We had previously announced it in this column. Lawrence Hagar, of Owensboro, District Governor of Rotary International, has been traveling over the state making speeches to the various clubs and quietly "feeling the political pulse." He may be a candidate.

Governor A. B. Chandler last week was asked by labor organizations to issue a proclamation boycotting German goods and services as a protest against German persecution of Jews and other minorities. The Governor stated he had shown his opposition in his official Thanksgiving proclamation but felt official stand on foreign policies should be left to the President of the United States, and, therefore, could take no action.

* * *

Random Shots—The entire State debt may be lifted because of the recent increase in liquor production and a general up-swing in business Governor Chandler stated last week. The State income for November exceeded the budget estimate by $83,130 and the Finance Department received an additional $100,000 too late to be included in the November totals. The general fund income for November was $3,275,530.00. The State Highway Department had a balance at the close of November of $1,108,000. "All work on highways will be stopped for the winter," Highway Commissioner, Robert Humphreys stated. Construction done in winter months is not economic and is often unsatisfactory, and funds will be conserved for Spring months. The stop order will affect highway surfacing work and construction work on bridges already under way, including the Kentucky River bridge near Irvine and the Green River bridge near Munfordsville . . . All farmers should be particularly careful in guarding their barns of tobacco, as a group of organized thieves has been stealing thousands of pounds of tobacco from Kentucky farmers . . . A ruling of the Attorney General's Office permits dealers to have an unlimited number of rabbits in stock for sale. No person, not a dealer, may have more than sixteen rabbits, or a two days' limit in their possession at one time. Dealers may not have rabbits shipped to them by organized carrier, but must transport the rabbits in their own vehicles which they are driving. This will stop the wholesale slaughter and transportation of game for sale.

STOCK AND HOME FOOD SUPPLY BEST BET IN HILL LAND FARMING

Farmers in the limestone hill land in the intermediate bluegrass region of Central Kentucky get two-thirds to three-fourths of their income from livestock, according to a study of 134 farms in Anderson, Garrard , Mercer and Washington counties, made by the Agricultural Experiment Station of the University of Kentucky.

The farms studied were representative of farms in 21 counties comprising a belt of 2,500 square miles surrounding the inner bluegrass region of the central part of the state.

Dairy cattle and sheep were found to be the most important livestock. Dairy cows are preferable to sheep because they return more income for the amount of feed and pasture used and usually labor is available for the additional work that dairying requires, says the report.

In this region farmers spend considerable time producing a home food supply. John H. Bondurant, who wrote the report, says: "As a result of natural conditions that influence the farming practice in the area, the production of an ample supply of garden and truck crops to supply fresh vegetables and sufficient quantities for canning for home use is highly desirable. In addition, the production of milk and milk products, poultry and poultry products, and in many cases the entire meat supply for the family is advantageous."

Farmers in this intermediate bluegrass belt also grow tobacco, which is usually profitable, especially if it does not interfere too much with raising livestock. Some farmers, especially where good crop land is limited, might even find it profitable to grow more tobacco and less corn, Mr. Bondurant believes.

SHEEP PAY BETTER ON GOOD PASTURES

The importance of good pasture and the control of footrot were stressed at the fall meeting of sheep raisers at the Agricultural Experiment Station at Lexington. Farmers discussed their experiences in the use of various grasses and legumes in providing better pastures. In some instances they have been able to produce high quality lambs without grain, or have materially reduced the amount of grain required.

The growing of rye, wheat, barley or other winter crops was said to be needed both as feed for sheep and to prevent erosion. A demonstration in the control of footrot was given by Jack Dennis of Woodford county. He pointed out that treatment may not be effective unless the feet are properly trimmed so as to expose the diseased parts.

A study made by the Agricultural Experiment Station, and reported in bulletin No. 385, indicates that sheep might be the means of increasing the income on many Kentucky farms. Through sheep it is possible to get an income from such non-marketable feeds as pasture, stover and straw. The fact that sheep eat mainly roughages and pasture gives them an advantage over other kinds of stock in areas where a large percentage of the land is in grass.

It also is pointed out that sheep require the most labor in winter, when other farm work is slack, and that they help to increase the value of buildings such as tobacco barns, which are not needed at the time when sheep require shelter.

4-H CLUB BOYS TO EXHIBIT TOBACCO

A million pounds or more of tobacco will be exhibited by 4-H club members at eight district shows to be held in Kentucky in December. Several county shows also have been planned for 4-H club boys.

Approximately 7,000 boys grew tobacco in 4-H club work in Kentucky this year. The purpose of the shows is to teach the growing and marketing of high quality tobacco.

Shows for 4-H club tobacco will be held at Shelbyville and Covington Dec. 10, at Bowling Green and Lexington Dec. 17, and at Owensboro, Dec. 30. Dates have not been set for shows at Carrollton, Danville and Harrodsburg.

At each of the district shows there will be classes for individual crops, for county exhibits of five to 10 crops, and for record books.

Because of the size of the Lexington show, only 10 crops will be exhibited from one county at this particular show, it is announced from the 4-H club department of the College of Agriculture. Crops to be exhibited will be selected in county shows, in most cases.

All of the 4-H club tobacco shows are being sponsored by local tobacco boards of trade.

KENTUCKY FARMERS GO MODERN; ADOPT POWER EQUIPMENT

How farmers in Shelby county, Ky., have turned to the use of modern power equipment to terrace land, construct reservoirs and do miscellaneous jobs is reported by Earl G. Welch, extension agricultural engineer for the State College of Agriculture.

In the spring of 1936 the Shelby County Farm Bureau Cooperative Association purchased a 40 horsepower crawler type of tractor and special grader at a cost of $4,500. Since then, 2,300 acres of land has been terraced and 240 farm reservoirs, with a capacity of 82 million gallons of water, constructed.

In addition, 40 miscellaneous jobs, such as grading farm roads, pulling out trees and hedge rows, have been handled. Recently the old tractor, which had been run a total of about 5,000 hours, was traded in for a new one. In two and a half years the association has reduced its indebtedness from $4,500 to $900. A charge of $4 an hour is made by the association for terracing work and $5 an hour for the construction of reservoirs, for which the association furnishes all operating expenses, including operators and engineering service.

Farmers are finding the engineering service supplied by the association an important item in obtaining well-constructed terrace systems and reservoirs, reports Mr. Welch, and that the total costs in many cases are less than they would be if the farmers did the work themselves with ordinary farm power and equipment.

PROFIT IN BEEF CATTLE

In demonstrations in low-cost beef production Montgomery county farmers cooperating with County Agent Floyd McDaniel put gains on cattle for 4.6 cents to 5.1 cents a pound. This was accomplished by a winter ration of silage, cottonseed meal and hay, and a half ration of grain for 60 days on pasture during the summer. Excellent grazing of mixtures of grass and legumes helped produce rapid gains and shorten the feeding period.

PREGNANCY DISEASE CAN BE PREVENTED

Twenty percent of the sheep that are brought to the department of animal pathology at the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station for examination have pregnancy disease. Parasites and footrot are the only conditions that cause a greater economic loss to the sheep industry.

Pregnancy disease occurs in December, January, February and March. The largest losses usually occur in January and February. The loss varies from 5 to 25 percent of the affected flock.

Pregnancy disease (acetonemia) is not infectious or contagious, but develops as a result of poor feeding. In fact this disease can be produced experimentally by starving the animals. Many ewes are in poor physical conditions at breeding time. If such ewes are not fed so as to gain 20 to 30 pounds in weight, from breeding to lambing time, pregnancy disease may develop.

Prevention of pregnancy disease depends on the selection of good, vigorous ewes as breeders, good feeding and the control of stomach worms and other parasites. Prevention should thus begin with the selection of the animals that are to be used as breeders. Early ewe lambs, that are well developed, well nourished and have been kept comparatively free of parasites should be selected for replacements. Such animals have a larger reserve of nutrients in the body and are more able to withstand the drain of pregnancy and lactation.

The majority of cases of pregnancy disease occur directly following a sudden drop in temperature, a cold rain, or a snowstorm. At such times the ewes may be temporarily cut off from free access to the water supply, green feed may become unavailable and shelter may or may not be provided. This sudden change in methods of feeding and management, together with exposure and a restricted water supply, may upset poorly nourished ewes that otherwise would not have developed pregnancy disease.

Ewes in the first stages of pregnancy disease lag behind the rest of the flock and refuse to eat or drink. There may be a tendency to walk in a circle or to stand with the head pressed against some object.

As the condition progresses the sick animals are found lying down more or less constantly, grinding the teeth, trembling and and gradually becoming indifferent to their surroundings.

Ewes that are in the early stages of pregnancy disease can sometimes be saved by drenching them with two ounces of any kind of molasses diluted with an equal amount of water. This treatment should be given two or three times a day.

Further development of the disease in a flock can be prevented by feeding molasses at the rate of three quarts for each 100 ewes twice each day. Mix the molasses with an equal quantity of hot water, sprinkle over the feed and thoroughly mix. This mixture should not be prepared too long before feeding, since damp feed may spoil. Blackstrap molasses is much cheaper than other kinds.

Detailed information concerning the care and feeding of the ewe from breeding to lambing is given on pages 4, 5 and 6 of Kentucky Extension Circular 296, "Ewe and Lamb Project for 4-H Clubs."

TAKING STOCK OF OUR POSSESSIONS

Toward the end of the year every well-run business takes inventory of stock on hand and arrives at an estimate of net worth. The farm business is like any other in its need for such definite information. In taking its inventory, the farm home must of course be counted, since the family assets include the house, its furnishings, equipment, the clothing, and personal possessions.

In addition to the value of the farm-home inventory as an item of net worth, Miss Ida Hagman, home-management specialist at the Kentucky College of Agriculture suggests a number of other uses for it. The total value of furnishings serves as a basis on which to insure household goods and also on which to make adjustments if there should be a loss from fire or flood. It also shows what future needs may arise as things wear out and what amounts should be set aside to replace them. It shows, too, whether there has been family progress. If the family possessions have been increased during the year, for instance, by a piece of new kitchen equipment, new chairs, or other furnishings, their present value becomes a part of the net worth. The inventory, Miss Hagman says, should include not only permanent furnishings and equipment but accessories in each room, silver clothing, recreational articles, household linens, china and small equipment.

HOW LEGUMES PRODUCE

The production of 1,207 pounds of lespedeza seed to the acre from a 10-acre field is reported by H. F. Wells of Livingston county. County Agent Robert L. Rudolph estimates that 400,000 pounds of lespedeza seed were produced in the county this year. In Todd county, H. G. Porter treated a 10-acre field with limestone and phosphate and seeded Orchard grass, redtop, sweet and red clover and korean kobe lespedeza. Eleven steers in the field gained a total of 2,095 pounds by October 1.

FOOT TEST

By N. TULCH
Foot Comfort Specialist
People's Foot Comfort, Cov., Ky.

Now friends I am going to ask you to do something which I think will give you the answer to the trouble you are having with your feet.

No, you must do just as I say, so you will understand what is mean when I say . . . Most All Weak Feet Roll Inward. Now, friends take off both shoes right now. Please stand up, both feet side by side about six to eight inches apart with the same amount of weight on each foot. Now, this is important! Relax all muscles in your feet and legs. About 7 out of 10 of you will find that your feet roll inward. In other words, your feet go down on the inside, some of them all the way down to the floor. You probably have one of the four stages of weak feet . . . first degrees, about ¼ of the way down; second degree about ½ way down; third degree, 3-4 of the way down; and fourth degree, all the way down on whwat is commonly known as flat foot.

But, here's the important thing to remember, two important things in fact! When your feet roll inward and go down, you are shutting off the nerve and blood supply going into the bottom of your feet. The result is poor blood circulation which often lets chemical deposits or waste matter form at the joints of your feet and lower limbs.

Now, the second important thing is this, weak, inrolling feet also cramp nerves, then through nerve relaxes, some weaker part of the body is usually affected. Remember, when you cramp the nerves in your feet, you cause reflexes to be sent to some other part of the body that is more sensitive and has less resistance. Then old mother nature cames right back at you with backaches, headaches, or something worse.—Adv.

RHYMING GAME

It isn't necessary to be poetical to play this game. The first player names a word. The next on his right calls a word that must rhyme with the first word. This goes on around the room each player rhyming with the word ahead. If a player can't think of a word before the player on his right counts 10, he is dropped from the game. No word can be used twice. Here are a few goods ones: bill, bay, bean, case, affect, land, air.

MOTH BALLS VS. MICE

Moth balls or, better, napthalene flakes are good protection against house mice as well as clothes moths. Mice dislike the odor of napthalene, and so flakes of it scattered over and around bags of seed, books, upholstered furniture, matresses, blankets and clothing are good protection, especially in winter when mice are looking for good nesting places. Because food may take on an unpleasant napthalene taste, powdered sulphur and lime better repellants near food. Mice also dislike the odor of kerosene and creosote.

Knott county farmers who used good seed, commercial fertilizer and intensive shallow cultivation have a record-breaking corn crop.

A One Way Ticket to The Island of Oahu

By Frank B. Helms

It has been suggested by a few of my friends to submit through the Boone County Recorder a full account of my trip around thru Panama Canal, up the western coast, to San Francisco and then on to the Hawaiian Islands so folks you ask for it and I will be obliging enough to try to do so, I said try now, for I feel that it would take a good story writer with a perfect sense of description to describe this trip and the Hawaiian Island as they deserve to be.

First, let me begin with the disembarkation from Fort Slocum, New York, we were taken to the Brooklyn Army Base by tug, spent the night there and then left for the open sea at 8:00 sharp the next morning, aboard the good ship, U. S. A. T. Republic, I being very lucky, arrived in New York two days late, to catch the St. Mihiel, so traveled by the newest, fastest and most modern of all the Army Transports.

For the first 4 to 6 hours the guard rails were crowded to capacity every one wanted to see the Statue of Liberty fade into distance, also the New Yorkers (about 25 percent of the passengers) wanted to bid farewell to their home state, then the crowd began to die away, they decide to look the ship over, lots of them getting lost and even missed their dinner. We were out to sea at least a day and a half before anyone began to get sea sick, and when they started there seemed to be at least 1 percent of the passengers afflicted. Some were fighting it strongly and thought they had it whipped until some one came around and mentioned the fact that the sea was a bit rough and was getting rougher. I being one of the very fortunate ones, was never affected, I went aboard with my head set that I'd make the best of things, and did not once feel dizzy or sick. I think the worst spot that we hit was the Caribbean Sea, that is where old man salt claimed most of the victims, but they began to snap out of it as we got within a day or so of Panama, for they all wanted to reveal to themselves the things that others had told them, and don't think that you can't hear lots of stories about Panama, Hawaii, and the Phillipines in the Army. Some are true, but the majority are falsehoods, not calling anyone a fabricator. We pulled into the bay just outside of the Atlantic Lock, within calling distance of Cristobal, about 3 a. m. and dropped anchor till day break, then we tied up to pier three and the boys began to stroll off the boat just like they owned the C. Z., for we had been paid on the way down. Everyone seemed to think of their friends at home immediately though, for they all crowded into a small store to buy post cards, of different views of Panama, and rush them back. Cristobal proved to be very interesting but could have been a lot better, for the streets are too narrow, and are poorly drained, nothing like the strects of our modern cities in the states. The traffic runs, what you might say, backwards. The cars, (what few there are), drive on the left side of the street. On several occasions I almost got hit by them, my being a great "jay walker" and too, not being used to this sort of traffic.

The City is stretched out over quite an area, so we, my good friend Dahms and I, took a carriage (our taxi in the states) to see all the sights, after spending the greatest part of the day sightseeing, we then returned to the business district of Cristobal to indule a bit. We did take it easy though, for we knew that we had a great experience coming to us as we passed through the Canal the following day. At 8:00 a. m. sharp we pulled away from Cristobal, leaving a city behind us that some may never see again.

It takes 5 or 6 hours to go thru the Canal for it is shallow in places, the channel is no wider than absolutely necessery, for everyone knows that it was a great task to build this Canal. Some of the cuts were made through solid rock, that ranges from 150 to 225 feet in depth. There are a few natural geographic conditions that encourage the building of this immense canal, such as the Gatoon lake which is some 8 or 10 miles in length. This is where some of the most beautiful scenes come from. There are still a few "grass shacks" left here and there. The trees are interwoven to the extent that they present practically a solid wall, and the particular type that causes this is the well known "Banyon Tree" some of these trees come a full acre of land, starting from one root some 50 or 100 years ago, now that is one tree that you can get in the center without the great difficulty that you have in States.

But let's continue on with the journey for the beautiful scenery comes in the land of Hawaii. There are three sets of locks, all with immense sets of gates, which are made of concrete, reenforced with steel, some 20 feet in thickness. The ships are drawn thru the Canal by small electric engines, better known as "donkeys." All this is guarded by alert soldiers on duty 24 hours per day, to be sure no one takes pictures that shouldn't that they could be used as military secrets.

We arrived in Balboa (Pacific Side) about 4:30 in the evening and there spent the night, before entering the great Pacific, I being fortunate had two very good friends to welcome me there, Staff Sgt. Hansen and his wife, and don't think I didn't get a welcome too, for the last night we spent together was in Ft. Thomas, Ky., three months previous. There we planned by trip, ate to our hearts content and planned on meeting in Hawaii, about six months later. However, he got his orders to proceed to Panama without delay, so he really beat me there. They took me to all the places of interest, and I boarded the ship at midnight, hoping to meet them at pier five in Honolulu within the next two years. It was proven to me that Balboa was much more suitable to live in than Cristobal, the streets being wider and cleaner, and the people divided into their classes, the natives live in their own end of town instead of mingling in with the whites.

Now we are on the Pacific, leaving at dawn, off for a fresh start, for it is a ten-day trip up the Western coast. We were within sight of land several times but couldn't tell a whole lot about Mexico and the southern part of California, only that we sighted the beautiful snow-capped mountains several times. All along the trip we were given "ship papers" telling the land that we were passing, and even if we couldn't see it we knew all about it. The most interesting of the papers were the ones describing the Hawaiian Islands, for after all that was the final resting point and we were more than glad to know something about our "home" (for 2 years at least). We noticed a very great difference in the color of the Pacific in comparison with the Atlantic, for the Atlantic is a very pretty rich blue color, and the Pacific is a deep grey or even black in places, due to the fact that it is so much deeper. It was much smoother than the Atlantic, so we welcomed it.

We dropped anchor just inside of the "Golden Gate" on the night of September 19th and on the morning of the 20th we were transported to Fort McDowell by tug from a pier of San Francisco. After spending a couple of days there, we were paid and allowed shore leave to go to San Francisco. Going to and from McDowell we passed within throwing distance of the well known "Alcatraz," and take it from me, it is as dull and dismal as pictured in books and on the screen. It is perched upon solid rock in the middle of the San Francisco Bay. The current is so swift that it would be practically impossible to escape without drowning. The tug that we were carried to Frisco on was very speedy and sea-faring but it was even tossed a bit as we crossed the bay.

We stopped at Alcatraz on our return trip to let off two penitentary officials, as the government tugs act both for Alcatraz as well as McDowell.

On the morning of September 24th we debarked for the Hawaiian Islands. At last we were on our last lap and plenty glad of it. As the good ship "Republic" steamed out of the bay of Frisco, and under the Golden Gate Bridge she let out three long and loud blasts of her whistle, just the same as saying "Aloha" to the U. S. and "hello" to good old Hawaii. Incidentally, "Aloha" means "good bye, "hello," "good tiding" and "I love you." So if you ever see the word written somewhere take it for whatever suits the circumstances, and what you particularly like best.

Now we are heading for the wide open sea, due southwest. The Pacific as I said before is less rough but it has some great "ground swells." There is a scale on the bow of the Republic (as on ever ship) ranging from 12 feet to 48 feet, and some times this scale made its full appearance and then vanished in the salt water. That is where the thrills come, for the ground swells are not dangerous. Sometimes they broke over the top of the bow, and that was dangerous, for someone might have been swept off the deck, but that doesn't happen very often. It was great to sit completely forward and watch the bow nose down into the swells and then rise again. Sometimes it looks like a submarine preparing to submerge, and then it looked like a hydroplane trying to take off with a heavy load. When she noses down, one can see only a great horizon, and as she rises they can see nothing but the blue sky, unless they look off to the side.

We passed only two ships, and the "China Clipper" the latter swooped low for a good sight as she flew over, whether it was for our benefit or theirs, we do not know. Anyhow it looked good to see something else besides the sea, whales and propoises.

The sea seemed to be getting smoother, as we went along, just the same as to say "we are welcoming you, hurry please." On the morning of the 30th we came in sight of land, and don't think for one minute that anyone was left down the hold, when some one called "land in sight," for we were all expecting it any hour, and too, we knew exactly what land—we were nearing the island of Hawaii. After we passed that we knew that we would next sight the island of Oahu, and the city of Honolulu, the "Paradise of the Pacific." About 9:30 my good friend and I took off the old pair of shoes that we had been wearing, tied them together, his left one with my right one, and my left one with his right one, and as a sort of a ceremony we tossed the overboard, promising that we would forget all our troubles behind and think of the future only. It is a great practice, and an old custom of the Hawaiians to do this as they leave their native land, so we decided that we should try it to see if it did any good. It did do this much, it made a great friendship, I guess because we tied them together. Here in Hawaii all soldiers are greater pals to one another, for they are away from home and there is very little difference in any of them after they get that far away, they don't have their domestic worries, and their money that they did at home, so that evens things up comparatively.

On with the journey, though the next important thing that we sighted was "Diamond Head," a large crater, once an active volcano, but now just a memory, yet it still dooms up like a statue. This is incidentally, the most fortified spot of the United States Army. It compares right along with the rock of Gibraltar, sometimes referred to as the "Gilbraltar of the Pacific." After rounding this point of the island we then sighted Wakiki beach, and the Aloha Tower, (the tallest structure in Hawaii), we docked at pier three, around noon, and then were divided up in groups, assigned to our respective posts, some to remain there for 2 years, some for only a short time, until they found something better. As soon as we got to our respective posts, then the next move was to eat, for Uncle Sam never works a man on an empty stomach. After eating the next thing was to unpack, after having clothes packed for some 30 or 35 days they were all in a mess, but it didn't take long until we were right in tride with the rest of the boys.

Pay day came shortly after we arrived and that meant a reunion of buddies. We all met down at the Y. M. C. A., at different cafes, at Wakiki and other similar places and then the fun began. We all conversed about the posts that we were in and the final outcome was that several of the fellows started transferring around. Within 5 or 6 months all the different clans will be reunited.

Now that we are in Hawaii, may I begin to describe the Island? First I think that "Mother Nature" stands out more than any other part of Hawaii, for the works of man have not destroyed this natural beauty as in so many places in the states. There are no sign boards, to obstruct the views of the beautiful country along the roads and lanes. All along the roads are beautiful flowers, all wild of course as there are very few domesticated flows, even to the enchanting Night Blooming Cereus, the flower that is prized so highly in the states. The aroma is so strong along the roadside from these flowers that one can't help but notice—it seems like there is a wedding going on all the time, an account of the fragance of the fragrance of the flowers.

Folks here do not build their homes on some beautiful sight and then plant shrubs and flowers. Instead they built their homes in amongst the trees and shrubs, for it takes hundreds of years to grow these palms, and oriental trees. The only trees besides the palms (12 or 15 different species) are either Banyons, as I tried to describe found in Panama, and the oriental trees from China and Japan. Some are very delicate looking but can stand a lot of heat and go without water for a long time.

The hills and mountains are all creased with small valleys filled with fresh, cool water, running toward the ocean. There are a few scattered lakes, her and there, all a bit chilly for swimming, and too restricted for there are fish in them and the landowners charge one to fish in them. Of course, no one wants their fishing ruined by a group of people swimming around, when they could be swimming at Wakiki. The water is so clear that it is rather hard for one to catch these fish, for they can see you, and too, I have begun to think that are educated. Mother Nature, of course, provides the beautiful sun sets, and moon rises—something that is indescribable. Some like these scenes from the beaches, but personally I'll take them from the mountain tops. As the sun sets it leaves a crimson sky, lined with streaks of blue, yellow and every color of the rainbow, and it seems no sooner does the sun set till the large yellow moon rises. Before it rises you can see a bright yellow cast form on the opposite side of the horizon, and then all at once it reveals itself. It seems as though the moon is fully twice as large as in the states, yet it's the same old moon. There is seldom a period of six hours of the day that there isn't at least 1 or 2 rainbows some where in sight, and too, there isn't a day that it doesn't rain somewhere on the post of Ft. Shafter, due to the fact that the wind currents change so readily, and we are completly surrounded by water. The rain doesn't hurt the crease in ones trousers or any part of his clothes for it doesn't last more than from 10 seconds to five minutes, and too, it is only a mist and not a real rain. If one should arise some morning with the intention of going somewhere, they just go ahead with their preparations for they know that it won't last more than 10 minutes.

We have here in Hawaii some of the most beautiful parks found anywhere in the world. Hake Monolo Gardens for instance, in it there are educational drives, the most perfect tree in the world at one time published in the Cincinnati Times-Star by Ripley, have every specie of tree that will grow in any tropical land, large palms with their falling cocanuts, have small streams flowing through it, filled with only the most odd shaped and colored fish, and so on and on. Personally I think that it surpasses any park in Cincinnati, O., including the Eden, Ault and Hyde Park.

Now to the works of man. Honolulu is not built up like our modern U. S. cities, but considering that all the material practically, that is used in building has to be shipped in by freighters, I think they have done wonderfully well. We have the best known Y. M. C. A. (Army) in the world; have a very nice Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. for the Hawaiians and all the other races of mankind here. The city building is very large and covered with every kind of architecture known. It is placed on the building in such a manner that it looks very good and doesn't clutter it up, as one would think. The schools are not the modern 2 or 3 story ones, but are clean and neat and there are enough that all those that want to go, may do so. The Hawaiian University is equal to any in the states, having in it a complete library, and by the way, the dean claims that any book of any importance, in reference to educational purposes is either on these shelves, or in reserve just back of the University. The leading hotels are very modern, the two main ones are the Royal Hawaiian and the Morno, both perched up on the sands of Wakiki, just as if they had been left there by the ocean, as the smooth white sands had been. Without the two hotels, the Wakiki beach wouldn't be quite so popular, but the way they are situated, everything is perfect. One can go there, rent a bathing suit and a surf board for a small sum and spend the day very pleasantly. He will never get lonesome either, for everyone is looking for partners to swim with, and no one gets lonesome. In the period of a year I imagine some 25,000 different people swim at Wakiki—is there any wonder this wouldn't be the best beach in the world? The sands stretch a distance of about 2½ or 3 miles, and are from 30 to 50 yards in breadth. The water is at the same even temperature the year round. As the surf rolls in from the open sea, it comes up on the beach about 20 feet. One can have lots of fun by getting out up about your waist, and start swimming in on top of one of the rollers, after getting in where it is too shallow to swim, start half crawling and swimming—the results are that you are perched up on the sands about 15 feet after the water recedes.

There is one other kind of play worth mentioning I think, and that is warm-climate-tobogganing. We do not have any snow here, so naturally we get homesick for it once in a while, but this takes the place of it. By copying from the early Hawaiians, we bind together "Ti" leaves and slide down the slippery hill and mountain sides, as they are covered with thick heavy blades of grass. The only drawback is that there are no tracks to walk back up the hill on, as we have on our sled runs, but through much endeavoring, etc., we manage to get back up O. K. One can get up to a speed of about 30 or 40 miles per hour, so I don't think that is bad at all.

I will close this by saying that I sincerely hope that I have made a half-way clear description of this beautiful place, and that some day you may see these things for yourself, for I don't think that anyone can do the islands justice by trying to put it on paper. It all seems clear enough to me naturally, as I write it, but I am no narrator, and I know that I can't put up much of a job.

Yours truly,
FRANK B. HELMS.

Wildlife Will Be Increased With Help Of Vegetation

Given the protection of vegetative cover in which to hide, and a sufficient supply of seeds, berries and fruits upon which to feed, quail and many other desirable forms of wildlife will be more able to outwit their natural enemies and increase their numbers successfully. This statement is made by Major James Brown, Director of the Division of Game and Fish.

Fortunately, many of the same shrubs, vines and other plants which provide cover also furnish food. By care in selecting the species of vegetation used, a sequence of fruiting dates can be obtained which will provide food and cover throughout the year.

Some forms of vegetation which are valuable for erosion control can be used in small, scattered areas about the farm to control erosion and at the same time provide conditions favorable for the increase of wildlife.

The cover should be thick enough to furnish concealment and yet not be too thick to prevent free movement of the game. Such cover is furnished by ungrazed woodlots, young evergreens, hedges, and fence rows, vines, plum thickets, briars, weed growth, etc.

A farm with woodland, shrubbery, brushy gullies, creeks, swamps, standing corn, weeds, and crop stubble can harbor much more wildlife than can a farm that has only standing corn, or any other uniform environment.

Nesting cover is a highly essential requirement for quail. Quail favor roadsides, margins of right-of-ways, fence rows, grassy fields and a variety of similar nesting sites.

Shrubs may be planted on bare spots of the farm and will serve the double purpose of controlling erosion and providing food and cover for game. Gullies and severely eroded areas about the farm make ideal locations for such plantings.

In order to keep the game which we now have and hope for an increase from the present supply, means of protection must be provided and a permanent food supply made available, Major Brown stated.

BUTTER NECESSARY TO MAKE SANDWICH

When is a sandwich not a sandwich? When there is little or no butter in it, says nutrition experts at the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture. Insist on the sides of the sandwich being well buttered, they urge.

Butter is one of the most necessary and economical foods, these same experts declare. Many foods cost more and yet are less nourishing. Eat plenty of good butter; insist on generous pats when eating at restaurants; help yourself liberally to it at home.

These same authorities on food and health believe more milk, cream, cheese and other dairy products should be used. In addition to good, rich cream in coffee and on cereals, there are many ways of cooking with cream—creamed onions, tomatoes, potatoes, corn and other vegetables, sour cream salads, whipped cream; and baking muffins, biscuits, cookies and cakes.

The easiest way to get the daily quota of milk is to drink it. However. milk may be used in the preparation of many dishes, such as soups, eggs, scalloped vegetables scalloped meats, gravies, cocoa, cereals cooked in milk, cereals served with milk, custards, blancmange, puddings, ice cream, cottage cheese and cream cheese.

Every growing child, say health authorities, should have a quart of milk daily ,every adult a pint. In addition, they should eat liberally of butter and other dairy products.

LIVINGSTON COUNTY CROP YIELDS GOOD

A corn crop as large as that of 1937 and big yields of hays and legume seed crops are reported in Livingston county by County Agent Robert L. Rudolph. River bottom corn suffered from too much rain, but upland yields are the best in years. Considerable old corn was carried over and is being fed to hogs and cattle.

The cover corn acreage will be the largest in years, thinks Rudolph. Much of this will be wheat, due to the abundant supply of wheat, due to the abundant supply of seed. But there will be considerable barley and rye. H. F. Wells sowed 75 acres with a mixture of wheat, barley and rye, to be used for cover and hog and cattle pasture.

Increased use of limestone and phosphate, together with good hay yields this season, resulted in a big fall seeding of alfalfa Dr. Allen Shemwell reported a yield of 7½ tons of alfalfa hay to the acre from 14 acres.

DEPLORES MOVEMENT OF YOUTH TO CITIES

"Hundreds of our rural youth leave the farm every year to take up other occupations, unconscious of the opportunity which they are turning their back upon." So declared Howard F. Sharp of Illinois, president of the Youth Section of the American Country Life Association, at the annual meeting of that organization at the University of Kentucky.

"The simple privations of farming defeat the feeble enthusiasm many capable young rural people have for that way of life. The task of building a farm into something more than a house, a barnyard and a system of crop rotations is the challenge we face. There are still unlimited possibilities for making a rural home quite as attractive, if not a great deal more so, than the average urban dwelling."

Mr. Sharp believed that there is needed, in addition to a mastery of production, a genuine rural philosophy which would help free agriculture from the domination of the cities.

PICKED UP HERE AND THERE

The predition of the Japanese that they would conquer China in three months, will go down in history, along with a certain Literary Digest poll, as another of the world's worst guesses.

It's a funny world. Some men get their pleasure sitting at a radio and others get theirs swearing at it.

Wonder what became of the New York man who spent 30 days writing 14,000 words on a postal card and when he got through all he had was 14,000 words on a postal card.

One thing certain is that if the skirts get any shorter something else will have to be longer.

It doesn't make any difference on which side your bread is buttered, for it is the usual thing to eat both sides.

Virtue is its own reward, as many a man has discovered when he tried to collect on it.

THERE ARE NO INSURANCE "BARGAINS"

"CHEAP" insurance is not cheap; when you buy insurance from a good old line company, you get only what you pay for, and when you go off the beaten path you usually do not get very satisfactory protection. An insurance bargain, in other words ,is nothing more or less than an arithmetical illusion. Every insurance man, when crowded into an actuarial corner, will admit that insurance costs are approximately the same for all of the old line companies.

THE BOONE COUNTY RECORDER

VOLUME 63 — BURLINGTON, KENTUCKY THURSDAY, DECEMBER 15, 1938 — NUMBER 30

Library U of K

REFERENDUM SET DEC. 17TH

SIXTY-SIX AND TWO-THIRDS MAJORITY REQUIRED—EDUCATIONAL MEETINGS BEING HELD THIS WEEK.

Tobacco growers will vote in the second AAA Burley tobacco marketing quota referendum on this Saturday, December 17th. Two growers must vote in favor of quotas to each growers opposed before quotas will be in effect on the 1939 crop. A 66 2-3 per cent majority is required. Last year 90.6 per cent of the growers voted favoring quotas on the 1938 crop.

The great majority of the old regular growers favor quotas. The greatest opposition to quotas comes from growers who are in and out or have been given allotments the past three years. It is estimated that the quotas will carry in Boone County by a substantial majority. Growers feel that the present quota set up is not perfect but that it will be far better to make use of what progress has been made and make every effort to improve and build on the machinery the present law has given. It is realized that if present quotas are lost it will be extremely difficult to ever get another law to aid farmers along this line.

A series of educational meeting are being held over the county this week, according to H. R. Forkner county agent. The dates and places of these meeting are as follows:

Grant school, Monday, December 12 at 7:00 p. m. (central time).

Petersburg school, Monday, December 12 at 7:00 p. m. (central time).

Walton school, Tuesday, December 13 at 7:30 p. m. (central time).

Verona school, Tuesday, December 13 at 7:00 p. m. (central time).

[illegible] school, Wednesday, December 14, at 7:00 p. m. (central time.)

New Haven school, Wednesday, December 14 at 7:00 p. m. (central time).

Hamilton school, Thursday, December 15 at 7:00 p. m. (central time).

Hebron school, Friday, December 16th at 7:00 p. m. (central time).

Burlington courthouse, Friday, December 16 at 7:00 p. m. (central time).

The farmers at these meetings will be asked to consider the following points and facts in casting their referendum balolts Saturday.

1. Burley tobacco in the surplus years previous to quotas averaged 12c per lb.

2. In quota years the crop average 24 cents per pound.

3. Consumption of burley tobacco is not related to price but in the high price years consumption has actually increased.

4. Tobacco that goes into a package of cigarettes costs from ½ to 1½ cents and therefore is almost a neligible factor in the price of the finished product.

Doubling the price farmers would receive for their crop would not materially affect consumption.

Farmers are also considering the following production problems:

1. Only a very small part of the farm grows tobacco and there exists sufficient land and barn room to easily grow 500,000,000 pounds of tobacco per year.

2. Twenty-eight thousand new farms applied for tobacco bases last year, tobacco is already grown in 15 states and rapid expansion of territory is expected if there are no quotas.

3. Demand is not affected by moderate change in prices farmers receive.

4. Tobacco at present prices is higher than other farm products and a rapid expansion of acreage may be expected.

5. We produced more than 70,000,000 pounds surplus last year, approximately 60,000,000 surplus this year and that the surplus has always been reduced by one of two methods.

Method 1—Unlimited production with over supply bringing below cost of production prices and thereby forcing enough growers out of business. If you favor this road, vote "No" in the ferendum Saturday.

Method 2—Realizing over production and unprofitable prices will cause great loss to growers—each grower will take his proportionate reduction and insure fair play thru use of the new farm act. The result will be no oversupply and a fair price for all. If you favor this road, vote "yes" in the referendum Saturday.

Growers are urged above all else to vote. The referendum is a means of submitting to growers to decide what they want. It is the inherent duty of every tobacco grower to vote. A large vote will express a fair representation of what the people want.

DEMOCRATS ELECT ACRA

AS PRESIDENT FOR YEAR 1939—FINANCIAL CONDITION OF CLUB REPORTED TO BE BEST IN KENTUCKY.

The regular monthly meeting of the Boone County Young Men's Democratic Club was held at the courthouse on Monday night with about forty members present. This being the last meeting in this year, the new officers for 1939 were elected, and all unfinished business was cleared before the new year.

Cora Acra, one of the outstanding politicians of Florence, was elected to succeed J. P. Brothers as president of the club. Arthur Maurer, also of Florence was selected for the seat of vice-president and A. D. Yelton, Circuit Court Clerk, was elected secretary. Only one office of the club will be held by an old officer this year, that being the office of treasurer which is held by W. B. Rogers, Jr., of Grant. Mr. Rogers was re-elected after he had been highly recommended by President J. P. Brothers for his efforts during 1938.

A complete financial statement was read before the members which showed that the Boone County Club ranked at the top in financial standing of all the other democratic clubs in Kentucky. The officers and active members should be congratulated on this accomplishment for it speaks well for their efforts during 1938.

200 SIGN FOR REA POWER

SIGN COMMITTEE REPORTS SPLENDID PROGRESS AT MEETING HELD LAST FRIDAY NIGHT.

The Boone REA committee the past week signed 200 members on approximately 100 miles of road, according to H. R. Forkner, County Agent. The comittee prepared a map listing all signers and met with the Owen county association Board of Directors on Tuesday night of this week. Plans are to secure the allotment to build the lines at the earliest possible date.

One hundred farmers from all sections of the county met at Burlington courthouse last Friday night. Sign-up committeemen reported splendid progress.

The problem of whether or not our farm people secure electricity at a reasonable cost rests with them. If our people are to secure electricity they must act fast. There are no paid solicitors, sign-up committemen or workers. All work until the organization is completed is donated by public spirited citizens. Everyone interested in helping to secure the minimum of 3 customers per mile of line is urged to sign up with his committeeman immediately. Those who do not know who their committeeman are may call the county office Burlington, 412.

DO YOUR DUTY!

Have you bought any Tuberculosis Christmas Seals? The sale is goin gstrong over the state. Are we going to let Boone County trail in the sale of Seals? No! Let's get busy everybody and buy some Tuberculosis Christmas Seals. With 122 more deaths from Tuberculosis in Kentucky last year than the preceding year, you can see the importance of our seal sale program.

Tuberculin for testing, and X-rays for testing indigents are paid for with seal sale funds. Thousands of dollars are spent annually by the Kentucky Tuberculosis Association for the cure and prevention of the white plague. Every cent was raised through the sale of Christmas Seals. Each and every cent will help to stop this devastating disease.

President Franklin D. Roosevelt, and thousands of other famous men and women have indorsed the sale of Christmas Seals. More than a score of other nations carry out the plan.

The eyes of the great army of tuberculosis sufferers are turned toward us, and their hopes for a better day depend on us. May we not disappoint them. Practically every school child in Boone County is selling the seals. Buy them, and use them on all your Christmas mail and presents.

HAMILTON GIRL HAS HIGH CROP

AT ANNUAL 4-H TOBACCO SHOW AND SALE HELD IN COVINGTON MONDAY AND TUESDAY—CROP AVERAGES $27.80.

Alberta Sebree, of Hamilton won the award for having the best crop in the annual 4-H Tobacco Show and sale held in Covington Monday and Tuesday. Her crop averaged $27.80 per hundred.

There were eight counties represented at the show, with approximately 150,000 pounds of burley on the floor. It was estimated that four hundred crops were shown from the eight counties.

The show and sale was scheduled to be completed Monday, but due to the large amount of tobacco on display, two days were required.

Boone County 4-H members displayed 119 crops, according to the assistant county agent.

Carvin Goodridge, of the Hebron neighborhood won fifth place for record books, with Alvin Earl Whitaker of the same neighborhood, winning sixth.

We are unable to obtain complete details of the show and sale but will carry a complete story in next week's issue.

FIRST CITATION IN SCHOOL LAW

IS GIVEN SUSPENDED SENTENCE—DRIVERS URGED TO OBEY KENTUCKY SCHOOL BUS LAW.

A very prominent Boone County citizen was cited before acting Judge C. L. Cropper this week for violating the new Kentucky School Bus law, and was given a suspended sentence due to the fact that it was the first case in this county.

The new law is going to be enforced in this county, according to Supt. D. H. Norris, and all drivers are urged to acquaint themselves with this law. It reads that when a school bus is stopped either for picking up or dispensing passengers, that all traffic, whether meeting or passing, must stop until a signal is given by the bus driver for traffic to move on.

Through the combined cooperation of the Cincinnati Automobile Club and the Board of Education there is at the present time an organization known as "School Boy Patrol" which was organized especially for the purpose of aiding both school children and drivers to observe the new law. On each school bus in the county, there is one student who wears a large white belt and carries a signal "stop" sign. This equipment is furnished by the Cincinnati Automobile Club and the students are coached as to their duties. When this young man steps to the center of the highway holding his "stop" sign, your car must not move on until you have a signal from the young "patrolman."

This is the first citation in Boone County since the new law was passed sometime ago, but it is going to be strictly enforced and violators are to be severely prosecuted.

Stephens-Souther

On Thursday evening, Dec. 8th, the home of Mrs. Chas. Stephens, near Hebron, was the scene of a very pretty wedding, when her daughter, Roberta Mae was united in marriage to Mr. Milton Souther of Latonia, in the presence of relatives and a few friends.

A musical program was rendered by Mrs. Kathryn Rowlette singing sweetly "Because" and "I Love You Truly," accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Alberta Stephens, who also played the Wedding March.

The groom and his brother, Mr. Orin Souther of Latonia, waited before an altar of ferns, palms, white chrysanthemums, potted plants and lighted with two tall candlelabrums bearing white candles, for the bride who was preceded by the bridesmaid, Miss Kerr of Latonia, a close friend of the bride.

They both looked unusually pretty, the bride wearing white lace over silk, with tulle veil, colonial bouquet of white chrysanthemums with tulle.

The bridesmaid wore silk crepe, with colonial bouquet of yellow chrysanthemums with ribbon to match gown.

A very impressive ring ceremony was said by the Rev. Lucas, of Petersburg.

After congratulations, and the cutting of the bride's cake, containing many fortunes, refreshments were served. The bridal party left for a short trip by auto; on their return will reside in their recently furnished home in Ft. Mitchell, Ky.

They were recipients of numerous, costly, and useful gifts.

The good wishes of all are extended this happy couple for a very successful voyage on the matrimonial sea.

A CHISELER STARTS A RIOT

FOR a dozen days and nights the continuous roll of the tom-toms and the weird, blood-chilling shrieking of the Salteaux Indians had echoed and re-echoed over the Athabaskan plains. Meanwhile, in the tents and tepees, babies died in the arms of mothers too starved to suckle them, while others, including the aged and ill, were slowly dying from hunger and the 30-below-zero weather that had been gripping the region for weeks. And, as the Salteaux suffered and died, the warriors and braves, with the help of some smuggled rotgut whisky were dancing themselves into an ugly, fighting, bloodthirsty mood. They were steaming up for a little skull-splitting and scalp-lifting party to be staged on the handful of whites who were responsible for their pitiable condition.

The Salteaux, a rather superior group, were justified in their anger and rage, for the administration of their affairs had fallen into the hands of a double-dyed grafter and chiseler. When the Great White Mother made the treaty with the Salteaux, she not only agreed to give them equipment, horses and cows with which to begin farming, but she also agreed to give them food and supplies twice a week until they were well established and prosperous. Everything went along fine until some underling in the Indian affairs department was placed in charge while his superior was off on a rather extended vacation down east. From this time on, the food supplies for the Salteaux began to diminish. Each time the rations were handed out, they weighed a few ounces less than before, with the result that after a week or two the allotments reached the most ridiculous proportions, and the Salteaux began to grumble out loud. To make matters worse, game was exceedingly scarce in the region that winter, and even rabbits were few and far between. Moreover, had there been furs and skins, the Salteaux could have traded for food at the Hudson Bay Trading post located right on the reservation.

And now, with the tribe slowly starving to death in the middle of a stiff Athabaskan winter, it was time for action. Having worked themselves into a frenzy of rage and hate, the warriors and braves swooped down on the government warehouses and helped themselves to a few tons of flour, sowbelly, bacon and other staples. The underling in charge made a faint squeak of protest, and right away two husky braves had him by collar and belt and were heaving him off into the distance. Loaded with all the food they could carry away, the Salteaux returned to their tepees and had the first really decent feed in weeks. And, as they fed and gorged themselves, the Men of the Mounted were on their way to investigate what was termed an "Indian outrage."

The officer in charge, although a fearless policeman, was a poor hand with Indians, and his opening remarks were to the effect that the Great White Mother was deeply grieved to learn that her Salteaux children had committed this terrible crime (taking the food that rightfully belonged to them). Furthermore, the poor misguided, or misinformed officer asked them why they committed the robbery when everybody knew that the agent handed out plenty of food twice a week. Naturally, the Salteaux began to think that the red-coat was insane. Did he not know that they were starving? Did he not know that the food ration had been growing smaller and smaller until there was not enough for one child, let alone a brave? No, the officer did not know this.

Furthermore, he rather brusquely stated that they were not starving at all, and that the rations given them were more than sufficient. This was the spark to the powder. The braves began fondling their rifles and clubs, and they moved in close, dangerously close. The air was electrified with the tension of impending battle. Up to this time there had never been any misunderstandings, nor had there ever been shots exchanged between the Salteaux and the Mounted Police, and it wasn't long before an ordinary red-coated constable was down among the ugly Salteaux patching things up and, incidentally, learning the truth about the diminishing rations. Needless to say, the quarrel was patched up so well that there has never been any more trouble with the Salteaux.

The chiseler? Well, he saddled up one morning and rode east. He must have kept on traveling, for he hasn't been seen since.

The Screech Owl

The screech owl, called by some the little horned owl, is a familiar bird in many sections. It is not as secluded in habits as are other members of the owl family and often is found nesting in bird boxes put up for martins and flickers.

DR. E. S. GARR MAKES STATEMENT

Louisville, Dec. 9—Atty Gen. Hubert Meredith anounced here that "there is not sufficient evidence for me to authorize any action." In conection with the statement by Dr. E. S. Garr that Brig. Gen. Henry D. Denhardt did not kill Dr. Garr's sister, Mrs. Verna Taylor Garr also claims "I know the person who did kill her."

Dr. Garr's lengthy letter to the general about the case was said by Meredith to be "fantastic." Jack Garr, one of the three brothers living near Cincinnati, commented "There's not a thing in the world to it. Denhardt really did it."

Nevertheless, State Health Director McCormack, a life-time friends of Denhardt, said yesterday he was pleased with Dr. Garr's statement that he had been waiting some time for it to come out.

Revenue Department Issues Statement Concerning Taxes

Frankfort, Ky., Dec. 12—The Department of Revenue today issued a statement declaring that the recommendation made in its 1937-38 Annual report that "real estate and tangible personal property be taxed for State purposes at the same rate" was not meant to imply that State property taxes in the aggregate should be increased. The object of the recommendation the Department explained, could be achieved with equal facility through a reduction in property taxes. The three alternatives are: An increase in the rate on real estate from five cents to 50 cents on the $100 valuation; a decrease in the rate on tangible personal property from 50 cents to five cents; or a change in the rates on each to a uniform intermediate rate.

The Department reported that had tangible personal property been taxed at five cents per $100, the rate applicable to real estate, the State during 1937-38 would have collected $178,407 instead of $1,784,073 from this source—a reduction of approximately one and a half million dollars. Had real estate been taxed at 50 cents receipts from this source would have been $6,194,940 instead of $619,494—an increase of five and a half million dollars. Actually $2,043,567 was produced in 1937-38 by the taxes on real and tangible personal property. Almost identically this amount $(2,393,703) would have produced by a uniform rate of 15 cents on each class of property.

BIBLE CLASS SHOWS LARGE INCREASE DURING PAST YEAR

The Men's Bible Class of the Erlanger Baptist Church enjoys unusual growth—year ago last September the average attendance was under fifteen men, today the class is averaging between 45 and 50 with record attendance of 60. They recently gave a banquet for their wives. There were 150 people seated at the tables in the dining room of the church. The full course turkey dinner was prepared, cooked and served by the men. The members of the Young Men's class acted as waiters.

The teacher of the class is Rev. R. D. Martin; W. N. Carnes, president; three vice presidents are Milton Gschwind, Jule Appel, Olin Keeney; George Young, treasurer; and J. S. Cook, Secretary.

THIRTY-FIVE HEAD OF HORSES AND OTHER STOCK TO BE SOLD

Albert Cardosi, well-known Covington livestock dealer, announces a public auction, Saturday, Dec. 17 at 11 a. m. (fast time) at the C. E. Steinford farm, two miles south of Florence, Route 25, opposite the Spanish Villa.

Thirty-five head of horses, mules and cows, including matched teams; 20 shoats and harness will be sold. Mr. Cardosi states that all stock is guaranteed to be as represented. A. F. Worthington will be the auctioneer.

1200 NATIVE BOB WHITE QUAIL PURCHASED BY STATE DIVISION G. F.

With the purchase of an additional 1,200 native Bob - White Quail, the Quail farm on the Shelby County Fair Grounds now has a total of 2,900 birds in the pens, Major James Brown, Director of the Division of Game and Fish, announces.

The native quail were purchased from independent hatcheries within the state and will be held at the quail farm through the winter and released in all the counties of central Kentucky the latter part of next March. Only those counties and localities having the proper food and cover will receive these birds.

The Division would like for certain individuals to note carefully that the birds will not be released in Shelby County alone, but are merely being held there at the farm where they are being fed and cared for through the winter months. The Division of Game and Fish does NOT put out quail in the fall but purchases the birds throughout the fall and winter months and releases them the following spring in pairs.

An article carried in several papers of the state several weeks ago stated that Shelby county did not have the proper cover and food for quail, but that the Division of Game and Fish was releasing several thousands of the birds in the county. That statement is not true as the Division is only holding these birds at the rearing station through the winter months and will release them in suitable cover in the counties of Central Kentucky next spring. The article was written by a gentleman who is supposed to be a good newspaperman and who should present only the correct facts to the public. Such incorrect articles are misleading to the general public and draw much criticism to the Division of Game and fish which is not deserved.

There are 75 single pens on the grounds of the Shelby Quail Farm with a capacity of 25 birds for each pen. There are also 50 double pens which hold 25 birds to each side.

George McGowan, a native of Shelby County, is in charge of the Shelby Quail Farm.

The Division also has quail rearing station located at Ashland, Princeton, and Williamsburg.

Erlanger Sewer Project Is Pushed

In a move to clear the way for completion of the Erlanger sewer system under an old Works Progress Administration grant of $70,000 the Erlanger Board of Trustees Friday, had repealed three ordinances with conflicting provisions concerns the work.

The ordinances called for the work to be done on the revenue basis, the direct assessment basis and the revenue bond basis.

City Attorney Ervin L. Bramlage said Engineer, R. G. Loomis had expressed hope that the construction work might begin before the end of the month.

After receiving a petition from residents representing 80 per cent of the property on Center street, from Hulbert avenue to the northwest corporation line, the board adopted a motion to seek a WPA grant for concrete paving of that street.

The balance needed to go with WPA grant, if awarded by the government, is to be furnished by assessment on the property owners in the affected areas.

WE GO ON

Another election day has passed with all the necessary fan-fare and political didoes which accompany it. We resume our ways of life wondering what changes of administration will affect us, or satisfied that the old regime remains in office to affect no changes. Despite the good of it and the bad of it, there can be no true democracy without this procedure of electioning. To be a free people we must conduct elections to get differences of opinion and interest in public policies. A campaign preceding an election often develops into a fight, but the popular verdict is decided only in the polls. One side wins, the loser must submit and whether you win or lose you place the victory in the hands of the majority with a prayer that the majority is right. To refuse to submit to the larger vote would need force and violence and lead to war. We are a free nation and can vote as we please, and may the government continue to respect these rights by placing the power of election in the hands of its people.

A SUGGESTION

It isn't too early to talk of things regarding the Yuletide, for along about this month various agencies, mostly children, let you know the number of shopping days left! We are not trying to tell any man or woman their business or to suggest how they spend thtir money, but if we know of a way they can add to their own happiness and state of mind by showing them where to spend, we are not going to pass up the opportunity. You can usually find what you want in your own stores and you are doing your duty as a citizen and fulfilling an obligation to your neighbor.

—o—

VISITING ROYALTY

The fact that King George VI has told his Parliament that he would be happy to accept, as an expression of good feeling, President Roosevelt's invitation to visit the U. S. during the royal Canadian tour this next spring, means the strengthening of ties which bind these two countries. It will be the first time in her history that an English ruler has visited this land during his reign. It is an act of friendliness and a move for a continuance of peaceful relations between this nation and her mother country. Mrs. Roosevelt, when asked if she would kneel and bow to the crowned heads, says she will not but will extend to them the American style of greeting, the hand-shake. This is America and the hand-shake is the American custom in greeting, be it King and Queen, Lord and Lady or plain Mr. and Mrs. We folks figure that perhaps King George would prefer his American reception to be purely natural and unaffected—honestly American.

—o—

PEACE BY RESOLUTION

The fact that members of several "peace" societies have gone on record in opposition to any program to strengthen American armaments leads one to admire their consistency while questioning their judgment.

Certainly, the people of the United States have demonstrated their approval of disarmament. The government of the United States has given abundant proof of its willingness and anxiety to avoid the expenditures that increasing armaments entail. The record leaves no doubt of that.

So, here we are, facing 1939, with a world practically under the domination of three nations that openly boast of war, practice aggression and proclaim contempt for the peace-loving democracies. In this situation, apparent even to lovers of peace, it seems foolish to us to believe that no nation has any idea of taking advantage of weaker nations and wise to prepare to defend whatever this nation has that it wants to retain.

German militarists are in the saddle in Nazi-land, Japanese militarists control the land of the Mikado and Mussolini's cohorts make no secret of their worship of force. Great Britain, France and the United States, by contrast, do not conceal their desire for peace and their reluctance to increase armies navies and air corps. They may be reasons for the different attitudes but, so far as we can observe, no doubt of the existence of the attitudes in the six countries named.

Now, the argument of the peace-lovers is that if we do not arm we will avoid war. We may, it is true, but only if we yield to every demand of the aggressor nations and permit them to become the financial arbiters of world affairs, including some matters of domestic economy. This attitude will never be accepted by the people of the United States,, who will insist upon their right to live their life, as individuals and as a nation, upon terms of not less than equality with other peoples and other nations.

Germany ideas that no other race has any rights, Japanese missions to give the world peace a la Japan and Italy's ambition to Italianize sections of the globe are forces that, in future, might easily clash with American ideals in areas where Americans claim equal rights. This, we do not say is certain and inevitable but, at least, possible and, consequently, it is the part of wisdom to be able to discuss matters with these powers upon even terms so far as military and naval strength is concerned.

In the Far East today Japan challenges a doctrine that has been affirmed by the United States for a decade and openly asserts superior rights in China, inflicting death and destruction upon a peace-loving and relatively unarmed people. That Japan would treat this country in the same high-handed manner, if we are ever at the mercy of her militarists, goes without saying. The same observation applies to Germany and Italy.

Having given the world proof of our sincere desire to limit armaments without appreciable success in preventing the unprecedented race to arm, it is about time for the people of this country to let the world know that we can match their pace and give them a mark to equal. It is the sure way to gain their respect and, at the same time, reasonably insure the continuation of our liberty and preservation of our democratic institutions.

DISTRIBUTORS AID FARMERS

Organized merchandising has again come to the assistance of one of the most important groups of producers in America—the dairy farmers.

This new campaign is designed to help move present huge stocks of surplus butter into channels of distribution. The National Cooperative Milk Producers' Federation was the moving spirit in getting the campaign started. It applied to the National Association of grocers, for cooperation. Both groups agreed promptly.

The campaign started in mid-November. It is to continue thru December and January, and one week in each of these months is to be given to extra intensive effort to move butter.

The chain stores and the independent stores of the country are competitors—but they gladly get together when agriculture needs their marketing assistance. In the present case, if the great surplus butter stocks are not moved, farmers throughout the country must absorb great losses. The cooperating retailers have planned an inclusive campaign. Many sales promotional aids are employed, including newspaper advertising, store displays, pamphlets, and word-of-mouth suggestion to the customer. It is pointed out that butter is one of the most valuable of foods—and, in the light of its nutritive value, is cheap. If aggressive retailing by both chains and independents can solve the butter surplus problem, it will be done.

Campaigns of this nature benefit everyone concerned—the consumer as well as the producer and the merchant. They mark one of the longest steps yet taken in bettering the distributive process, and in improving the American people's "standard of eating."

VIRTUES OF THE FARM

The following article was written by W. W. Gaines, a former Boone Countian and was published in the Atlanta, Ga:

Editor, The Journal: One of the most distinguished among our southern industrialists recently stated in an address, as reported in the papers, that agriculture could not support a high civilization.

I must heartily disagree with that statement, for I know better. I was reared on a farm in northern Kentucky. My father was a farmer all of his days. He rotated his crops. He grew corn and oats, and wheat, and hay. He raised sheep, and cattle, and horses, and hogs. He made money, added to his farm from time to time, at the last owning about 325 acres. He lived in a comfortable, two-story frame house; painted white with green shutters. He had barns and outhouses as were necessary. There were spreading shade trees about the yard; and whitewashed fences added to the general appearance. We had an ice house, a pond and a good apple orchard. We had good plain every-day clothes and nice Sunday clothes. We had farm wagons, and implements, and carriage and buggies. Half a mile away was a turnpike, running from our neighborhood to Cincinnati, fifteen miles away, which was our market. Our home was well furnished, with piano, Brussels carpets, and the like. Our city cousins liked to come to see us. There were several churches nearby. We took the Youths' Companion, and some weekly newspapers. The children were all given college educations. My father died at a ripe old age ,owing nothing, and with several thousand dollars saved up. I dare say that you will not find a higher civilization than that.

Our farm and home were not exceptional. Most of the farms in Boone County were comparable to ours, as were the farms in the neighboring counties. And I know that Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Missouri, Iowa and the states generally of the Middle West were like to those in Kentucky. The same was true of Virginia, and the Middle Atlantic States. Many of our nation's most distinguished citizens came from the farms—George Washington, Thomas Jefferson, Henry Clay, Andrew Jackson and William H. Crawford were farmers.

Instead of discounting farming and farmers we ought to encourage them, praise them, appreciate them. They are steady, sturdy, unpretentious, hard-working, dependable, and given to morality. More than any others, they are the saving element in our civilization. Our world, our nation, could not get along without our farmers—no, not for a day.

W. W. GAINES.

Lesson for December 18

CHRIST'S NEW COMMANDMENT

LESSON TEXT—Matthew 5:43-48; 22:34-40; John 13:34, 35; 15:12-14.
GOLDEN TEXT—A new commandment I give unto you, That ye love one another; as I have loved you, that ye also love one another.—John 13:34.

Lesson subjects and Scripture texts selected and copyrighted by International Council of Religious Education; used by permission.

The heart of all moral law is found in the Ten Commandments, but the very heart of the commandments is the "new commandment" of Christ, that we love God with our whole being and love our neighbors as ourselves. For if we have that perfect devotion to God we shall keep His commandments (John 15: 9, 10), and shall show our love to our neighbors by positive acts of interest and devotion, as well as by refraining from falsehood, violence and impurity.

The message of our lesson today is one which will strike home to the hearts of honest and earnest men and women. When we stand in the revealing light of God's Holy Word we cry out for forgiveness for the manner in which we have failed truly to represent our Lord in the world, and in prayer for grace to live as we should. Let no unbeliever who reads these words use them as a basis for criticism of his Christian neighbor; but let him consider his own need of the regenerating and enabling grace of God.

Our outline for today we borrow with thanks from Points for Emphasis, by Dr. Hight C. Moore. It so aptly presents the truth that it merits our study.

I. Standard of the New Commandment (Matt. 5:43-48).

"Love your enemies" (v. 44), that is the standard which Christ has established for His followers. While the love one has for the brethren is without doubt a more intimate relationship than the love one may have for an enemy, we must not seek to minimize the real love we should have even for those who curse and revile us. It is to move us so deeply that we not only treat them kindly, but also pray for them. Humanly speaking such a thing is impossible, but in Christ it is not only possible, it has actually been demonstrated in life. It is so easy for Christians to speak with derision that borders on hatred about "the devil's gang," to lose all love for the crowd that hangs around the tavern and the gambling house. Let us hate their sin, but may God help us to show that we really love them.

II. Scope of the New Commandment (Matt. 22:34-40).

It is as high as God, as deep as the lowest sinner, and as wide as the circle of all mankind.

A man must be right with God if he is truly and fully to love his fellow men. To be right with Him does not mean a half-hearted one-day-a-week interest in religious matters, and that only up to the point where they do not interfere with our own interests and desires. To love God means to give Him the devotion of our entire being.

Loving one's neighbors does not just mean the man next door. Even that is none too easy at times; and some of us realize that we have failed even there. But the man in Sweden, China, Germany, anywhere on this earth, is our neighbor and needs our love. There are no "foreigners" in God's thinking about love; no poor or rich, no ignorant, no members of "another social order"—they are all our neighbors.

III. Spirit of the New Commandment (John 13:34, 35).

"As I have loved you"—that is the spirit that is to move us to love our neighbor. God is love, and it was always His will that men should love one another. But the new element in this commandment of Christ is that He, the final and perfect revelation of God's love, had come to give His life in loving service and sacrificial atonement. Paul caught the spirit of this commandment when he said, "The love of Christ constraineth us" (II Cor. 5: 14). There is the real motive, the true spirit of Christian life and service.

IV. Sacrifice in the New Commandment (John 15:12-14).

Love draws no limiting line beyond which it will not go. Love says: "I count not my life dear if in giving it I may bring deliverance to my friends."

Some folk talk piously of their love for God, but are not willing to go even across the street to speak to a soul about Him. If we love Him we would willingly go to the ends of the earth for Him, or contentedly serve Him in what seems to be a forgotten corner. We shall not question His guidance nor blush to own His name, even though the testimony may mean our death. This we shall do for Christ's sake, and for the sake of a suffering humanity.

The writer thinks of John and Betty Stam whom he was privileged to teach in the classrooms of the Moody Bible Institute, and who not long afterward poured out their gallant young lives in martyrdom for Christ in China. "Greater love hath no man than this that a man le down his life for his friends."

426 HOURS A YEAR INTO THE DISHPAN

Estimating that housewives average 426 hours a year, or an hour and 10 minutes daily, washing dishes, Miss Ida Hagman of the home demonstration section of the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture comes out with suggestions which she says will make the job easier and pleasanter.

In the first place, she admits that most women consider dishwashing distasteful. Yet the job has to be done. So Miss Hagman says the first step is to "make the task pleasanter by approaching it with the right attitude of mind."

Her second suggestion is that "working conditions" be made as good as possible. Ventilation and temperature in the kitchen should be proper; the sink or table should be the right height; maybe a stool provided to sit on.

Then follows several suggestions about washing and drying dishes, including what dishes to attack first, second, third, etc.; the preparation before washing; scraping and stacking or arranging dishes for washing, rinsing and drying, and the like.

Special devices and methods, such as a wire dish drainer to save drying; a handy cupboard close at the left of the drain board, etc., may cut dishwashing time by half, according to Miss Hagman.

HOLIDAY RECEIPE:

Christmas Salads: On a leaf place a large size pear-half with the rounded part up, the flat side on the leaf. Cover the pear with a generous coating of Philadelphia cream cheese moistened with cream. Cut grapes into halves and place on cheese in a design to resemble a bunch of grapes. Make a stem at the top of the pear of the leaf stem——Another novel Christmas salad is to take pineapple slices, cover with Philadelphia cream cheese made green by adding cake coloring. Spread green cheese over pineapple slices and take nine red-drops, putting into groups of threes as holly berries. If you care to make a red icing it is effective at the bottom of the slice of pineapple in the shape of a bow.

It is said that gentlemen prefer blondes until one of them chases him with a flat-iron in one hand and a rolling-pin in the other.

TABLE DECORATIONS:

There are many ways to decorate a table for Christmas and most of them inexpensive. A center piece of pine cones piled carefully yet not uniform, with sprigs of holly or pine bows as a border, topped with the tall white candles makes an attractive table—A wodden bowl filled with fruits and banked with autumn leaves or to lay the fruit in a row down the middle of the table on a bed of holly—Take a long loaf of sandwich bread, wrap it in cotton, put a tall candle in the middle and gradually slop candles of shorter size on both sides to the end of loaf. The candles willhold due to the crust, but the easiest way is to remove the crust in order to be able to more easily stick the sprigs of holly over the top and sides. Thus the loaf is a bit of art. Lay holly around loaf as outline—Gather sycamore balls on branches many-spray them with aluminum paint or dip them, and you have a decoration for Christmas and during the rest of the winter.

Tuesday—"Gold Mine in the Sky."
Wed. and Thurs., Dec. 21 and 22—
"My Lucky Star"

One of life's big problems has been solved. Actual count on the set of the new Laurel and Hardy comedy, "Block-Heads," which will be shown at the Gayety Theatre Friday and Saturday, has determined the number of baked beans in a can.

This contribution to research was not demanded by the script. Rather, it is one of its by-products. In the story, Laurel, under the misapprehension of doing his duty tarries in the trenches for twenty years after the signing of the Armistice. His daily ration is a can of beans.

Don't miss this fun feast. You will enjoy every minute of it.

All modern business girls are actresses, and if they turned those natural talents to professional theatrical lines the stage and screen wouldn't be able to absorb even a fraction of the promising new plays.

That unique view was voiced by Janet Gaynor when she had a studio wardrobe fitting of the gowns she wears in "Three Loves Has Nancy" to be shown at the Gayety, Sunday and Monday.

* * *

"Every business girl is an actress," Miss Gaynor declared. "She must be, to hold her job. This doesn't infer that there's any hypocrisy or sham involved; it's merely fundamentally true that any girl in the business world, and especially salesgirls, find it necessary to act all the time.

LeRoy Mason, playing the role of Sykes in the Republic Gene Autry picture, "Gold Mine In The Sky," which will be shown at the Gayety Tuesday, is one of Hollywood's foremost tennis players.

Mason recently won the all-Republic studio open tournament, beating such players as Ralph Byrd, Richard Cromwell, Regis Toomey, and Craig Reynolds. In the finals, Mason played Toomey, and after three terrific sets came out ahead, 7-5, 4-6, and 6-3.

The actor is planning on entering the all motion picture tournament in July, and is considered an outstanding candidate for carrying off all honors.

"Gold Mine In The Sky" is an exciting story of Autry, who as foreman of a western ranch, is forced to go to all ends to keep his boss' daughter, played by Carol Hughes, from selling the ranch to a crooked Chicago stock-broker.

* * *

Bert Clark, manager of a Los Angeles skating rink had a firm claim on Sonja Henie's friendship when she arrived in the film city, by virtue of his interest in skating. Eventually Sonja got him into the 20th Century-Fox studio as her skating stand-in and now he is realizing a long-held ambition—actually to appear before the cameras.

The only trouble is that no one, not even his family, will recognize him. Clark appears as the White Rabbit in Sonja's ice ballet of Alice in Wonderland" in her latest triumph, "My Luck Star," which will be shown at the Gayety, Wednesday and Thursday, Dec. 21 and 22nd.

The management asks all patrons to hold their tickets for the drawing the bicycle, which will be awarded to lucky ticket holder.

FOOT TEST

By N. TULCH
Foot Comfort Specialist
People's Foot Comfort, Cov., Ky.

Now friends I am going to ask you to do something which I think will give you the answer to the trouble you are having with your feet.

No, you must do just as I say, so you will understand what is mean when I say . . . Most All Weak Feet Roll Inward. Now, friends take off both shoes right now. Please stand up, both feet side by side about six to eight inches apart with the same amount of weight on each foot. Now, this is important! Relax all muscles in your feet and legs. About 7 out of 10 of you will find that your feet roll inward. In other words, your feet go down on the inside, some of them all the way down to the floor. You probably have one of the four stages of weak feet . . . first degrees, about ¼ of the way down; second degree about ½ way down; third degree, 3-4 of the way down; and fourth degree, all the way down on whwat is commonly known as flat foot.

But, here's the important thing to remember, two important things in fact! When your feet roll inward and go down, you are shutting off the nerve and blood supply going into the bottom of your feet. The result is poor blood circulation which often lets chemical deposits or waste matter form at the joints of your feet and lower limbs.

Now, the second important thing is this, weak, inrolling feet also cramp nerves, then through nerve relaxes, some weaker part of the body is usually affected. Remember, when you cramp the nerves in your feet, you cause reflexes to be sent to some other part of the body that is more sensitive and has less resistance. Then old mother nature cames right back at you with backaches, headaches, or something worse.—Adv.

The main trouble with a lot of "economic programs" is that they don't seem to have much to do with economy.

No matter how much love is being made these days, there always seems to be a shortage.

TASTY, ATTRACTIVE FOOD FOR CHILDREN

Children should have food that is appetizing as well as nourishing and well-balanced, in the opinion of Mrs. Mary Munford Van Cleve, in charge of the nursery school of the University of Kentucky home economics department. A little care and thought will make it possible to have food that is tasty and appetizing.

Selecting foods chosen at random from menus used at the nursery school, Mrs. Van Cleve pointed out the following: Apple sandwich, parsley sandwich, egg in spinach nest, orange betty with orange sauce, whole wheat sandwich, eggs a la Goldenrod, liver and vegetables en casserole, banana custard, cauliflower with egg sauce, raw tomato wedge, carrot stick, cream of potato soup, and beets with lemon butter.

These foods are served with other things to make a well balanced, adequate meal. Milk is served with every meal.

It should never be necessary to have to coax the normally healthy child to eat, Mrs. Van Cleve says. Insufficient exercises may be a cause of lack of appetite, and is an easily remedied matter. Have a rest period of a half hour or so before each meal, have properly-served food, and then eat in the usual fashion, not paying undue attention to the child's manipulations. If adults eat as though they enjoy food, that wil lhave the most effect anyway, as children are very suggestible, it is said.

KITCHEN KINKS:

Use paper cups in preparing individual portions of frozen foods. Salads and desserts may then be served in the cases or unmolded, as you choose—Biscuit dough, cut like doughnuts and fried in deep, fat, then rolled in sugar and cinnamon makes delicious quick doughnuts—It is just as safe to keep canned food in the can it comes in, if the can is cool and covered, as it is to empty the food into another container. Cans and food are sterilized in the processing.

Many a man would answer the question, "Who gets the most out of married life?" with, "The children, if there are any."

YOUR WAR

"Keep the fifth man alive!"

That is the slogan which is now being employed in a drive to reduce the normally heavy winter automobile accident toll by at least 20 per cent.

If the United States keep up the pace set in the first months of the year, the 1938 death toll will be 8,000 less than 1937's. We are in the midst of the crucial period now. December is always a bad month. And, looking into next year, January, February and March, with snow, ice and short days, constitute a period of maximum hazard.

The organized safety movement has reached a high point of efficiency. The technique of accident reduction has been amazingly perfected. Sporadic, desultory, localized safety campaigns have proven almost worthless. Instead, the safety education movement, supported by the casualty insurance industry through its National Conservation Bureau, state governments and numerous commercial and non-commercial groups, is attempting, with a high degree of success to reach every motorist every day.

Thus, the safety experts are doing all they can—and they are doing the biggest and best job in their history. The rest—and this is something you can't repeat too often—is up to the motorist and the pedestrian. The safety workers can offer you advice—but they can't open your ears and eyes if you insist on being deaf and blind. They can show you the road to safety—but they can't make you take it.

This war is your war. It is being fought to save your life, the lives of your friends and families, your property. Enlist in it now.

FAT FOR THE FUTURE

We've had ten years of hard times in this country. Yet, at the end of it, we're still the most prosperous nation in the world.

One little set of figures is all that is needed to prove that. Sixty-four million Americans—more than half of the total population—own $110,000,000,000 worth of life insurance. No country in the world even approximates that, either on a total or a per capita basis.

This money is accumulating against the future—to provide for old age, for sickness, for business reverses, for educating children yet unborn. There it is $110,000,000,000 worth, and it's growing every year.

KENTUCKY FARM NEWS

A ton litter fed by Earl Peers, Metcalfe county, tops all county records to date. The 11 pigs weighed 2,390 pounds at 168 days. "Good breeding, a well-balanced, plentiful ration and sanitary quarters are the essentials," says Peers.

P. B. Davis of Whitley county is aiding in a county-wide campaign to preserve forests, from the farm woodlot on to the large wooded areas. Walnut, pine and oak trees are among those in special demonstrations made by Davis.

W. W. Campbell, Perry county, recently imported from West Virginia a purebred Milking Shorthorn bull. This bull is the son of the famous "Lockinvar" owned by Purdue University of Indiana for several years.

A cover crop honor roll has been established in Calloway county—all land cultivated in 1938 seeded to a cover crop is the requirement. Fifteen farmers have made the honor roll so far, with more coming on as winter wheat is seeded.

To earn their full soil building allowance, Bullitt county farmers have taken advantage of ideal weather and a leeway in work to spread tons of marl and limestone. They have also spent time getting farm machinery painted, repaired and ready for winter storage.

In Bell county, the 4-H corn project was most popular during the year, with 274 club members giving special attention to it. Of this number, 142 grew an acre of Johnson County White corn.

What about that husband who had a wife so ugly that he took her with him rather than have to kiss her goodbye?

GOING AHEAD

There's no stopping a good thing—as some recent figures released by the Farm Credit Administration indicate.

Continuing their steady climbing out of depression, agricultural marketing cooperatives registered a 14 per cent increase in business volume in the last year. Transactions totaled but slightly less than $2,000,000,000—a rise of 10 per cent over 1936-37.

Dairy products, with a value of $686,000,000, led the list, followed by grain. Notable improvement was likewise registered in cotton, fruits and vegetables.

Some folks are born great, others achieve greatness, and still there are a few who only want to grate—on us.

BOONE VOTES FOR TOBACCO QUOTAS

ENTIRE BELT VOTES 61.8 PERCENT IN FAVOR OF QUOTAS—MAJORITY IS SHORT OF REQUIRED PERCENTAGE.

Eighty-two percent of Boone County growers or 899 of 1097 votes cast in Saturday, 17th AAA tobacco referendum favored quotas for the 1939 crop, according to H. R. Forkner, county agent. Kentucky growers as a whole favored quotas with a 74 percent majority but growers of the entire belt voted only 61.8 percent in the early unofficial reports, thus falling short of the 66 2-3 percent required.

The result is no quotas will be set on the 1939 crop going to market after next October 1st. Growers under the new farm act are offered marketing quotas on certain specified crops only in years when a certain percent of surplus above normal supplies exists. Marketing quotas are then available to growers only when a sixty-six and two-thirds percent of growers in a national referendum vote in favor of quotas. Incomplete reports the early part of the week showed that 121,775 growers had voted favoring quotas to 75,501 opposing quotas. Burley tobacco at the present time is grown in fifteen states.

The marketing quota referendum does not affect the regular Agricultural Conservation Program which is a separate part of the farm act.

Quotas were voted upon in eleven community voting places in the county. The results of the referendum by communities are as follows: Petersburg, 72 yes, 1 no; Grant, 79 yes, 13 no; Hebron, 69 yes, 27 no; Burlington, 126 yes, 37 no; Florence, 78 yes, 21 no; Union 101 yes; 33 no; Beaver, 70 yes, 5 no; Hamilton, 39 yes, 11 no; Carlton, 51 yes, 14 no; Walton, 119 yes, 23 no; Verona 94 yes, 12 no.

DRAWING OF NEW BURLINGTON SCHOOL

The above is an architect's drawing of the new school for Burlington, which will be finished before September 1, 1939. Geo. Nicholson was awarded the contract.

CONTRACTS LET FOR NEW SCHOOL

GEORGE NICHOLSON OF WALTON AWARDED CONTRACT FOR BUILDING, POSTON BROS. WILL DO WIRING.

Contracts were let Tuesday afternoon in the office of County Judge N. E. Riddell for the construction of the new $72,127 school building in Burlington.

George Nicholson, Walton contractor was the low bidder for the construction of the building; Paul Riddle was low on heating; Geo. Beuttel, presented the lowest bid for the plumbing contract; and Poston Bros., of Burlington were awarded the contractor for electric wiring. Total bids amounted to $72,127.

Work on the new structure will begin some time in January, according to D. H. Norris, superintendent of county schools. The contracts specifically state that all work must be completed by September 1st, 1939.

The new building will be located just back of the old building and will face the property of Mrs. J. M. Lassing. This arrangement is being made, due to the fact that entrance now being used by the school buses is located in a very dangerous spot. The buses will be routed over another street upon completion of the new structure.

All possible local labor will be used in the building of this school, and will furnish employment for practically all idle men in this locality.

FIRE DEPT. ORGANIZED

IN HEBRON—PUMPER AND CHEMICAL TANKS PURCHASED — DEPARTMENT TO BE COMPOSED OF VOLUNTEERS.

Citizens of Hebron are organizing a fire department for that community, according to reports received at this office Tuesday morning. Four 40-gallon chemical tanks, 100 feet of hose, and a truck and pumper, which were practically new have been purchased.

This community has been without protection from fire, and the citizens have formed an organization to purchase the necessary fire fighting equipment. The department will be composed of volunteers from the community.

The citizens of this neighborhood should be proud of this type equipment, as it is probably the smallest town in the state to boast an apparatus of this type.

The four chemical tanks which will be carried on the truck at all times, are usually sufficient to extinguish any ordinary blaze. The truck will also carry 100 feet of hose for the pumper, which can pump water from cisterns, ponds, etc.

The sale was the largest ever held in northern Kentucky with approximately 300 members from Northern Kentucky and Ohio taking part. APPLICATION TO BE MADE SOON

FOR ALLOTMENT TO CONSTRUCT REA LINES—OVER 211 SIGNED FOR POWER IN THIS COUNTY.

The Boone County rural electric association sign-up committee expects to present their application for allotment to construct lines in about two weeks, according to H. R. Forkner, county agent. Membership applications for 211 members have been recorded in the county office and approximately fifty more are in the hands of committeemen or have been turned in direct to Edward Rogers of Belleview, the secretary-treasurer of the sign-up campaign.

Rev. Will Smith, Burlington, R. 2, chairman of the sign-up campaign committee, reports the committeemen have done and are doing a splendid job in securing memberships and right-of-way easements. The committee met with the Owen County Board of Directors last Tuesday night and received the promise of that association that they would be glad to extend the lines throughout Boone County as soon as an average of three customers or more per mile can be secured. This number has already been signed up from the Hamilton school in the south to Francesville in the north section of the county.

The application for allotments to construct the lines will be submitted as soon as the line from Verona to Hamilton school can be signed at the minimum number of customers. A meeting was held at Verona last Friday night and those attending the meeting promised the Verona-Hamilton sign-up section would be completed immediately.

Those who want REA electricity are urged to sign-up without delay. There are no paid solicitors. Those who are helping are donating their time and expenses. If you want electricity for the farms of Boone County, contact your nearest committeeman immediately—Do your part.

THEY SAW THE STAR

In this day of rapid changes and fleeting fads it does the heart good to know that one custom has never changed since it was originated almost 2000 years ago—the custom of celebrating the birth of the Prince of Peace.

Again we are approaching the anniversary of that memorable event, the night when a new and brighter star gleamed in the eastern skies, and men in far places paused to point it out and marvel at its brilliance. It has been almost two thousand years since shepherds, tending their flocks in the still hours of the night, stretched forth their hands as a greeting to the newest heavenly diadem, and read within it the greatest, sweetest message that has ever come to gladden and comfort the human heart. In its brilliant rays they read that "This Day There has Been Born to The World A Savior."

Almost 2000 years, and yet we find ourselves as firm in our belief that that message is true, and as steadfast are we in our rejoicing as were those who first read in it, freedom from an earthly bondage that had kept heavy the hearts of all mankind. Since the moment we first learned the meaning of Christmas none of the brilliance surrounding it has been dimmed, and passing years only make dearer the story that the star told in centuries long gone by. Faith and Hope are as strong in the breasts of humanity today as on the morning following appearance of that star, when the world awakened to find that in truth there had come One capable of saving all who might look up and believe. And not alone has this grand message of cheer gladdened the hearts of that part of the world in which it was first read, but it has spread to even the darkest corners until today every heart can feel the solace of the sweetest story ever told and they take on new hope.

To the citizens of Boone County and vicinity, we extend the greetings of the season. We Wish You A Merry Christmas. For each of you we hope that the star in the East shines as brightly and with a message as comforting as it did on that Christmas eve more than 1900 years ago. We want to hope that the year fast drawing to a close has found you stronger in your faith and love for your fellowman, and that the blessings that come from a life honestly and sincerely lived have been yours in abundance. Just as men have lived by the star in years gone by, men must, if they would truly enjoy living, be guided by it in all the years to come. And we broaden our hope that by it you have lived and shall continue to do so.

May Joy and Happiness and Peace be the portion of every one of you as you pass this Chrsitmas milestone and push on down the road of Life to a glorious sunset.

HALL-MARK OF SAFETY

In great laboratories, technicians and engineers are working day in and day out to help make your home safe from fire.

The Underwriters' Laboratories, which was pioneered and is supported by the National Board of Fire Underwriters, carries on an endless list of fire prevention activities. The laboratories are purely non-commercial. They earn no profit. No manufacturers' goods are given preferred treatment. All that counts in tests conducted in these laboratories is the resistance to fire of any article or materials.

Someone comes out with a new roofing material for which "fireproof" claims are made—the laboratories prove or disprove those claims. Someone devises a new electric iron or just how safe they are. Nothing is taken for granted.

Once the tests are completed, articles and materials that successfully pass the rigorous examination given, are labeled "approved." And this seal of approval of the Underwriters' Laboratories has come to be regarded as a hall-mark of safety by wise buyers. Many buyers refuse to purchase articles which are unable to obtain this vitally important safety endorsement.

The result of all this is a safer America. And still the work goes forward—to make our homes and places of work safer yet.

ECONOMIC HIGHLIGHTS

If you want to spoil a pleasant day for a politician, just whisper the word "pension to him. It's an odds-on bet that he will be visited with a terrific headache. For the old-age assistance problem is rapidly reaching the stature of our Number 1 domestic issue. As an AP writer, John Hightower puts it, "Voices too feeble to carry across the family parlor may echo in stentorian tones throughout the halls of Congress this winter." The next Congress may do little or nothing about it. But, unless a miracle occurs, some not far distant Congress is going to be forced to tackle the problem and get down to cases.

The issue is not a political one, in any partisan sense. The idea that come into the mind of Dr. Townsend when he looked out of his window a few years ago and saw a pathetic old woman searching in a garbage can for food, has reached gigantic proportion—and has come to bedevil and worry Republicans as well as Democrats. It is especially embarrassing to the Democrats now, because they are in power. A shift in party power would put it up to the Republicans.

The pension leaders are definitely dissatisfied with the Administration's enacted social security legislation. They feel that it offers the indigent old a bone, instead of a decent meal. They are convinced that the government should and could substantially increase the amount of pensions. They think that the Federal government should take the lead, and that then the states will follow and agree to do their part of the job.

From the standpoint of our lawmakers, the whole thing is a nightmare. They feel that the country could not stand increases in benefits to anywhere near current demands. They can produce well-known economists by the bushel to testify that such ideas for financing pensions as Dr. Townsend's "velocity dollar" are unworkable and fantastic. But this does them no good when they are confronted with the fact that the pension-advocates represent and command millions of votes. And that is why there has been so much political pussy-footing on the subject of pensions by candidates for office. Almost all job-seekers endorse, in the vaguest terms they can get away with, the principle of adequate and even lavish aid for the aged needy. Most of them, once they've successfully convinced the voters of their worth, try to get the whole topic as much out of the limelight as possible.

This does not necessarily mean such men are insincere. Some of them strongly feel that benefits must be increased, yet do nothing about it—simply because they haven't got the answers to the tremendous questions, principally financial, that arise. They want to move—but they can't see a clear path ahead.

Still another weakness of the pension movement is found in internal bickering. The Townsend Plan organization, for instance, is split into a dozen factions. Some of the early leaders have deserted the Doctor, and are leading opposed blocs of their own. Furthermore, the fact that there is competition in the field—such as the California thirty - dollars-every-Thursday proposal(which was beaten last election, though the movement's gubernatorial and senatorial candidates were elected) makes a united front impossible.

President Roosevelt has definitely turned thumbs down on the more extreme proposals, calling them "short cuts to Utopia" and referring to their sponsors as "the lunatic fringe." It is known that he has instructed his Congressional lieutenants to do anything they can to keep the issue on the sidelines, as he believes that it imperils the success of his own more moderate program. But it begins to look as if matters are approaching something of a crisis, where no one can long keep the pot from boiling over. And when that happens, you'll see fireworks such as you've rarely seen before.

A STORY WITH A MORAL

It is right and fitting that every so often we repeat the ancient tale of truth and circumstance, a story with a moral and a moral that might be remembered by a number of our readers. The story concerns a preacher who closed a sermon on indebtedness with this request: "Let all in the house who are paying their debts stand up." The preacher seated the congregation and said: "Now, let everybody who is not paying his debts stand up." Then the one man who had remained seated, a care-worn fellow wearing last spring's suit, slowly rose to his feet. "How is it, my friend, that you are the only one in town unable to meet your obligations?" asked the preacher. The man replied: "I run a newspaper and the brethren who stood up are all my subscribers and haven't settled for their subscriptions." The preacher hurriedly remarked: "Let us pray."

WORDS OF WISDOM

It has been an unpleasant occurance, this aviation difficulty that has involved Lindbergh in a large amount of unpleasant publicity regarding his alleged stand on the deficiences of Great Britian France, Russia and Czech air fleets. His reported criticism was brought up by Russian air officials and made unpleasant situation worse. Following this affair Lindbergh flew to Berlin where he met with Hitler's airmen and where he was publicly decorated with a Nazi medal. This did not relieve the situation either, as Europe isn't medal. This did not relieve the situation either, as Europe isn't in a mood to receive and exchange pleasantries and medals from Adolf Hitler. To be associated with him in any way made it appear that Lindbergh was acknowledging and prefering the Nazi air force. Following this public acknowledgement of Nazi approval of the Colonel, an English magazine, offended by his criticism and activities in Berlin, published an article headed "Better Go Home, Lindy." They state that English people have been kind and hospitable to him and that he has enjoyed England, but that now British people "would be happier if he went home." We are not certain whether this is being unfair to Lindbergh as we are not certain of his statements against foreign aeronautics, and too, he may have had good intentions whatever he has done. But the nations over seas are not to be held up to scorn or even to constructive criticism at this time, and to be entangled in affairs of state where matters are difficult at best, may be unpleasant to Colonel Lindbergh. He left America to seek peace and seclusion in England, perhaps he had better come home before he loses it.

IN THE AIR

Already the feel of Christmas is getting into the air with package wrappings and Christmas cards finding their place on local counters. Each day, from now until the twenty-fifth, you will find this air grow stronger. Even though it might have lost a lot of the zest and some of the joy for some of the older citizens that it held in the days of their youth, we are sure there is not a man or woman who would abolish it.

We like to look back to Christmas in years gons by and compare the many changes in customs in its celebration over these years. You can remember when it was considered good form for any young man to give his best girl any article of wearing apparel. It was too personal a gift and also might indicate that the folks had been neglecting to clothe her. The proper gift under these circumstances was an album, a toilet set or candy. Today our Christmas giving is on a sensible basis and gifts of service are the more appropriate and usually the most appreciated. We buy more frequently for the home than formerly with occasional-chairs, rugs, lamps dishes, silverware and household appliances. To possess comfort for all the family every member can make his giving one which all can enjoy. Let's make it a serviceable Christmas.

GOD'S GREAT LOVE

LESSON TEXT—Matthew 2:1-12.
GOLDEN TEXT—God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish but have everlasting life.—John 3:16.

Christmas Day on Sunday—what an appropriate combination! Today we commemorate the birth of our Lord, the coming of our Redeemer to dwell among men on the day of the week which is a perpetual remembrance of His resurrection from the dead—the Lord's Day. He came as the babe of Bethlehem's manger in order that He might in His death and resurrection from the grave prove His victory over sin and death. For those who know and love the true spirit of Christmas, this should be a great day of rejoicing in Christ.

We have an unusual opportunity to study the birth of Jesus from a text not commonly used for Christmas, namely, the coming of the Wise Men from the East to find and to worship Him. It is suggested that their experiences may be considered as showing the way to Jesus, who is the perfect revelation of God's great love. We should

I. Look for His Sign (vv. 1-3).

While most of their fellow men saw nothing but an unusually bright star (if they even noted that much, in their hurried devotion to the interests of everyday life), the men of the East showed that they were wise by recognizing that here was the promised sign of Numbers 24:17. Be sure to read that great prophecy. When they told Herod, he, fearing lest his own power and prominence should be challenged, became troubled in his heart.

The parallel to our day is striking. Everywhere in our lives, personal and national, are the unmistakable signs of the presence and power of Jesus. Most people heed them not in their mad pursuit of gold and pleasure. Others hate His name, and would destroy His influence on earth. Let us be among the wise men who come today to seek and worship Him.

II. Listen to God's Word (vv. 4-6).

The Wise Men knew that He was to come, but they needed further light. They knew where to find it—in God's own Word. How different would be the history that is in the making in our day if instead of turning to the philosophies of men, or trusting in the might of armaments, we would turn to God's Word and let it lead us all to Christ, the Saviour of the world, the Prince of Peace.

III. Seek the Saviour (vv. 7-9).

Different motives moved in the hearts of those who consulted the Scriptures on that far-off day in Jerusalem. Herod, while hypocritically professing to want to worship, really was looking into it so that he might kill Jesus. There are hypocrites who study God's Word in our day for the same purpose while ostensibly worshiping. The people of Jerusalem had the curious bystander's interest in an unusual event. They have their counterpart in our churches and communities on this Christmas Day of 1938. Then there were the chief priests and scribes, who had a purely professional interest in finding what the Scriptures taught concerning this promised One. There are plenty of that kind of religious leaders and workers today.

None of these actually sought the Saviour except the Wise Men. Thank God for the thousands of men, women, and children who will today seek the Christ who is the very reason for the observance of Christmas, but who has been all but lost in the nonsense and commercialism that have practically ruined Christmas as a sacred "holy day."

IV. Worship Him (vv. 10-12).

These faithful seekers found Him, and in Him they found joy (v. 10), worship (v. 11), opportunity for sacrifice of self and gifts (v. 11), and fellowship with God in the great work of redemption (v. 12). God spoke to them, gave them a personal and secret commission which thwarted the wicked plans of Herod.

Christmas may mean all of that to each one of us if we let the Lord Jesus come into our lives in all the beauty of His redeeming love and holiness. To you who read these lines just now, the writer makes this plea in the name of Christ—let Him have your life and transform it by His grace and for His glory. Only thus can you have a joyful and blessed Christmas.

The Parent Mind

The souls of the sons of God are greater than their business; and they are thrown out into life, not to do a certain work, but to be a certain thing; to have some sacred lineaments, to show some divine tint of the Parent Mind from which they came.—Martineau.

The Nation's Progress

National progress is the sum of individual industry, energy, and uprightness, as national decay is of individual idleness, selfishness and vice.

Friday and Saturday, Dec. 23-24—"Painted Desert"

Sunday & Mon., Jan. 1 and 2—"Always in Trouble"
Tues., Wed., and Thurs., Jan. 3, 4, and 5—"Boys Town"

Romance and adventure are thrillingly combined in "Painted Dessert," new vehicle for George O'Brien.

Centering around a hard-fought struggle for control of an immensely value tungsten mine in Arizona, the picture presents O'Brien as a young rancher who goes into partnership with a girl to develop the mine. The opposition comes from a crooked promoter whose scheming to obtain the property lead to a series of exciting situations and to one of the most suspenseful climaxes ever filmed. Loraine Johnson has the feminine lead and Stanley Fields, Ray Whitley and Fred Koehler the principal supporting roles in the RKO Radio production.

• • •

Wallace Beery and his supporting cast of screen favorites were lost to the world for months in the interior of Mexico during the filming of "Viva Villa!" Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's spectacular epic which will be shown at the Gayety on Tuesday, Dec. 27.

The picture, one of the most sensational in screen history, was more than a year in the making and more than 100,000 natives were employed during its course. Beery appears as Pancho Villa, around whose tempestuous life and loves the fictional drama is built. With Beery appears such favorites as Leo Carrillo, Fay, Wray, Donald Cook, Stuart Erwin, George E. Stone, Joseph Schildkraut and Katherine De Mille.

• • •

"Too Hot to Handle," which will be shown at the Gayety Theatre Wed. and Thurs., Dec. 28-29, may be the title of the picture, but in reality Clark Gable's role in it was almost too hot to handle.

Gable's first mishap occurred during the first week of filming. A section of ruined Shanghai had been created on a back lot and during an air raid, while making a newsreel shot, Gable was to be catapulted into a mud puddle.

Gable followed orders of Jack Conway, the director, and fell in the mud, but he forget to close his eyes. For two weeks his eyes pained him before the last particle was removed.

Through the second week of the picture, Gable and Myrna Loy worked continuously in fog in front of wind machines for night sequences. For this Gable received three days in bed with a light attack of influenza.

• • •

"Smashing the Rackets," the RKO Radio melodrama, providing its audience with an intimate peek behind the scenes of an organized racketeering ring.

Interpreted by a strong cast headed by Chester Morris, Frances Mercer, Rita Johnson and Bruce Cabot, the gripping drama is also noteworthy in that it reveals the intricate machinery behind grand jury investigations and shows how a determined prosecutor wipes out the racket gentry in one full swoop.

Chester Mooris is cast as the fearless prosecutor who, with the cooperation of the grand jury, conducts a relentless campaign against the town's racket barons and employs daring devices to wrest confessions and necessary evidence from criminals operating in open defiance of law.

• • •

When "Boys Town" starring Spencer Tracy and Mickey Rooney opens at the Gayety Theatre Tuesday, Wed., and Thursday, January 3, 4, and 5th a new high in screen entertainment will be established.

The drama, based upon the Boys Town established twenty-five years ago by Father Edward J. Flanagan just twelve miles outside of Omaha, has everything that makes for a great screen production.

In the first place there is Spencer Tracy who tops his previous performances, impossible as this may seem, with a characterization destined to live forever in the minds of all who see him. As the idealistic priest who stakes his all on the theory that "there is no such thing as a bad boy," he turns in a performance which once again makes him a candidate for the Academy Award.

Just Let Me Tell You A Few Facts About Walking, So You'll Realize Just How Much It Can Do For You.

N. TULCH

Foot Comfort Specialist at Peoples' Foot Comfort 9th and Madison, Covington, Ky.

The normal heart, you know, beats about seventy-two times a minute and pumps about six ounces of blood with each beat. Now, in fast walking, or at the rate of four miles an hour—(which is how fast you should walk to do you some good)—you'll find the normal heart will INCREASE its beat ten times to the minute, pumping six ounces of blood at each beat, gives sixty ounces per minute or 3600 an hour, which is 225 pounds. You can easily see that 225 ADDITIONAL pounds of blood pumped DAILY through your veins means just that much more life to your whole body.

There's no use of my telling you to get out and walk if you are having trouble with your feet, because I know you don't do it, BUT—if I tell you how to get rid of those aching, paining feet, first—then there's nothing to keep you from walking every day and benefitting your health by this wonderful exercise.

It has also been found that millions suffer without knowing the reason why—those headaches those leg pains, and even sleepless nights may be caused by the shoes you are wearing. —Adv
